PEACE FOR AMERICAS PROPOSAL OF LANSING

Secretary of State Submits Administration Plan to Delegates of Pan-American Union

SECRECY EXISTS AS TO STATUS

Arbitration Keynote of Suggestion Purposed to Make War Obsolete on Western Continent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. — Secretary Lansing has suggested to all the nations which, with the United States, comprise the Pan-American Union, that they join in a convention for the arbitration of all boundary line disputes and for the prohibition of shipments of war munitions to revolutionaries.

Secretary Lansing's proposal, which has the full support of President Wilson, is being forwarded by the Latin-American ambassadors and ministers here to their home foreign offices for consideration. It is regarded as one of the steps in a wide plan, in which the Pan-American scientific congress, now in session here, is a part, for preservation of peace on the Western hemisphere and a closer union of all the Americas.

STATUS IS SECRET.

The status of the negotiations and the details of Secretary Lansing's proposal are being held as confidential between the state department and the Latin-American chancelleries here. Secretary Lansing declined today to discuss it in any phase, and the diplomats uniformly said they could not discuss a subject which was in its preliminary stage and under consideration by their home foreign office.

It became known, however, that soon after Secretary Lansing made his Pan-American unity speech before the Scientific Congress, in which he advocated a Pan-American "one for all, and all for one," he began inviting the Latin-American representatives to the state department two at a time and outlining to them his proposal. At the same time, it is understood, the secretary's public declaration which suggested that all the Pan-American nations should, if necessary, constitute a united bulwark against any unjust invasion or aggression upon a neighbor, was discussed in some detail. It is understood the Latin-Americans uniformly expressed approval of Secretary Lansing's statements.

RECOGNIZES MENACE.

The technical form in which the new proposal was made was not disclosed today, but there are indications that it took the usual form of a memorandum to the diplomats and was in such official form as could be transmitted to their home governments as the basis for the action. One of the first elements of the proposal, which has for one of its ultimate objects the well-being of a thoroughly united America, is the preservation of peace on the American continent.

It is realized that the chief menaces to such a peace are boundary disputes and revolutionary activity. It is pointed out that if all boundary disputes are removed to the realm of arbitration and all the Pan-American nations bind themselves to prohibit absolutely the shipments of war munitions to any other than established governments, peace among the nations themselves virtually would be assured and the attention of all the American nations could be devoted to what Secretary Lansing expressed in his speech as working out their destinies.

PROHIBITION IS TO BE ISSUE IN NOVEMBER

Petition With Enough Names Is Filed Today at Sacramento.

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 30.—The people of California in November [illegible] will decide the question of prohibition and [illegible] women certain that the question of partial prohibition also will be [illegible] on the ballot.

The initiative petition for state-wide prohibition was filed this afternoon by the [illegible] Secretary of State [illegible] contained more than sufficient number of signatures invoking the initiative. The total number of signatures filed is 74,[illegible], while 74,[illegible] are required under the law.

The petition for partial prohibition still is 1441 names short of the number required, but there are twenty-two counties in the state in which supplementary petitions are in circulation, and from which it now is certain more than the number of names required will be secured.

The prohibition petition provides for absolute prohibition in California on January 1, 1916.

The partial prohibition petition, otherwise known as the saloon closing measure, provides for the abolition of all retail liquor traffic on January 1, 1916. Under this measure all hotels and drug stores only will be permitted to dispense intoxicating liquors.

Whaler Sails in Veil of Mystery

Cap'n James Brown, he of the penchant for treasure hunts and pretty secretaries, will sail out of Oakland harbor late today on the old whaler Jeanette. Whither?

On the eve of Captain Brown's departure there is a lot of mystery about his destination. The Jeanette was cleared at the customs house for Adelaide, Australia, and as there are 200 tons of dynamite and oil aboard it is not likely that the old sea dog is going to stop at Cocos island and pick up that buried $60,000,000.

In fact, ever since Chief White's inconsiderate vice squad took Cap'n Brown's newly hired stenographer away from him—and just after he had spent $1000 on her, too—he seems to have lost interest in that pirate loot.

It was said that Cap'n Brown had started some oysters in business some place down in the South Seas about ten years ago and is off to gather the pearls they have manufactured for him in the interim. But this rumor isn't any more prevalent than the one that he is going to solve the scarcity of labor problem in Australia by "black-birding" among the South Sea atolls and replacing the men gone to war with black workers.

At any rate the use of that much used, misused and abused word, mysterious, is justified as concerns the cap'n.

The whole waterfront is curious. For example, they've heard that Cap'n Brown's cabin on the Jeanette has been fitted out with a piano, a phonograph and other musical instruments, flowers and furnishings in a manner that is termed palatial. There is talk, of course, that all these are for the "neat and musically inclined private secretary" for which the old mariner advertised, but no one has seen a young woman go aboard.

Aside from these things the departure of the Jeanette is notable in that she is the first brigantine rigged vessel to leave here in several years. There hasn't been such a ship in the bay since the whalers went to the graveyard. The Jeanette has auxiliary steam power and with wind and steam ought to get down to Australia in about forty days.

As a matter of fact Captain Brown isn't going out as skipper. He went down to the steamboat inspector's office to see about taking an examination for master. Then he didn't take it. Captain McLeod, master of several old-time wind-jammers, is going out as commander.

Peace Article Lacks Official Standing

BERLIN, Dec. 30.—In an editorial discussing the article recently printed by the Neue Zuericher Zeitung of Zurich, Switzerland, purporting to give the terms upon which Germany is ready to consider peace, the Norddeutsche Algemeine Zeitung says:

"In the foreign press there is an observable inclination to use the article of the Neue Zuericher Zeitung as the ground for speculations over peace and war aims. In order to prevent in advance any misleading German public opinion we again point out that the article contains solely private reflections and therefore cannot serve as a starting point for an earnest discussion of the views of leading circles."

PUPILS TO LINE UP ALL NIGHT

Students Must Brave the Cold to Enter School

Arrangement Is Made for Hot Coffee and Food

Long lines of boys and girls, stretching north and south on Broadway from Forty-fifth street, will stand wearily and patiently throughout the cold hours tonight that they may be in line to register as students in the new Technical high school tomorrow morning. The "first come, first served" rule has been adopted by the Board of Education with regard to this school, and as thousands are desirous of registering there for the spring term, which opens next Tuesday, those on the scene first will be accepted as pupils.

Registration for the spring term opens at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning. Under the new rules of the education board, the registration in any of the schools will be closed when the capacity has been reached. Many hundreds in excess of the 1700 which the school will accommodate are desirous of being registered, with the result that they will stand outside, in line, throughout the cold night hours, in order to have an opportunity to register before the school has been filled.

LUNCH AND HOT DRINKS.

Many of the students have planned to be furnished with lunches and hot drinks during the night by their mothers and other members of their households. A great many of those in line will probably be girls.

The Technical high is the most popular school in the city. It was filled to overflowing last year with classes larger than they should have been, while similar classes at the Oakland high school were extremely slender. Minority members of the Board of Education sought to remedy this condition two weeks ago by adopting a rule compelling students to attend the high schools which are in the district in which they live. This would have confined students residing the east of the lake district to attendance at the Fremont high school.

Director Harry Boyle and others of the majority faction of the board objected to this, holding that hundreds of students in the East Oakland district were desirous of entering the Technical high school. Boyle led a fight for the revocation of the rule, and won. Now registration will be open to all at all of the high schools and will be closed as soon as the capacity of the buildings have been reached.

POPULARITY OF SCHOOL.

It is because of the popularity of the school that many of the enthusiastic students, fearing to chance a wait, will stand in line all night and far into tomorrow to get a chance to place their names on the registration rolls. Principal P. M. Fisher and a corps of assistants will have charge of the registration at the new school.

When the Technical school has been filled, the overflow students will have to choose between the Oakland and the Fremont high schools, no matter what their places of residence.

Discover Signs of Dardanelles Flight

BERLIN, Dec. 30.—A correspondent of the Local Anzeiger at the Dardanelles front telegraphs that on Sunday he visited the deserted camp of the allies at Anafarta and saw everywhere signs of sudden flight. He found large amounts of preserved meats, bacon, flour, blankets and tents and said that tables in dugouts were still covered for meals. Great quantities of all sorts of munitions are being recovered daily from the water into which they were thrown by the retreating troops.

French Take Naval Base in Agean Sea

PARIS, Dec. 30.—French troops have occupied the Turkish island of Castelorizo (Kastelorvo) in the Aegean Sea between the Island of Rhodes and the Gulf of Adalia, according to the advices received this morning in Paris. The possession of Castelorize as a naval base is characterized as indespensable.

Castelorizo is a small island of Asiatic Turkey, lying off the south coast of Asia Minor, seventy-five miles east by sout hof Rhodes. It has an area of eleven square miles and is inhabited mainly by Greeks.

Von Mackensen at Sofia Is Report

LONDON, Dec. 30. — A semi-official telegram received in Amsterdam from Sofia, Bulgaria, states that Field Marshal von Mackensen, the German commander, arrived at Sofia yesterday, according to a despatch to Reuter's Telegram Company. After visiting the German and Austrian ministers to Bulgaria and King Ferdinand, the field marshal returned to headquarters.

It was reported on December 28 in news despatches that Field Marshal von Mackensen was directing preparations for a powerful expedition against Egypt.

WOMAN IN DARKNESS TRAILS THUG

Braves Shadows With a Revolver to Find Intruder

Mrs. R. H. Hingston Is Choked by Man in Home

BERKELEY, Dec. 30.—While Mrs. R. H. Hingston braved the cold and the dark outside her home at 2228 Chapel street last night, carrying a loaded revolver in one hand while she sought an intruder, her quarry awaited her in the hallway of her home, and fell upon her as she returned from her fruitless search. After a struggle of several moments, in which the thug almost choked the fighting woman into insensibility, the thief left the place with $37 and jewelry valued at $100 in his possession.

This took place early in the evening. Mrs. Hingston's husband left the house at 7:30 o'clock. It is thought that the burglar must have been watching the premises when he left, for it was not half an hour later that Mrs. Hingston heard him attempting an entrance at the dining-room window. She ran into her bedroom and secured a revolver. She saw no one at the window, and bravely left the house to search for the intruder.

She circled the house twice, groping about with the revolver in her outstretched hand. Her search was fruitless, and she returned to the house. As she laid her weapon on the dining-room table a masked thug rushed upon her from the hall, the fellow evidently having entered the house as Mrs. Hingston left it.

"Make no trouble now, and show me your money and jewelry," he demanded. "and I'll leave you alone. If you don't I'll kill you."

Mrs. Hingston fought. The thug caught her by the throat and began to choke her. She broke from his grasp and started to fight back. She struck him several blows over the head before he succeeded in pinioning her arms. He again throttled her, this time beating the back of her head against the dining-room wall. Throughout the fight he threatened to kill her with her own weapon if she did not stop fighting and assist him in finding the money and valuables in the house.

She finally consented, and led the thief to a closet in which the money, $37, was found. She then gathered up all of the jewelry in the house and gave it to the thug, who left the place without further trouble. Mrs. Hingston then notified the police, saying that her assailant was of medium build, medium sized, about 5 feet 8 inches in height, that he wore a soft hat and dark clothes and that the lower part of his face was covered with a black rag.

Mrs. Hingston is today under the care of a physician, suffering from nervous shock. Her throat is badly lacerated and bruised, as is the back of her head, where it was thumped against the wall by her assailant.

Seek to Frighten Austrian Seamen

Sailors Told They Are Liable to Seizure

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Dec. 30.—The Maritime Exchange issued a statement last night in which it said that efforts are being made to intimidate German and Austrian seamen engaged aboard coastwise vessels trading out of this port and assuring the men that there is no foundation for the stories being told them.

"Prompted by ulterior motives," the statement says, "those concerned have gone aboard coasting vessels and informed the German and Austrian seamen that they are liable to arrest at sea by officers from foreign cruisers, basing their arguments on the recent occurrences in the vicinity of Porto Rico. Serious embarrassment has already taken place aboard several vessels where the men have been intimidated and the vessels have been delayed.

"At the request of several shipmasters, the United States shipping commissioner has visited several vessels and assured the men that there is absolutely no foundation in the misleading statements that have been made to them and that it is simply a hoax that is being circulated by those who hope to get the men under their control when they leave their ships."

Passport for Bopp? Consul-General Mum

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30.—German Consul-General Franz Bopp declined this morning to discuss the news coming from Washington to the effect that he might be given his passport if indeed he were not indicted by the Federal Grand Jury. It was rumored recently that orders had come from the German embassy instructing the consul to issue no more official statements. That this may be true is indicated by the fact that the consul has declined absolutely to discuss the war plot conspiracy in any of its ramifications.

He sent word this morning that he had absolutely nothing to say and declined to be interviewed on the subject of his possible dismissal from the United States.

WORKED WITH POLICE.

Charles Small, who worked in conjunction with the police securing evidences against violations of the lodging house regulations, has been sentenced to an eight-year term in Folsom on a charge of pandering. Small did not work under the direction of the city's Public Welfare League, as has been stated, but was connected with the police department.

CARNIVAL IS READY TO REIGN

MOVIES TO BE MADE OF CROWD

200,000 WILL SET THE RECORD

TOMORROW NIGHT'S PROGRAM.

8 p. m.—Illumination of City Hall begins.

8:30 p. m.—"Slide for Life," by Frank Steinbacher, City Hall.

9 p. m.—General illumination of all buildings.

10 p. m.—Second "Slide for Life."

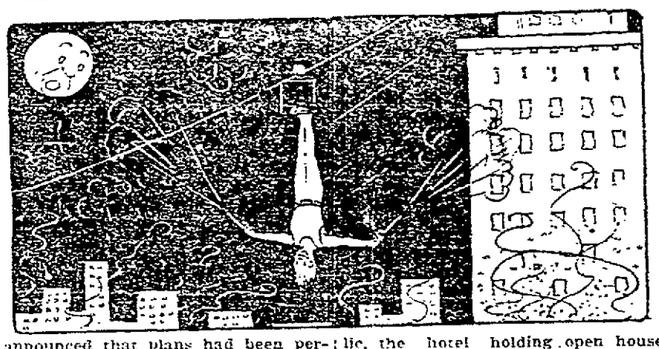
10:30 p. m.—Spectacular drill by Oakland fire department.

11 p. m.—Street carnival. All vehicles barred downtown.

12 p. m.—Last "Slide for Life." Steinbacher will write "Happy New Year, 1916," in letters of fire.

Oakland's New Year's crowds are going down into history as the "movies."

This was learned today when it was announced that plans had been perfected for the filming of the throngs that are to revel on the streets, these films to be shown abroad as examples of the most remarkable New Year's celebration California has ever seen. The illuminated City Hall, the confetti battles and the big crowds will be photographed under mammoth searchlights. The people will be their own "movie stars" for the evening and will see themselves the same night, for the pictures are to be rushed through development and thrown on the walls of the Municipal Auditorium by the Motion Picture Operators' Union. Oaklanders watching Frank Steinbacher's slide for life at 8:30 o'clock can "see themselves" before midnight.



The fame of Oakland's New Year celebration already has traveled abroad, as witness the order for the taking of the pictures, which are to be shown in a great news "Weekly." By special arrangement the Motion Picture Operators' Union obtained permission to develop and show them in Oakland first as an added feature to the big night of joy.

But the movies are to be the least of the big celebration.

With the issuance of the New Year's proclamation by Mayor John L. Davie and the completion of every detail of the public celebration by the Merchants' Exchange committee, all is ready for one of the most unique [illegible] ever held in the West. [illegible] Hall's white tower [illegible] in a thousand colors under the batteries of searchlights that will [illegible] every corner, [illegible] streets [illegible] confetti battles [illegible] "Slide for Life." At the Hotel Oakland a [illegible] dinner dance will be given, reservations having already been made for [illegible] guests. At the Hotel St. [illegible] dinner will be held with a reception in the lobby. This will be open to the general public, the hotel holding open house. Several theatrical stars will entertain in cabaret features. At the restaurants and cafes special entertainments have been planned and the theaters will give second performances for the New Year's crowds.

At the Municipal Auditorium the great "Movie Ball" will be an all-night attraction. This big affair is under the direction of picked committees of the motion picture men and is being handled by President B. F. Gavica, Al Daul, H. C. Bond, W. A. Livingston and J. B. Berry. Stars of the various theaters, as well as a number of motion picture stars from Niles and Los Angeles will be in attendance and the affair, a lavish masque with cabaret features galore, will be one of the most remarkable in the history of the auditorium. Motion pictures will be played on the white walls of the building during the evening, the pictures of the crowds taken on the streets to be shown among others.

The celebration will begin early in the evening and continue until long past the arrival of 1916. Plans have been made by railroads for special trains and rates to accommodate the visiting crowds and Oakland's New Year's eve celebration has already become the talk of the state. At least 200,000 people will atend, as shown

GOV. HAMMOND OF MINNESOTA IS DEAD

CLINTON, La., Dec. 30.—Governor Winfield Scott Hammond of Minnesota died in a hotel here early today from a stroke of apoplexy which physicians stated apparently had been superinduced by a recent attack of ptomaine poisoning. He died before physicians could arrive.

Governor Hammond, accompanied by his private secretary, J. A. Newell, arrived here three days ago to inspect his extensive land and lumber interests in East Feliciana Parish. He had not been well for several days, but was able to go about the town and parish and did not consider his condition sufficiently serious to consult a physician. Shortly after breakfast about 9:30 o'clock this morning Governor Hammond went into the washroom of his hotel and a moment later Newell and others heard him groaning. Rushing in they found Governor Hammond on the floor. He was carried to his room and physicians summoned, but he expired within a few minutes.

Accompanied by Newell and an escort from the Masonic lodge of Clinton, the body will be started northward to St. Paul late today. The Masons will go as far as Vicksburg, Miss. Governor Hall of Louisiana sent word from Baton Rouge that he and several members of his staff will accompany the body to Vicksburg.

ST. PAUL, Dec. 30.—J. A. A. Burnquist this afternoon at 3 o'clock was sworn in as Minnesota's nineteenth governor to succeed Winfield S. Hammond, who died at Clinton, La., this morning. The ceremony took place in the state supreme court chambers at the state house, the oath being administered by Justice George L. Bunn in the absence of Chief Justice Brown, who is ill of la grip. Burnquist is a Republican, having been re-elected lieutenant-governor after serving in that position during the administration of former Governor A. O. Eberhart.

Winfield Scott Hammond, eighteenth governor of Minnesota, was inaugurated just about a year ago, following his election on the Democratic ticket. Previously he had served several terms in the National House of Representatives, being sent to Washington from the Second Minnesota district. He was unmarried and was born November 17, 1863, at South Boro, Worcester County, Mass. He was educated at Dartmouth College, where he graduated with the class of 1884. He came to Minnesota as a young man, was admitted to the bar and began the practice of law at St. James. He served as county attorney of Watonwan county nearly six years and as a member of the state board of normal school directors for eight years. He was elected to the sixtieth, sixty-first and sixty-second congresses and re-elected to the sixty-third congress.

CZAR'S MEN ENGAGED IN TERRIFIC ONSLAUGHT

Great Force Is Engaged in Fiercely Fought Offensive Near the Bessarabian Border Line

DELICATE SITUATION HAS BEEN CREATED

Unofficial Reports Say That Germans Made Serious, But Futile Attack in Babit Region

LONDON, Dec. 30. — Although Petrograd remains silent on the subject, the public is inclined to believe the Russians are undertaking a great offensive in Bukowina, near the Bessarabian border. Official Austrian reports telling of attacks by dense masses of Russian troops indicate that an important battle is under way.

The fighting centers at a point near Toporeutz, a small town just within the border of northern Bukowina; but a simultaneous attack is being made along an extended front reaching from the Pruth to a position north of the Dneister about forty miles. Latest advices state that the Russian assault is being continued, accompanied by heavy bombardments.

FUTILE ATTACK.

Unofficial reports from the extreme northern portion of the eastern front states that the Germans have made a serious but futile attack in the region of Lake Babit, while the Russians west of Lake Kangos are threatening Mitau. These opposing attacks create a delicate situation, as a successful advance by either would endanger considerable forces of the defeated opponent.

Along the western front, except for mining and aerial engagements on the British lines, the chief fighting seems to be confined to the Vosges, where in the region of Hartmans Weilerkopf the French claim to have made a successful advance. Berlin offically minimizes this success, but does not deny it wholly.

TENSION RELIEVED.

Nothing has happened to change the Macedonian position, but it is generally believed that any advance into Greek territory must be made by the Bulgarians, the opinion being that the Austro-Germans cannot spare troops for a serious attempt against Saloniki.

Domestic tension in England over the compulsion question has been greatly relieved. Speculation continues concerning the method which is to be adopted to reach eligible unmarried men, a majority agreeing that the Derby plan of attestation will be extended for this purpose.

Board Thanked; Members Gasp

Club Startles School Men With Note

Gratitude is one of the qualities of the Board of Education members, no matter what else may be said about them.

A letter was received and read from the McChesney Improvement Club. It thanked, courteously and refreshingly, for its action in having the sidewalks placed about the McChesney school and for other civic improvements recently made in the district.

Every member of the board gasped as Secretary Daniel W. Pratt finished the letter.

"This is a precedent," said Louis Aber, in awed tones.

"History is reversed," whispered Miss Annie Florence Brown.

"Never, never before has the Board of Education been thanked for anything by anyone but its own members," chimed in the hushed voice of Director Harry Boyle. "Let's frame it."

"By jove, I have it," came in an excited whisper from Dr. A. S. Kelly; "let's get 250,000 copies printed and send them out over the state to show that it has really happened."

Even School Superintendent A. [illegible] Berker smiled. He seldom does in public. Everybody was happy and proud of the collective the letter in the light of a New Year gift. A vote of thanks was tendered the McChesney Club members.

Carranza Soldiers Hurrying to Juarez

EL PASO, Tex., Dec. 30.—Troop trains bearing Carranza soldiers from Naco to Juarez are expected at Peles, N. M., six miles west of El Paso, today. There the troops were to detrain and pass into Juarez across the border from Newman, where 1000 Carranza troops from Chihuahua City also are expected today.

It is expected that upon the arrival of the Sonora troops, General Obregon will proceed tomorrow to Chihuahua City. American Consul Marion Letcher of Chihuahua City is expected to be his guest on the trip.

VIENNA OPPOSES ACCEPTING U. S. NOTE

GENEVA, Dec. 30.—The latest information received by the Swiss press from Vienna states that Vienna official circles are opposed to the acceptance of the second American Ancona note unless it is modified, and a rupture in diplomatic relations is believed to be imminent, notwithstanding the strong opposition of the Liberal and Hungarian parties and diplomats who demand that an agreement shall be reached with Washington.

The reply to the first American note, it is declared, was drafted in Berlin. Such pressure was brought to bear on Austria that both Count Tisza and Baron Burian, who favored a policy of conciliation, had their hands forced and therefore it is claimed that the question more directly concerns Berlin than Vienna. It is considered that there still is a possibility of an agreement within the next twenty-four hours, but if the situation comes to a rupture of diplomatic relations, not only Vienna, but Berlin, will be affected.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—New proposals from Germany for a settlement of the Lusitania controversy which the Berlin foreign office hopes will be acceptable to the United States, are expected to be presented to the State Department next week.

Information received here indicates that the Berlin foreign office is anxious to end the controversy in spite of adverse public opinion said to have been aroused by the American request for withdrawal of the German naval and military attaches and the demand upon Austria-Hungary as a result of the sinking of the Ancona.

It is regarded here as especially significant that a settlement of the Lusitania case should become imminent at a time when Teutonic diplomatic circles are represented as being prepared for a diplomatic break between the United States and Austria-Hungary. A clearing up of the Lusitania case, officials believe, would have an important bearing on the controversy now pending with Vienna.

GOOD WILL HALTS, SAYS MINISTER

Treatment of Colored Delegates Is Cited as an Example.

There's a limit to the extent to which the Christian hand of fellowship will be extended in Oakland, according to Rev. George W. White, pastor of the First Methodist-Episcopal church, who today took Oakland hotel men to task for refusing to provide accommodations to the colored delegates to the recent meeting of the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension held in Oakland at Twenty-fourth street and Broadway.

"We fall very far from practicing our good will to reach all men," declared Dr. White. "Even here in Oakland we place limitations upon extending the hand of Christian fellowship.

"During the meeting of the general committee of the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension, held here from November 10 to 14, I had occasion to secure hotel accommodations for the delegates. Among the number were five colored gentlemen from the M. E. Church, South, each of them an educated Christian gentleman and an ordained minister of the gospel.

"I did not call up the very largest and most fashionable hotels, because my experience with the others convinced me to do so would be useless. But I called up scores of leading reputable hotels here in an effort to secure accommodations for these men, without receiving one favorable answer. The excuse given in each case—and I have no doubt it was a true one—was that the patrons of the hotel would not countenance such a thing.

"I finally appealed to my congregation, and several Christian white families offered to entertain the men if they could not be found a place. However, this was unnecessary, as the colored people of the community themselves secured accommodations for the five men in private homes of their own race.

"The objection is not based upon a physical repulsion of proximity to the race, as hotel guests won't object to colored servants. The objection is wholly to the extension of social equality to these men."

SOLDIERS DESERT YUAN'S STANDARD

Mandate for Capture of Revolutionists Is Not Obeyed.

PEKING, Dec. 30. — President Yuan Shi Kai issued a mandate yesterday ordering the military governors of the provinces adjacent to Yunnan to dispatch troops to suppress the revolutionists.

The French consul at Meng-Tsze telegraphed Alexander Conty, French minister at Peking, yesterday that foreigners and foreign-owned property in Yunnan province had not been molested up to yesterday.

The French government has declined to permit movement of Chinese troops over the French-owned railway from Lien-Chau to the city of Yunnan.

Open rebellion, followed by wholesale desertions from the ranks of Yuan Shi Kai's own Imperial guards at Peking, is said to have resulted from the first order of the self-proclaimed emperor directing a movement of his troops against the army of the revolutionists in the province of Yunnan. Advices to this effect reached the San Francisco headquarters of the Chinese Republic association yesterday.

That the plans for the gathering of a huge war fund are progressing rapidly was made known yesterday by the receipt of advices from El Paso stating that commissioners of the Republic association had collected $10,000 for the cause from Chinese in the Lone Star state.

Will Enforce Motor Law at Once: Woods

Chief of Police W. F. Woods announced today that he will give instructions to his men to begin with New Year's day to enforce the provisions of the new state motor vehicle act, which goes into effect at midnight December 31. The officers will begin to make arrests in the first week of the new year for violations of the statute and for failure to have the proper licenses.

Chief Woods takes the view that ample time has been given in which to obtain the license tags and numbers for 1916, and that if owners of automobiles and motorcycles have failed to do so, they have only themselves to blame for the negligence. In cases where the licenses have been applied for but have not been received some clemency will be shown.

"I do not believe the police department has any discretion in the matter of enforcing the law," said Chief Woods. "It was passed last May and owners and drivers have had ample time to familiarize themselves with its provisions, and to make application for their new licenses.

"It is a mistake to make any differences in the enforcement of the law between one offender and another. The only satisfactory way to handle the matter is to instruct the men to enforce the law and to see that they do their duty in obeying these instructions."

ALLIES VICTORIOUS IN NAVAL BATTLE

PARIS, Dec. 30.—Two Austrian torpedo-boat destroyers have been sunk as a result of an encounter with sea forces of the allies at a point outside of Cattaro, in the Adriatic.

The purpose of the Austrian ships was to bombard Durazzo. An allied squadron went to meet them with the result above set forth. In addition the remainder of the Austrian squadron was pursued by the warships of the allies and compelled to flee toward the Austrian base.

This information was contained in an official announcement of the French marine department given out today, which reads:

"An Austrian naval division, having come out from Cattaro for the purpose of bombarding Durazzo certain squadrons of the allies went forth to give battle. The Austrian torpedo boat destroyer Lika enoountered a mine and was blown up. The destroyer Triglav of the same type was destroyed by fire from the ships of the allies. The remaining warships of the enemy were pursued and fled in the direction of their base."

There have been several previous encounters of lesser importance than the one now reported in connection with Austrian attempts to interrupt transportation of Italian troops to Albania and of supplies for the Serbian forces which have retreated to that country. Several supply ships have been sunk by Austrian warships.

The destroyers Lika and Triglav were sister ships, built in 1913. They were 266 feet long and of 787 tons displacement. Each was armed with two 3.9-inch guns, six 11-pounders and two torpedo tubes.

CONTRACTS FOR INFIRMARY LET

Final extra contracts for the County Infirmary dormitory, plans for an investigation into the expenditures of the county school department, to determine whether extra appropriations for supplies in the superintendent's office, and several other matters of business came before the Board of Supervisors in committee meeting today.

News that the County Superintendent of Schools has spent the entire $900 appropriated for supplies and office expenses for the year was received this morning, when Frank Carr, assistant superintendent, asked for $500 more.

"We did not make up the new course of study, feeling that if a new superintendent came in it might be changed," he said. "This and other work is necessary."

"If we allow one department to overdraw all will want to," said Chairman Murphy. "That is what we are trying to get away from. We are doing our best to keep down taxes."

Murphy also asked that the traveling expenses of County Superintendent G. W. Frick be audited, they being $173.30 this year and $139 the year before. Frick has an automobile to make his trip in. The entire matter was laid over until next week to decide on the matter.

SET ASIDE FUND.

The sum of $50,000 was set aside from the general infirmary fund for the infirmary building fund. This is the money appropriated for the building of the new dormitory, and is placed in the new fund to systematize bookkeeping.

ARGUE ON BIDS.

Considerable argument was heard between representatives of the Butte Electrical Co. and the Le Page-McKinney Co., first and second bidders for the electrical work on the infirmary. The Butte Co., lowest bidder, is a San Francisco concern, bidding $3142 and agreeing to use local labor and material. The Le Page-McKinney Co. bid $3192, $50 higher, and cited that it maintained an office in Oakland, its local superintendent making his home here.

"I believe," said Foss, "that the Butte Co. has bid in good faith and as they are planning to establish here, and are to use local labor and material the Butte firm should have it. Murphy and Heyer seconded this. The contract was awarded to the San Francisco firm.

MAY CONTEST CONTRACT.

Warning was served by the Vaccuum Cleaner Co. of New York that the E. L. B. Zimmer cleaning machine proposed to be put in the infirmary, has been adjudged an infringement of its patent by the United States court. Litigation will follow the Zimmer installation, it was declared by F. N. Jones, the managing director of the firm.

This was referred to the district attorney for a report Monday.

The Turner Heating Co. was awarded the heating contract at $4640.

Fred Snook was awarded the plumbing contract at $8420.

Club Members Tell "Who's Who" at Lunch

Members of the Rotary Club today met in the Hotel Oakland for their "Who's Who Luncheon," when different members explained their work and their aims in the community, and several speakers discussed commercial conditions in Oakland. President V. O. Lawrence acted as chairman and official introducer for the luncheon, different members being called on for brief talks on business. The meeting was largely attended.

The Rotary Club during the last year handled a number of important activities, one of the most important being the "Home Songs Concert," in which the organization presented the Alameda County 1915 Chorus at the Municipal Auditorium. Reports of these activities were made at the meeting.

Turkeys Scarce for New Year's Dinner

Local retail markets are very insufficiently supplied with turkeys for the holiday dinner this year and the demand, while never very heavy, is greater than in past years. Dealers have been unable to get supplies of the big birds and today were selling what they had at from 30 to 35 cents. Much of the scarcity of turkeys this year is laid at the door of the exposition, which in turkey sandwiches and lunches furnished an early market which depleted the holiday market. Some fine geese are in the market at normal prices and poultry prices are unchanged.

Pork will be cheaper this week, some fine Utah hogs arriving and this, with veal, will be sold lower than anything in the retail market for a long time.

ASQUITH SUPPORT IS STRENGTHENED

LONDON, Dec. 30.—In order to give time for a possible reconciliation of conflicting opinions on the recruiting question, the cabinet council which was called for today has been further postponed until Friday and there is great hope that it will then be found that the cabinet is in practical agreement on the acceptance of Premier Asquith's proposals.

It has become known that the prime minister found much greater support than had been supposed, some of the anti-conscriptionist ministers having realized that a peculiar situation calls for exceptional treatment. Among these are A. J. Balfour, first lord of the admiralty, whose influence is very great, and Arthur Henderson, who, however, will be guided by the views of the Labor party.

WATCH McKENNA.

Much depends now on the attitude of Reginald McKenna, chancellor of the exchequer, and Walter Runiman, president of the Board of Trade, both important members of the cabinet. But there is tonight a hopeful feeling that they may yet be induced to support the premier in the interests of ministerial unity.

Sir Edward Grey, the foreign secretary, looks with great apprehension upon any signs of disagreement as having a bad effect upon the allies and is working hard on the patch of conciliation. If it turns out that the line the government has chosen is not for compulsory direct enlistment, but for compulsory attestation, along the lines of the Derby scheme, it is very probable that most of the doubtful ministers may be found supporting the premier and that the resignations will be confined to two or three ministers of lesser importance, such as Lewis Harcourt, first commissioner of works, and Sir John Simon, home secretary, whose departure would not involve a serious crisis.

DEPENDENT ON LABOR.

A strong point making for unity of the new government policy is that it has met with much less opposition from the Liberal press than might have been expected. The royal influence is also being exerted, the king having publicly intimated his special desire that all the men who attested under Earl Derby should wear the symbolic armlet issued in connection with the scheme. Much will depend upon the attitude of the Labor party, which, although strongly opposed to compulsion, may possibly be swayed by Henderson's view that the exceptional circumstances justify exceptional means.

Conscription Will Follow Last Call

LONDON, Dec. 30.—According to the Daily Sketch, the government has a bill under consideration embodying the following method of securing recruits:

"When it is decided to call to the colors any attested group under the Earl of Derby's plan a day will be fixed for the men in that particular group to present themselves at a military depot. Until that day any unattested bachelor of the age stipulated for that group may volunteer for the army and by so volunteering will escape the stigma of compulsion, but all failing to volunteer on the stipulated day will be fetched."

Lincoln Example to British Leaders

LONDON, Dec. 30.—Under the caption "Lincoln on National Service—An Example For All Time," the Times prints a two-column review of the history of President Lincoln's action and concludes: "That is how the greatest statesmen democracy has raised to power measured the responsibility of the legislature and his own in the darkest hours of the republic.

"When our government and Parliament are searched by the tests which Lincoln describes, with what countenance will they emerge from the ordeal?" the Times asks.

"Will history hand down their memories with honor or with dishonor; will they nobly save or meanly lose the last hope of earth? It rests with them."

BURBANK BRINGS SUIT FOR NAME

Plant Wizard Wants $9775 From Luther Burbank Company.

Luther Burbank, the plant wizard, has created not many new marvels in the Santa Rosa gardens during the past few years, as all during that time the Luther Burbank Company of San Francisco has been losing money and getting into financial difficulties from which it will be impossible to escape unscathed. This was made known yesterday when Burbank, through his attorney, John Irving Wise, filed a suit against the company in the San Francisco courts for the collection of $9775 in two notes given him by the concern.

Several Oakland men are directors of the company, including Attorney Harrison S. Robinson, former head of the civil service board, L. A. Beretta, the optician, and Dr. H. J. Everand. Others of the directors are J. R. Edwards, vice-president, George W. Hind of Hind, Rolph & Co., and Dr. J. H. McLeod of Santa Rosa.

Last Monday Burbank notified the company of the cancellation of the contract by which the company had the exclusive right to sell all his products and marvels. He prohibited further use of his name in connection with the company. The company has been doing business in seeds from Maine to California. Main offices are at 501 Market street, San Francisco.

"Burbank has been the victim of a stock selling campaign," said Attorney Wise. "This company was formed three years ago. He has no stock in it and no interest in it. Some of the best men in town have also been made victims.

"The men who secured the contract from Burbank and who promoted the company were R. J. Hough and W. Garner Smith. Stock to the amount of $375,000 has been sold to the public at par.

"The company agreed to pay Burbank $200,000, in terms of $30,000 cash and $15,000 a year. They were to have exclusive rights to sell all his experiments. They paid him the $30,000, but that was all."

The suit started yesterday was for the collection of $7500 on a note given July 1, 1914, and $1975 on a note given June 1, 1915. Assets of the company include a large stock of spring seeds on hand and valuable farms at Sebastopol, Livermore and Dixon.

Hough is now selling lots in Martinez as head of the Alhambra Land Company.

'Wily Wolf' Is Caught at Last

HAYWARD, Dec. 30.—In the third year of his successful depredations on local farmers' barnyards, the "wily wolf" has been captured and slain.

The "wily wolf" is a coyote. He was the largest ever seen by farmers of the Hayward district, and has been hunted for three consecutive winters, without success, until this morning, when his enormous body was found in a steel trap set for him by William Dirks, superintendent of the state game farm.

The big beast has dodged hundreds of traps in his day. For some reason he has made the Hayward district his prowling grounds for the past three years, and it is estimated that he devoured many hundreds of dollars' worth of valuable fowls in that time. He ate many valuable chickens, pheasants and other fowl which he stole in raids on the same farm.

"The presence of the "wily wolf," a name given the big beast by local farmers, was always made known by the peculiar track which he left. It was the largest ever left by a coyote in this part of the country. The "wily wolf" was the worst of all the band of coyotes which infest this region each winter.

Villa 'Dandy' Slain by Chief?

EL PASO, Dec. 30.—Pablo B. Stienez, known as the dandy of the former Villa army and one of Villa's most dashing generals, has disappeared, and it is believed here by former associates that he has been executed by his chief for failure to join him in his Sonora campaign. Stienez, according to reports, killed General Pablo Luna and two troopers in a street duel in Juarez two weeks ago, following a quarrel with Luna in a gambling hall, in which the latter is said to have charged him with cowardice for failure to join Villa. The following day he is said to have shot and slightly wounded a woman habitue of the place.

When four troopers, acting under orders of General Ochoa, commander of Juarez at that time attempted to arrest him, Stienez leaped upon his horse and escaped. Former Villa followers here believe he joined Villa and was executed.

Stienez was one of the picturesque figures of the latest Mexican revolution. He refused to wear the uniform of his fellow officers and was garbed instead in a suit of leather, embroidered with gold and silver trimmings.

Apron Wharf Lease Is Agreed Upon

Agreement has been reached between four members of the city council and Albers Bros., a large milling concern, as to the terms of a lease for the apron wharf at the southern end of the levee on the Key Route basin, but Mayor John L. Davie, who is opposed to certain sections of the greement, has asked the Commercial Club-Chamber of Commerce and other civic organizations to pass upon the matter.

The agreement has been placed in the hands of City Attorney Paul C. Morf to be framed in legal form, and it is possible that as soon as it has been put in shape the majority of the council will force through the granting of the lease.

The tentative agreement reached would give the Albers people the right to make improvements on the wharf to cost $200,000, these improvements to remain the property of the city, and the city to pay back to the Alberts concern this $100,000 out of 90 per cent of the tolls from the use of the wharf.

Mayor Davie stated in his letter that the net result of entering into this lease would be a deficit, that it would tie up the portion of the outer harbor.

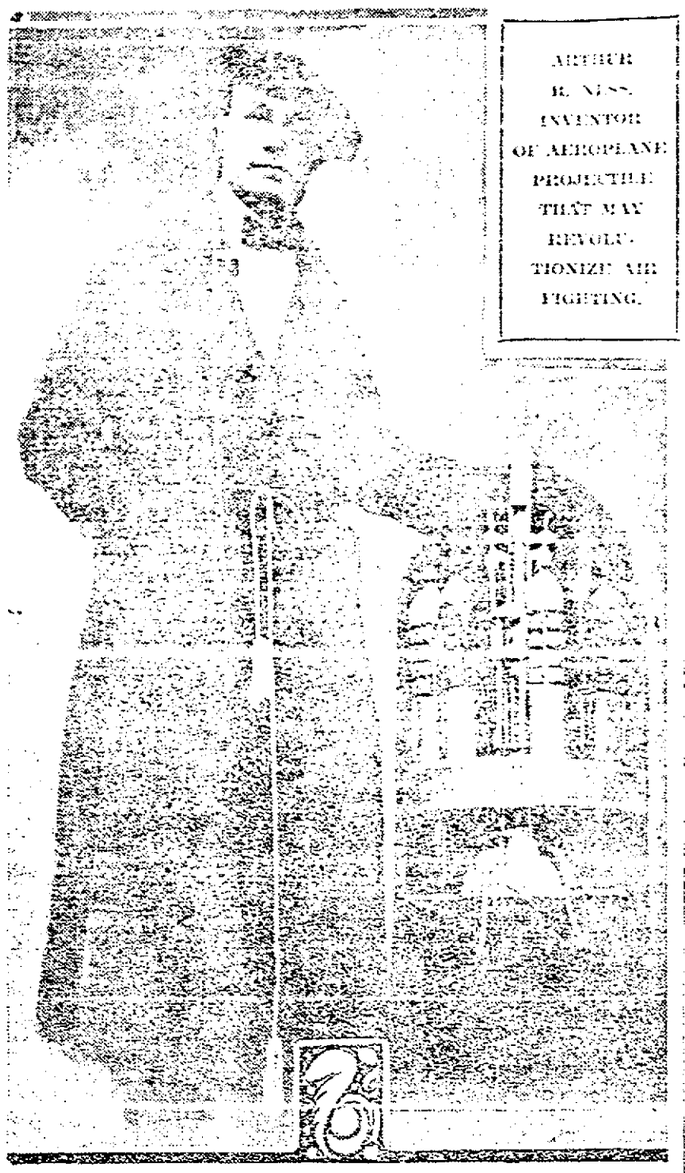
JAMICA GINGER SOLD.

COLUSA, Dec. 30. — George Hemstreet, a soft drink and grocery merchant of Princeton, has been arrested on a charge of selling Jamaica ginger in dry territory. He was admitted to bail in the sum of $100. The charge was made on the understanding that Jamaica ginger contains alcohol.

NEW SHELL INVENTED TO BAG WAR AEROPLANES



ARTHUR R. NESS, INVENTOR OF AEROPLANE PROJECTILE THAT MAY REVOLUTIONIZE AIR FIGHTING.

A death-dealing projectile invented by Arthur R. Ness of 1130½ College avenue, Alameda, that may revolutionize aerial warfare, is being investigated by the United States Government, according to reports received here today. The ordnance department at Washington has been experimenting with the huge shell and an official report will be made shortly to Secretary of the Navy Daniels.

The instrument, according to its inventor, can be fired at a range of one to seven miles by regulation. At the latter height the shells will break for a distance of two hundred feet or more.

The invention consists of six shrapnel shells containing thirty-two bullets apiece and controlled in the center by a three centimeter shell, and is released at any distance by a double fuse. The powder base is 10 inches in diameter by 12 inches. The shell when exploded ignites the double fuse and the time is automatically regulated. At the set altitude the fuse explodes the center shell, releasing the six shrapnel shells.

According to Ness, it is impossible for any air plane to escape the powerful instrument of death, when the shrapnel shells burst, covering a wide area. The government has been experimenting with the invention during the last two months.

Girl Must Fulfill Contract for $500

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30.—That a girl cannot legally make a contract until she is 18 years old, but that if she practices deceit and declares herself of age she must assume the obligations thus entailed, was the decision today of Superior Judge Troutt. The suit was brought by Sybil M. Lee against the Hibernia bank, her mother and her brother in connection with a mortgage and deed of trust. On her claim that she was of age a loan of $500 was negotiated. Miss Lee is endeavoring to get back the money on the ground that she was not of age, was frustrated by the court.

News of Men and Affairs at Washington

GARRISON IS WORKING FOR BIGGER ARMY

Secretary of War Will Ask Congress to Provide 500,000 Men

Quick Action on Defense Plans to Be Urged by Department Head

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—In an effort to build up at once the national defense, Secretary of War Garrison is putting in the holiday week at his home in New Jersey preparing means and data with which to expedite the administration's plan for national defense through Congress.

A resurvey of the military situation of the nation, made but a short time ago, said to have shown a hopeless state of unpreparedness, is declared to have determined the department to embark on a campaign for immediate action to build up defense.

While universal service is admittedly the ultimate goal of the administration plan, it is expected this, for the present, will take a secondary place to measures designed to provide immediate defensive necessities and outline a definite military policy.

PLAN SOON TO BE READY.

When Congress reconvenes Tuesday Garrison will be ready to submit figures and arguments in support of the plans.

From an official, who will be among those authorized to present to the committee an amplification of the views of the administration, was obtained the following outline of what the secretary expects to tell Congress the proposed program will do:

First—Write a definite military policy founded on the unanimous conclusions of the military experts of the nation, past and present.

Second—Enroll within three years and give some preliminary training to at least 500,000 mobile troops.

Third—Provide within six years for an additional force of 500,000 reserves for the troops with the colors.

TO BE ATTRACTIVE.

Fourth—Furnish the most attractive form of voluntary military service it is possible to devise, thereby serving as a final and conclusive test of the possibility of organizing in peace times an adequate volunteer army system.

Fifth—Furnish a system to which universal military service could be applied quickly and without the necessity of extensive reorganization.

Sixth—Furnish a regular mobile army sufficient to co-operate with the training of continentals and also to carry on the necessary peace activities.

Seventh—Furnish through cadet companies attached to regular regiments an adequate and certain school for regular continental and reserve officers.

RESERVE PLANNED.

Eighth—Furnish, beginning at once, a system under which an adequate enlisted reserve for the regular army would be built up and maintained.

Ninth—Begin at once, to be concluded in four years, the expenditure of $51,000,000 on the extension and improvement of coast defenses, making them far superior to those which any other nation has ever known.

Tenth—Furnish an adequate force to man all coast defenses, now lacking nearly 50 per cent of the necessary personnel.

Eleventh—Build up within four years a reserve supply of material, to cost $104,000,000, and estimated upon the consumption of ammunition shown by the best available reports from the European war.

Twelfth—Inaugurate a system under which commercial munition plants can be fostered by the government in peace times, insuring an adequate and continuous supply of guns and shells in time of war.

SHORT CUT SUGGESTED.

The most vital thing, it is claimed, is to obtain the names of 400,000 men who are obligated to turn to the colors at call, to supply them with necessary arms, equipment, organization and mobilization instructions and to give them rudimentary military training. If this were accomplished, experts say, and if officers and non-commissioned officers assigned, a great stride would have been taken, a short cut to the formation of a volunteer army in time of need that would save months of delay, if it accomplished nothing more.

MANY BILLS AIM AT POSTAL RATES

Twenty-one Measures Are Introduced to Adjust Mail Charges.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—Before Congress recessed for the holidays twenty-one different bills had been introduced by its members providing for a more equitable adjustment of the postal rates on first-class mail matter. Most of the bills introduced propose a straight reduction in the rate on all local delivery letters from 2 cents to 1 cent per ounce.

Of the many bills introduced on the subject this one drafted by Congressman William H. Stafford of Wisconsin, who has served more than ten years on the House postal committee, differs in many respects from other 1-cent letter postage bills in that it recognizes the zone system of charging and also the principle of reducing cost with increasing units of weight. It extends 1-cent letter postage to letters for local delivery within the confines of the city delivery district where the letter is deposited and also for delivery on any rural or star routes emanating from the office where the letter is deposited, or vice versa, for delivery of letters deposited on any rural or star route for distribution in the city delivery district of the main office from which the route starts, or for delivery on any other rural or star route emanating from the said office. The rate of postage on such letters is 1 cent for the first ounce and an additional cent for every additional ounce and a half.

Another principle feature of the Stafford bill is that for all other first-class letter mail for delivery outside the zone just described, though the rate for the first ounce is the same as at present, 2 cents, only 1 cent additional is provided to be the rate for each additional ounce.

Mr. Stafford, who has given extensive study to the question of postal revenues and expenditures, states that "with the inauguration of a 1-cent local delivery postage the merchants and people generally, who use the mails so frequently for local delivery, will be induced to utilize the mails still more by reason of the reduction of the rate."

The postmaster general has not recommended the passage of any of the pending bills. The postal deficit for 1915 was over $11,000,000.

290,000,000 Barrels of Petroleum in 1915

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—Preliminary estimates of the geological survey on the production of crude petroleum in 1915, which are to be used in connection with the federal inquiry into the cause of advancing gasoline prices, were made public today by Secretary Lane, and indicate an increase of about two million barrels over last year's output, which, with a total production of about 290,000,000 barrels, was a record-breaker.

"The present year began with a surplus of petroleum in field storage," said the report, "so that production of crude oil was not pushed. Under these conditions the small increase in marketed production was significant. Of the total yield of the wells the past year about 8 per cent remains in field storage, and added to this are the stocks held in storage by the pipe line companies, a reserve estimated by the survey as fifty million barrels greater than a year ago.

"The supply in the United States is not unlimited, but the decline in the country's output of crude oil has not yet set in. The increase in stocks is in itself a fairly conclusive rebuttal of any price-boosting plea of present shortage. Furthermore, the better market for crude oil which characterized the closing months of the year has already somewhat stimulated drilling activity, which may contribute to next year's production."

PRESIDENT BUSY.

HOT SPRINGS, Va., Dec. 30.—Correspondence sent here by messenger from the White House engaged President Wilson's attention today. Another long letter from Secretary Lansing, the third within three days, also was delivered to the President. The President and Mrs. Wilson expected to play golf this afternoon.

United States Must Arm: French Expert

PARIS, Dec. 30.—Says the military critic of the newspaper Paris-Midi:

In the natural course of the development of the United States her increasing wealth will render her yearly more liable to attack on the Pacific coast.

The United States is doing a big business now. This rapid enrichment will be one of the most powerful world factors after the war. The American republic is no longer an importer of foreign capital. Tomorrow she will be exporting gold.

Thus she will have greater wealth to defend and her increased armaments are a logical necessity. She must become the dominant country of the American continent. Such growth will give disquietude to the British Australasian colonies and to Japan, whose navy is intact and who may well become jealous of American ascendancy.

Thus we see from afar the possibility of a new drama. The long foretold Pacific battle, impossible yesterday, will be possible tomorrow. The material reasons for such a conflict are constantly increasing.

Congressional ITEMS

The [illegible] which attempts to exclude cattle disease, has been found to seriously interfere with farm operations in the West and the department of agriculture is planning an energetic stamp out to the pest.

State department officials say they expect the United States government to be represented by an adequate exhibit at the exposition opening in January at Panama City.

Inventors have been flooding the war department with suggestions since the outbreak of the European war, the board of ordnance and fortification has been reviewing an average of three hundred proposals a month, according to its annual report. A new system has been inaugurated under which department heads will pass on the suggestions in the first instance, relieving the board of much useless labor, as many of them have no value.

The board is at work, the report shows, on schemes to prevent the erosion of guns, developing new equipment for field artillery, shore-control systems, submarine mines and torpedo range finders, searchlights, photographic apparatus and many other supplies for the army.

It was asked for $300,000 to continue its work.

To Hear Advocates and Foes of Defense

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—That Congress will investigate the propaganda of the advocates of national defense and that of the pacificists is now a foregone conclusion. Whether this investigation will be made by a separate committee specially appointed for the purpose or whether it will be conducted by the military and naval affairs committee of the House has not been settled. It was admitted at the capitol today that the logic of the situation called for such an inquiry.

The Navy League and other organizations which have been assailed are anxious to have an opportunity to meet their calumniators in broad daylight, it is stated, while the pacificists are equally anxious to demonstrate their theories relative to the motives of persons who manufacture munitions. Added to these are persons in and out of Congress who are pushing an agitation in favor of government manufacture of munitions.

MAY USE MOTOR BOAT DESTROYERS

Types to Use Against Submarines Are Submitted to U. S.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—Plans for two types of motor-boat submarine destroyers, designed to have a speed of at least forty-one miles an hour, have been submitted to the Navy Department. Models will be constructed at once and tested to determine whether the engines the designers intend to install will develop power for the required speed.

The department recently obtained bids from several boat builders on craft of this type, but there was such wide variation in the power proposed for boats of approximately the same size and lines that a test was decided on to determine just how much power would be required.

The boats are primarily intended to be carried aboard capital ships, two to a battleship or cruiser, and to form an inner protective screen against submarines when a fleet or squadron is at anchor or cruising slowly on station at sea. From the experiments with these craft, however, a standard type of motor-boat for anti-submarine patrol duty along the coasts and off harbor entrances in time of war probably will be developed.

No Arrest Until Immunity Decided

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—Service of the warrant for the arrest of Representative Frank Buchanan of Illinois in the indictment charging conspiracy to foment strikes in American munition plants was held up today while department of justice officials considered whether Buchanan as a member of Congress was immune from arrest.

In addition to Buchanan the warrant calls for the arrest of former Representative Robert H. Fowler of Illinois, H. B. Martin and Herman Schulteis on the same indictment. Whatever the decision with respect to Buchanan it was said the other three arrests would be made if possible. A representative of Snowden Marshall, United States attorney at New York, brought the warrant here today.

DRYS HOPE FOR REINFORCEMENTS

CHICAGO, Dec. 30.—Predictions are made that if the National Democratic and Republican platforms in 1916 do not contain prohibition planks there will be many defections from those parties to the Prohibition party were made today by prohibition leaders gathered here to consider the coming campaign. The conference, called by the executive committee of the national committee, was presided over by Virgil G. Hinshaw, national chairman. Prohibition presidential nominees were discussed informally. There seemed to be a tendency to connect men outside the party with the nomination.

Among others mentioned as candidates were J. Frank Hanley, former governor of Indiana; William Sulzer, former governor of New York; Richard P. Hobson, former congressman, and Eugene Foss, former governor of Massachusetts. The date for the convention was tentatively set for July 19 and 20 at the state fair grounds at Minneapolis, may be changed, but leaders said this was doubtful.

New Inspector Here; to Live in Berkeley

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30.—S. H. Morse, chief postoffice inspector of the Western division, arrived here this morning to take the place of George A. Leonard, transferred recently to Boston. Not only did Morse take up the reins recently dropped by his predecessor, but he also moved into Leonard's home at 2059 Los Angeles street, Berkeley, taking over his lease and his furniture.

Morse is no stranger on the Pacific coast, having been city inspector at both Portland and Roseburg, Ore. He was transferred to Boston on August 1. His desire to remain in this section of the country is due to his wife's health. It was in order to better her physical condition that he was transferred from Philadelphia to Oregon in 1902. While en route from Boston, Morse was taken ill with ptomaine poisoning and has been in the hospital for a week at Portland.

Boys Unearth Bag of Bogus Half-dollars

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30.—A bag of spurious 50-cent pieces cleverly counterfeited, was found near a lumber camp at Merced Falls by two small boys, Percy Rosano and Mack Gray, and turned over to the secret service bureau this morning. Chief Secret Service Agent Harry Moffitt declares that the coins were made from two moulds bearing the dates 1914 and 1915. They are well made and would pass muster if they were not jingled. There were eighty-two coins in the bag.

Mountain of Gloom Will Be Attacked

SAN JOSE, Dec. 30.—Destruction of a mountain of gloom, the capture of "El Malito," and expulsion of a horde of imps, including Envy, Malice and Scandal, are features of a spectacular allegory which will be staged as a part of a big new year's eve celebration here Friday night.

Louise Oneal, political boss, had been cast for the role of El Malito, but balked at the job when he found that he would have to walk through the city in chains and the role went a-begging until a committee of women workers announced that James Fellom, short story writer, would have to be "the devil" for his "home town." Fellom, accordingly, is prepared to doff his Stetson, flowing tie and other evidences of authorship and will appear in scarlet tights and a crimson mask.

TO WITHDRAW APPEAL.

SAN JOSE, Dec. 30.—Attorneys for Joseph Vetrano, sentenced to serve five years in state prison for writing a black-hand letter to Salvatore Teresa of this city, announced today that they would withdraw their appeal. Several other cases pending against Vetrano were then dismissed on motion of Assistant District Attorney Archer Bowden.

GABRIEL LOEB FUNERAL.

SAN JOSE, Dec. 30.—The funeral of Gabriel Loeb, retired merchant and capitalist, who died Tuesday, was conducted this afternoon by Rabbi Nathanson and the interment was in the Home of Peace cemetery. The members of the Elks Club and the St. Claire Club attended. Mr. Loeb had business interests in San Francisco and Oakland.

Chicago Considers Compulsory Drill

CHICAGO, Dec. 30.—Compulsory simplified military training for boys in the public, high and manual training schools of the city was provided for in a resolution introduced by Trustee Edward Piggott at a meeting of the school board yesterday. The resolution was referred to a committee, with instructions to report on the subject within sixty days. The school board voted to increase the salary of all teachers $120 a year, beginning January 1.

Wardrobe Goes Off With Thief

Bachelor Loses Suits to Smooth Caller

ALAMEDA, Dec. 30.—Walter H. Reed, [illegible] bachelor, had his home ransacked, but not his wardrobe. Therefore, while his residence at [illegible] Ferrade boulevard presents a neat and [illegible] appearance, his wardrobe presents the appearance of [illegible] of moths of immaturity. They were saved fro many danger of [illegible] pairs of plaids—for a [illegible] collected the entire outfit and escaped with it, although the owner fired several unsuccessful shots after the fugitive.

The thief was discovered by Reed, who had entered the home to watch the progress of the work. The man fled. Reed pursued, firing several shots which did not take effect. The thief escaped by boat, with the following collection: Fifteen suits of clothes, three dozen silk shirts, one-half dozen silk pajamas, a dozen silk hose, a set of diamond cuff links, platinum and pearl dress studs and other articles of apparel and jewelry. The entire lot was valued at $300.

WESTERN CHINA JOINS IN REVOLT

Spread of the Revolution Is Indicated in Other Provinces.

SHANGHAI, China, Dec. 30.—A telegram from Cheng Tu, capital of the Province of Sze Chuen, says there are indications that a rising in Western China is being planned, secret precaution being made for the revolt. The opinion is expressed in the dispatch, however, that the chances for the success of the movement are small.

Washington, Dec. 29.—American minister Reinsch, at Peking, cabled the State Department today that recent uprisings against Yuan Shi Kai and the return to monarchical government in China were not considered at the present time as constituting a serious political situation in that country.

A paraphrase of the dispatch given out at the department says: "The opposition movement is confined to the Province of Yunnan. Other provinces in the south of China are entirely quiet. If the movement should spread, however, it is not anticipated that there will be any danger to foreign life and property nor that business will be disturbed. On the contrary, special protection is assured to foreigners and their interests by the declaration of Yunnan leaders."

Press dispatches from Peking during the last few days have said that the revolutionary outbreak centering in Yunnan had spread to six other provinces, including Kwang Tung, Kweichau, Kiangsu and Hupeh. A cablegram Sunday reported that government troops had been sent to Kweichau to put down the uprising there.

Christmas Gifts Are Housebreakers' Loot

Burglars boldly ransacked the home of Charles Barnum, 403 Hudson street, last night while Mrs. M. Howerton, an aged woman visiting the family, was in an adjoining room to those looted by the intruders. Mrs. Howerton heard the burglars at work, but thought the noise was made by some of the boys in the family, and made no outcry.

Bernum and his wife went out for a short automobile ride shortly after nine o'clock last night, leaving Mrs. Howerton alone in the house. The burglars entered through a rear bedroom window. They searched two bedrooms and stole a watch and other jewelry. They left before Barnum and his wife came home. The police were notified and the neighborhood searched in vain.

The home of Richard J. Seward, 660 Oakland avenue, was entered by a burglar last night and looted, a gold watch, gold rope chain, two small neck chains and a suit of clothes being taken. The police are investigating.

Two watches were stolen last night from the home of Charles W. Yolland, 5742 Claremont avenue. The rooms of Louis Whalin and William Herbert, 1018 Washington street, were entered during the night by a sneak thief who stole clothes and tools.

W. F. Kidwell, 1225 Myrtle street, reported the theft of an automobile.

Vessel Weathers Gale, Bomb and Fire

NEW YORK, Dec. 30. — The steamer Bankdale arrived today from Bordeaux after a tempestuous voyage, in which the cattle fittings and rails were carried away and lifeboats lifted from their fastenings. On the outward voyage to Bordeaux, on November 19, when 750 miles from that port, a bomb exploded in No. 6 hatch. The cargo, consisting of cotton, was set on fire and the blaze raged until she reached port. All the cotton in the No. 6 compartment, consisting of 200 bales, was destroyed.

Cable dispatches received here November 26 from Bordeaux stated that the Bankdale had arrived there with a fire in her hold and that an inquiry was being instituted. No mention was made in the dispatches of a bomb explosion on board.

STOLEN AUTO SUPPLIES.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30.—Patrolmen Wuth and Lindecker, standing this morning in the lea of a protecting billboard, saw a hurrying figure wrapped in an automobile robe and wearing a heavy pair of driving gloves. They stopped him and obtained from him a confession that he had broken into an automobile supply house of Frank O. Renstrom.

SHORTHAND SCHOOL FOR YOUNG WOMEN

A distinct feature of the work of the Ilsen Shorthand Institute is that the day classes are limited to young women. This permits of unusually efficient instruction and commends itself to the young woman who has a serious interest in her work and desires to prepare for the better position.

The instruction is by the small group method so that the student has ample opportunity to ask questions and receive the immediate personal guidance of highly skilled instructors, who take a personal interest in her progress.

The Institute has a splendid class of young women in attendance and prides itself on its exceptionally thorough teaching, a statement that is borne out by the many graduates who hold positions in prominent banks, civil service, professional and business offices.

The surroundings are refined, with cheerful instruction and study rooms and the most modern equipment.

Arrangements can now be made for those desiring to enter the first of January.

The Institute is located at 529 Twelfth St., elevator, Blake Block, 1414 Washington St.—Advertisement.

Burglar 'Santa' Taken in Toils

Hayward Robbery Is Confessed

The man who was Santa Claus to Arthur Manter Jr., small son of Town Trustee Arthur Manter of Hayward, is in the county jail, charged with burglary.

He was arrested in San Francisco last night by Deputy Sheriffs Joseph Soares and Bert Brown, who found him trying to pawn several articles which he had stolen from the home of the Hayward official. The prisoner gave the name of Louis Cohen.

Cohen played Santa Claus on Christmas eve, entering the Manter home when the elders had gone to a party. He found himself in the bedroom of little Arthur.

"Are you Santa Claus?" the boy piped through the darkness.

"Yes, my child, go to sleep, or you'll get no toys," the burglar answered. He left with loot valued at more than $300. When captured in a San Francisco pawnshop last night Cohen was taken around to identify various articles which he had pawned. He identified them as having been taken from various Hayward homes, including that of Trustee Manter. He also confessed to the burglary of the home of Roy Morgan of San Leandro a night later.

VESSEL IS SAFE.

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Another radio message was received today from the Greek steamer Thessaloniki, which is making for this port with her boiler room partly flooded. "On account of small damage," read the message, "we come with lessened speed. Engineers assure no cause for alarm."

Jury Fail to Agree in Trial of Britton

That a man who fails to read a petition that he signs is as bad as one who misrepresents the contents of the petition in order to obtain the signature, was the attitude taken by the jury which sat in the trial of Sumner Britton, accused of misrepresenting the recall petition against Supervisor Joseph M. Kelley to the effect that it was against the removal of the courthouse.

After deliberating for several hours the jury failed to reach a verdict, standing 10 to 5 for acquittal, it was reported. When reporting to Superior Judge Ogden one of the jurymen stated that while they had been unable to agree, they had felt that "any man who signed any kind of a petition without reading it was not a good citizen."

Judge Ogden refused to take cognizance of the remark and ordered the jury to again retire and endeavor to reach a verdict.

January 17 was set as the date for the second trial of Britton. The [illegible] Joseph Taggert, similarly accused, will probably be postponed indefinitely, for the present but District Attorney Byrne stated today that it was not his intention to ask for the dismissal of any of the charges against any of the six men accused of misrepresenting the recall petitions.

Former Secretary to Mayor Seriously Ill

William Jordan, assistant city editor of the San Francisco Chronicle, and for two years secretary to former Mayor Frank K. Mott, is seriously ill with pneumonia at Providence hospital. Jordan was taken ill suddenly last night and removed to the hospital, an operation being thought necessary. He was attended by Dr. O. B. Hawkins. It was stated at the hospital today that he had passed a quiet night. Jordan was for many years head of the local staff of the San Francisco Call when it was a morning newspaper.

CAPWELLS OAKLAND

EDITORIAL ROOM.

Note—This column will be compiled from time to time by original store news, special announcements, etc., and expenditure of the details and management of the H. C. Capwell Co.

"A DIFFERENT KIND OF STORE."

Some Explanatory Facts About One of Oakland's Oldest and Biggest Establishments.

"Capwells is less like other stores every day," remarked one of our customers recently, "and it is more and more liked for being different."

Like Wanamaker's in New York and Marshall Field's in Chicago, Capwells in Oakland is indeed "different" from other stores. It is distinctive in its point of view of its customers—and in their attitude toward the store. It is distinctive in the equipment, arrangement and atmosphere of its store building. It is distinctive in a score of other ways.

Starting in 1889 with a different point of view of general store-keeping Capwells did not rent and later build a building, lay in a stock of goods and then advertise elusively to bring people in to buy goods—merely for the profit of the firm.

It began by studying and preparing and operating WHOLLY FROM THE CUSTOMER'S POINT OF VIEW—to give the worthiest kind of goods and the best value for the money the customer wished to expend; and the most efficient kind of selling and delivery service in addition.

BETTER EVERY DAY.

It continued with an ambition to make Capwells a better store every day just as fast as the ways could be found to make it better. The friends of this policy kept on increasing, and the people who had proven the reliability of our promises brought in their friends to support Capwells methods of keeping store so substantially that our business grew by leaps and bounds.

Every single year the total business greatly exceeded that done in the previous year. In 1912 a new four-story building covering half a block was required to enable the firm to give its tremendous and ever-increasing number of patrons the same different "public service" they had learned to rely upon.

1916 will record the completion of Capwells twenty-seventh year of public service. In starting this new year we wish every housekeper—every man, woman and child in Alameda and Contra Costa counties to know that Capwells continues to have an unusually live store policy. And it is our ambition to make you see for yourself that Capwells not only is now the leading store of Alameda County, but that it is rapidly coming to be one of the leading department stores of the Pacific Coast.

NO LONGER DESIRABLE TO CROSS THE BAY.

Thousands of women who formerly thought it necessary to cross the bay to shop have discovered that they can do ALL their shopping here to greater advantage (with regard to quality, variety and prices of goods) in less time, and with far more convenience than anywhere else.

A PLACE OF RECREATION.

Being different, also, Capwell's Store is of interest if only for a visit. It is a place of rest, recreation and sociability. Many of our customers regard it as their store home.

A trip of inspection through the store impresses the observer that it is built to handle crowds easily through its wide entrances, broad aisles, five big, safe elevators and moving stairway to the second floor (the first escalator to be built in this section of the state.) The floods of daylight on all floors, the perfect ventilation, the ample warmth, and the courteous attention of smiling clerks continually stimulate a feeling of welcome and cheerfulness. The well-stocked departments, all with individuality and many with reputations as leaders in their lines, arouse constant admiration.

SPECIAL FEATURES.

Of unique attraction, however, are the departments that have been provided solely for the convenience and comfort of Capwells customers without regard to profit or loss.

On the first floor is the Parcel Checking desk, which is operated without charge. The mezzanine floor is largely given up to a Rest Room, Library, the Public Telephones and the Emergency Hospital (of great importance in a store of this size. A bootblack stand and ladies' manicuring and hair dressing departments are also located on this floor.

An Art Needlework is provided on the second floor, where a needlework instructor is constantly retained to give free lessons to all customers who are fond of fancy work. On the third floor one of the most attractive music rooms on the Pacific Coast, while also a salesroom, is always open to store visitors who wish to rest in harmonious surroundings and listen to the Edison recreation of music.

TIP TOP INN.

The fifth floor is devoted partly to a splendid restaurant and grill-room called the Tip Top Inn which overlooks the lovely Italian Garden on the roof, and commands a beautiful view of the Berkeley and Claremont hills to the east and the Marin county hills across the bay to the west. Here amid most delightful surroundings Capwell's customers may enjoy table d'hote or a la carte luncheons, afternoon tea or fountain delicacies—may entertain friends and visitors as nowhere else—and feast their eyes and their palates at the same time.

The employes' lunch room on the same floor illustrates further application of the Capwell policy of service to customers by first caring for its sales force.

PLAYGROUND FOR CHILDREN.

Here also is the Children's Playground consisting of a large gymnasium room filled with slides, sand yards and merry-go-rounds; and there is a large circular swing on the roof outside. Children delight in playing here under the watchful care of nurses, while their mothers are shopping or resting downstairs. On rainy days the little folks beg to be brought here.

ROOF GARDEN.

Lastly the beauty of the Italian Roof Garden itself is alone worth a visit to the store with its many flowers, bubbling fountain and fish bowl, and easy chairs for resting and reading in the sun. Surely no more lovely garden was ever provided for the enjoyment of tired shoppers.

"No wonder," remarked a lady who had inspected these details of our "Public Service" equipment. "No wonder people say that Capwell's is a different kind of store, and more and more liked for being different."

MANY WILL FEEL EDGE OF ROLPH AX

City Employes on the Nervous Seat on Eve of Changes.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30.—The city hall is anxiously awaiting the seating of Mayor James Rolph Jr. for his second term as chief executive, and speculation is rife as to just what changes will be made in the municipal family. Not only are numbers of appointive officers trembling as to what is to become of them, but it is said that the board of supervisors contemplates changing a number of subordinates, who owe their appointment directly to a vote of the city fathers.

Mayor Rolph's statement that he does not intend to reappoint men who opposed him for re-election is taken to mean that the axe will fall on several heads, but who will gain by the changes in speculation.

"I will not reappoint men to office who have not co-operated with me," declared the mayor. "I certainly shall reward faithful service. I want to be surrounded by men who will help me. There is much to do and I want to have all the aid I can in advancing the interests of San Francisco. Those whom it is believed will be reappointed are Park Commissioner Curtiss H. Lindley, Fire Commissioner John F. Davis, Election Commissioners Charles McDevitt and C. J. Collins, and Playground Commissioner Rev. D. O. Crowley. To the Board of Public Works Adolph Gudell is likely to be again selected and Dr. A. A. D'Ancona is first choice for the Board of Education.

Whether or not Jesse B. Cook will be reappointed police commissioner admits of some doubt. From statements previously made it is believed that B. B. Rosenthal, president of the civil service commission and one of Supervisor Andrew Gallagher's managers in his fight for mayor, will lose that post.

Mayor Rolph seems assured that he will have the help of the Board of Supervisors in his pet project, although the control will likely be taken from those who have been frankly Rolph men in the past.

"I have been informed by most of the newly-elected supervisors that they will co-operate with me in carrying out my policy," was the mayor's declaration.

PAGEANT WILL BE GIVEN AT Y. W. C. A.

Alcoholic Plum Pudding Will Be Seen. But Not Tasted.

An alcoholic plum pudding will send up blue flames at the Y. W. C. A. in Webster street tonight. Like the well soaked brandy deserts of Merrie England it will burn. But not for the delectation of any spectator. It is to be a stage property.

Held aloft by a feminine chef in a white apron, the pudding is to be brought on as part of a Christmas pageant illustrating legends and customs that have crystallized about the 25th of December since it became a religious festival day.

Egyptians, Germans, Dutch girls, gypsies, Britons, French, Belgians, cooks and children dressed as "gifts" in paper boxes will be part of the passing show. In all nearly sixty girls from the various association clubs will take part.

As the spirit of Christmas, Miss Olga Neilson will give a prologue and epilogue summarizing the story of the birthday of Christ. Then the procession will wind on; a dozen gypsies in gay skirts will sing the old mummer songs of bygone centuries; Dutch maidens will dance, Britons will draw on their yule logs. Then the cooks clasping mince pies, will be led on by Miss N. Johnson, custodian of the pudding that is to be seen but not tasted, and they will sing the old English carol of "The Boars" and "Old Christmas Returned."

The Christmas pageant will be staged in the auditorium of the Webster street building for the entertainment of the association members and the interested portion of the public as well. Carols sung by the entire assemblage will be a feature of the evening.

Salt Company Joins in Injunction Plea

Joining hands with the Dumbarton Land Company, yesterday the California Salt Company applied to the Superior Court for an order restraining the Alameda county water district from being granted an injunction against the Spring Valley Water Company. The water district last week petitioned the court for an injunction to restrain the Spring Valley Water Company from continuing their work on the Niles Canyon dam. The reservoir is for compounding water for San Francisco and the peninsula.

Last week the Dumbarton Land Company made application for an injunction against the directors of the water district o nthe grounds that they do not represent a majority of the property owners. The salt company's action is based on the same grounds. The hearing has been set for next week.

National Prohibition Convention on July 9

CHICAGO, Dec. 30.—The Prohibition national convention will be held in Minneapolis on July 19, it was announced today by the Prohibition national committee, which is in session at its headquarters here.

CARTRIDGES FOR ALLIES.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 30.—The Sportsman's Cartridge Company, holding a lease to buildings in this city, announced today that a factory will be opened here in a short time for the manufacture of cartridges for the allies. Machinery valued at a half-million dollars is now being installed and it is stated the company has a contract to supply the allies with $3,500,000 worth of ammunition.

TO RECLAIM LAVA BEDS.

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., Dec. 30.—The United States reclamation service will soon begin a test of the most novel scheme ever attempted to reclaim a large acreage of fertile land. It has been proposed by J. G. Camp, local representative, that a tunnel be constructed from the bottom of Tule lake, a body of water covering 80,000 acres on the Oregon-California border, into a big fissure in the lava beds in Modoc county.

SHIPPING NEW TOWN.

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—The first shipment of houses for rebuilding Hopewell, Va., which was destroyed by fire on December 5, was made yesterday from lumber mills in Brooklyn. At least five thousand buildings will be constructed and the contract will amount to more than $2,000,000. These houses will be built so that two men with monkey wrenches can put them together in less than a day.

ACTOR PROBES YOUTH'S SOUL

WHITESIDE IN 'MELTING POT'

WHAT'S DOING ON LOCAL STAGE

By HARRY L. SULLY.

Back and forth across these United States Walker Whiteside has carried "The Melting Pot"—that dream of a London Jew as to the making of America. What then is the response of the American to this stimulus? Has it more than scratched the surface? Has it more than flattered vanity? Or has it only made him feel a little more self-conscious when he rises in his seat when the orchestra plays the "Star-Spangled Banner" late in the acts?

Whiteside is at the Macdonough this week with his play and "The Typhoon," the two being in slashing contrast as to the ideals of patriotism they offer. Whiteside has delved into the soul of David Quixano, the pogrom Jew orphan, as he has sought to pierce behind the mask of the Japanese, Tokeramo. He presents them to his countrymen as his contribution to the thought and art of his native land.

PRESENTS WORTHY PROBLEM.

Whiteside has chosen wisely two plays in which he can say to the public, "Here is something that presents a problem worthy of your thought. Here are characters and conditions concerning which you can and must feel. I have realized them as human beings and I give them to you. Perhaps they are a little more than merely an evening's amusement."

These plays are more than an evening's amusement. If you are content with the amusement, however, you have it here; and it is obvious from the comments of a group of young women who attended the "Melting Pot" matinee, that it is not necessary to think in order to enjoy the show. Master Israel Zangwill has seen to that. He has put enough of the commonplace in the play to make easy the path of the least thoughtful.

FOUND HIM "CUTE."

The young woman who found Whiteside as David Quixano, nothing more, and nothing less superlative, than "cute," was assuredly having a good time. Miss Cavanagh was both "cute" and "beautiful," and the stage settings were "beautiful," too.

But Quixano is more than this. He is our tragic immigrant who believes America to be "God's Crucible." Zangwill, a dreamer of the Ghetto, so idealistic a dreamer that he believes in a new Jerusalem in a Jewish rehabilitated Palestine, gives a hopeful solution to this tragic, questioning immigrant and his problem, weaving into his answer the skein of a romance romance.

Whiteside presents the Jewish musician in the slums of New York with an emotional sympathy for the dreams and passions and hopes of this idealist that shows he has penetrated to the heart and soul of Zangwill's conception. His work is convincing and poignant in its appeal. There could not well be imagined a greater contrast than that between Whiteside the emotional, impressionable artist, free of gesture, with every thought and feeling mirrored in his face, and the stoical, impassive and repressed Tokeramo of "The Typhoon."

SATISFACTORY AS VERA.

Lillian Cavanagh makes a more satisfactory Vera than she attained in her presentation of Ilona in "The Typhoon." Arda La Croix and Stephen Wright preserved that high standard of acting which marked their work in the Japanese play. Maude Shaw offered a clever and sympathetic bit of character work as the Irish domestic in the Jewish household.

Beginning with next Sunday's matinee the Macdonough Theater will present for one week only a return engagement of Oliver Morosco's famous fun play, "So Long Letty."

PANTAGES

Lottie Mayer, one of the most perfectly formed women among the remarkable swimmers California has produced, is coming to Oakland to appear at Pantages theater with her company in "Water Sprites," a group of beautiful girls whom she has trained. She will divide the honors on a splendid bill with Raul Pereira, formerly court musician in Portugal. Pereira is well known in America. He came here after King Manuel had been deposed, reorganized his orchestra, and won marked success in the East. This Pantages bill will also include many comedy features. Friend and Downing will offer some clever vaudeville work; Laypo and Benjamin, the Yiddish acrobats will be seen in a number of comic turns and twists.

The La Farra sisters have a dancing act which places them in a category by themselves among dancers. Fun will be added to the bill by Nellie Luckie and Tom Yost, in a clever sketch.

Marta Golden appeared in person last week, and this week she is in a Keystone feature film, "The Janitor's Wife." It was while this film was being made that Miss Golden broke three ribs. Next week will be marked by the wonderful Pantages roadshow, containing the best of the Pantages offerings.

ORPHEUM

Holiday crowds are getting their fill of enjoyment at the Orpheum this week. The Orpheum put its best foot forward after Christmas and offered theatergoers a very fine blend of vaudeville with which to celebrate the passing of the old year and the coming of the new.

Everybody knows Victor Morley. He was the star in "The Three Twins" when that famous production was here three years ago. He fairly sparkles with humor of the witty and polished sort in "A Regular Army Man." This miniature musical comedy was wrote by Charles Robins, Bernard Wolf and Clifton Crawford, who are the authors of "The Beauty Shop," "The Red Widow" and other great successes in the musical comedy world. Sixteen fine strapping fellows, sixteen with very good voices, and one dainty girl revel in and vie for Morley in this "A Regular Army Man" production and for forty minutes two dean cut decades live and move.

From the Orient has come Fatima, perhaps the most daring and graceful and altogether artistic Oriental dancer ever sent over the Orpheum circuit. Her stage settings are beautiful, with all the warmth and sensuous witchery of the East.

At the exact extreme of the Orient is the picture that Bert Lamont and his cowboys make of life in the Wild West. Two of the funniest little cut ups that have ever visited the Orpheum are Ben Ryan and Harriette Lee. They call their act "Now You've Spoiled It."

The Orpheum management announces that two complete shows will be given on New Year's eve in order to accommodate the big crowds that always want to celebrate New Year's eve at the Orpheum. The first performance begins at 7:30 and will end at 9:20. The second show will start at 9:30 and end at 11:20.

FRANKLIN

The part of a man who, through being a "good fellow" and his own worst enemy, goes through a literal hell before he learns his lesson, is admirably portrayed by Henry Kolker in "The Warning," the feature of the new bill at the Franklin today. The story is told in allegorical form, and aside from the poignant interest which attaches to the theme and the way in which it is worked out, is one of the most striking examples of screen artistry which has ever been presented. Dore's illustrations of the "Inferno" of Dante have been drawn upon in a realistic manner, and the grip which the pictures take upon the minds of those who see them is not easily loosened.

There is no attempt at preaching a sermon in connection with the theme, but with consummate skill the warning is conveyed, and there is no mistaking it.

Mr. Kolker has visualized the downfall of a man who gives way to "boon companionship" and its logical results with a vividness which cannot fail to impress, not only by its realism, but by the beauty of its presentation.

On the same bill, two comedies and a Hearst-Selig news-picture will be shown. Commencing next Sunday, the new Triangle Plays will be presented at the Franklin.

OAKLAND PHOTO

"I don't want to buy you, I want to hire your ability," is the shrewd wording Frank Grandell gives his offer of $15,000 to "Boss" Hoke in return for the latter's guaranteeing Grandell's election to the mayoralty. "Boss" Hoke's shrewd trick whereby he gets the money without rendering the service, and then completely reverses himself and restores the money to Grandell's wife with whom he is secretly infatuated, is but one of many tense situations in "The Reform Candidate," the Paramount feature attraction which commenced a four-day engagement at the Oakland Photo Theater on yesterday afternoon.

As "Boss" Hoke, an iron-shod politician, Mackyn Arbuckle is departing from his usual comedy vein. The departure is welcome, however, for he gives a study of ruggedness, power and yet tenderness withal that bids fair to make a profound impression. His narrowed eyes, his steel jaws, his whole grim repression as his energy, Frank Grandell, offers the bribe and then his complete change to brusque, half-embarassed chivalry in the dramatic mortgage scene with Mrs. Grandell, are a startling exhibition of fine acting.

As the second feature of this big double program, Holbrook Blinn and Vivian Martin are presented in "A Butterfly on the Wheel," a thrilling photodrama of two men and two women.

Woman Under Charge Escapes Hospital

Making a dash for liberty in a taxicab from the Oakland Central Hospital three days after the birth of her child, Mrs. Evelyn Von Dohlen, arrested on charges of passing fictitious checks, yesterday was captured by Under Sheriff Hanifin as she was about to escape to San Francisco. Taking advantage of an opportunity to escape out of the hospital, Mrs. Von Dohlen rushed from the building into an auto and to the Creek Route Ferry.

She had been released last week from the county jail on her own recognizance during her illness. Yesterday Superior Judge Frank B. Ogden was notified that she would be able to return to the Emergency Hospital prior to being taken to the county jail. Just as the court made out the second order for the woman's arrest, a taxicab stopped at the jail and demand was made for Mrs Von Dohlen's clothes. Word was immediately received of the escape and she was captured at the ferry. Mrs. Von Dohlen will be tried for passing worthless checks next month.

Anthropoid Ape and Pig Resemble Man

CHICAGO, Dec. 30.—The anthropoid ape and the pig more nearly resemble man in their reception of ideas than other animals, according to Professor Robert M. Yerkes of Harvard, who spoke today on "Methods of Studying Ideational Behavior in Man and Other Animals," at the twenty-fourth annual meeting of the American Psychological Association at the University of Chicago.

Pigs and anthropoid apes learn by experience, the professor said, in making his point, adding.

"For instance, they obtain the idea of 'middleness' so to speak, from the following test: Take five boxes with two doors in them and place food in the central one. Let the pig find it there several times. Then try it with three and with seven. Pigs will learn to select the middle box."

The professor said the association would take some action against the continued use of the Binet-Simon system for testing the capacity of mental defectives. "The fault is not so much with the system as with the stupidity with which it is used," he said. "It was intended as a rough classification of defectives and it is employed as an accurate one."

Election Decision Is Reversed by Court

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 30.—An opinion reversing the decision of Judge Milton T. Farmer of the Kern county superior court, which declared J. H. Thornber elected as a supervisor of that county, was rendered here by the district court of appeals. The appellate court ruled that the superior court erred in throwing out the ballots of an entire precinct during a recount of votes that gave Thornber a majority of 15.

When the votes were first counted, J. O. Hart, who appealed Judge Farmer's decision, had eleven more votes than Thornber.

John D.'s Oil Stock Now Worth $500,000,000

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—John D. Rockefeller's fortune, as represented in holdings of Standard Oil stocks, is now two and a half times greater than it was when the company was dissolved in May 1911. Prior to the dissolution, Rockefeller held 247,692 of the 952,383 shares outstanding. The price fixed in dissolution proceedings was $677 a share, which made Rockefellers' holdings worth $167,192,109. At current quotations for Standard Oil shares, including the rights the old stock has in the shares of subsidiary companies, the value of the Rockefeller stock now is $421,056,400, but brokers say if anyone tried to buy even ten shares the price would amount to $2000 a share or more. This would make the total close to $500,000,000.

INDICTMENTS FOR STRAW BOND MEN?

True Bills Said to Have Been Voted Against Six.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30.—Six alleged straw bond operators are said to have been indicted by the grand jury which adjourned early this morning after taking evidence for five hours. Those against whom true bills are supposed to have been voted and which may be presented in court on Monday are Owen A. Gilfeather, former deputy sheriff and superintendent of the county jail, accused of signing a straw bond; Joseph Shaughnessy similarly charged and awaiting trial; George S. Barkley, an attorney said to be missing; Frank Ambrose, a real estate operator; Joseph Monahan, accused of perjury; David Gorman accused of perjury.

Only one case is represented in the indictment. Monahan and Gorman disappeared while awaiting trial in Judge Griffin's court. Gilfeather and Shaughnessy were on his bond. Barkley and Ambrose are said to have arranged for the furnishing of the bail.

It is said that the investigation into the Monahan case is but the first of a rigid inquiry into a number of other violations of the law. A number of prisoners have gone Scott free, it is said, as the result of having "straw bond" bonds. In several instances the men who gave bail for them were never located, having given fictitious addresses and sworn that they owned property which proved to be mythical.

SAYS WIVES CAN'T OWN CLOTHES

WOMEN WANT LAW CHANGED

LEAGUE FIGHTS INEQUALITIES

In California a married woman "can't own her own clothes."

In California there is no law to prevent ungallant husbands from signing away homes their wives are living in, or from giving away the living-room chairs or any other trifle acquired after the marriage ceremony.

These are the discoveries that are fascinating east bay matrons into a horrid sense of their unity since the spotlight fell on John F. Spring's transferral of community property to an investment company while his wife was out of town. The club women are frankest in their condemnation at the whims of the law and when the Alameda district of the California Federation of Women's Clubs meets at Lodi next February they will insist on action for reform of the community property law.

Former president of the State Federation, Mrs. James B. Hume, who is at present head of the Women's Political League of Alameda county and one of the best known club women of the district, last night spoke of the necessity for women to secure special legislation for their protection in this particular regard. Mrs. Hume was several years ago the president of the Ebell Society, Oakland's most conservative woman's club, but her remarks are emphatic.

ILLUSTRATES PROBLEM.

"This Spring case," she said, "plainly illustrates the problem. The community property law in this state, as in many other states, should be changed. Why, in California a woman can't own her own clothes, that is, she can't under the laws of this state.

"If the women of California are in earnest there is no doubt in my mind that they can gain the co-operation of the legislators.

"In other states such laws have been passed—the laws give women rights which eliminates the mere possibility of such a problem as that which has arisen between Mr. and Mrs. Spring. This problem, coming at this time, should show women the way.

"There is no reason why a woman, after having lived with a man, reared his children, nursed him in his sickness, helped him to accumulate his fortune, should be deprived of her home.

"This is a subject which the local branches of the California Civic League of the entire state should take up in serious consideration. They should not delay; the time is right. The Spring case is a just and clear illustration of the need of new community laws."

Another matron prominent in club circles who has expressed an opinion is Mrs. John Newton Potter, president of the Oakland New Century Club and a member of the board of directors of the Alameda District of the California Federation of Women's Clubs. Her comment was this:

"Women have practically no rights at all in this state. The laws that we do have do not take women into consideration and something certainly should be done to remedy the evil. The Spring case has not made me any more timid, convinced of this than I was before, but it serves as a typical example.

"The federation meets in Lodi in February and I shall be one to insist on action for new legislation governing women's rights, particularly where community property is involved.

"There are more than 33,000 women in the organization," concluded Mrs. Potter, "and when we demand anything with a united front we are certain to get some consideration from the legislature."

At the last session held by the legislature at Sacramento a community property law providing that a wife's signature must be affixed to a transfer of community property in order to make the transaction legal was introduced by Senator Luce. Though battled for by the women's legislative council, it was not campaigned for sufficiently nor early enough, nor was it understood by women voters generally.

By the time the 1916 legislature comes in session the state federation will see to it that women throughout the state are thoroughly "wise" as to their exact legal status.

In fact, they are all to be notified that their husbands may give away their wives' clothes—or the clock, or the front garden or anything else that happened to be added to their taxable possessions after exchanging marriage vows. The new war is on.

TRIBUTE PAID TO PHILIP M. WALSH

Memorial services were held this morning for Philip M. Walsh, former State Assemblyman from Alameda county and member of the Alameda County Bar Association, in Superior Judge Wells' court. Seven superior judges sat en banc and paid tribute to his memory with the members of the bar association.

Melvin C. Chapman was the speaker in behalf of the bar association of which he is president, and Judge J. J. Allen, former law partner of Welsh, also spoke. The court room was crowded with friends of the deceased, all anxious to pay tribute to his memory.

"Philip M. Walsh was a member of the California Legislature when it was an honor to be a member of the Legislature, when representative men were chosen," said President Chapman.

Walsh was born in San Francisco 45 years ago and was a resident of Oakland practically all his life. Besides being a member of the legislature for three terms, he was also assistant district attorney. At last congressional election he was aspirant for the Republican nomination to congress.

Resolutions were drawn up by a committee named by President Chapman, consisting of Judge J. J. Allen, Lincoln S. Church and Senator Edward J. Tyrell.

The funeral was held this afternoon from a local undertaking parlor. The remains will be interred in Mountain View cemetery, with Rev. Clifton Macon officiating.

SAN DIEGO FAIR ENDS FIRST YEAR

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 30.—The Panama-California Exposition, after a full year's run, will be closed and the Panama-California International Exposition, with greater compass, will be launched for a full year's duration when time swings past midnight tomorrow night.

The occasion will be one of the greatest celebrations ever planned in this city and will take place on the exposition grounds, beginning at 6 o'clock tomorrow evening and continuing into the morning of New Year's Day. A feature of the New Year's eve festivities will be the freedom of all attractions on the Isthmus.

Formal official ceremonies of the opening of the new 1916 exposition, virtually a continuance on a greater scale of the 1915 fair, will be held Saturday. These will begin with a grand military parade, which will march from lower Broadway to the exposition grounds at 10.30 o'clock. Divisions will include coast artillery corps marine corps, cavalry, sailors from warships of the Pacific fleet in the harbor, militia and naval reserves and artillery reserve companies and cadets from the San Diego Army and Navy Academy.

Many distinguished guests, including commissioners from foreign governments, representatives from Washington and governors of Western States, will participate in the formal exercises. In the afternoon Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, assisted by Mme. Ellen Beach Yaw, "the California lark," will sing in concert at the great outdoor Spreckels organ.

Advices from over the state are that a great attendance from out of the city may be expected to join in both the New Year's eve and New Year's Day celebrations.

ELECTED DEAN OF LAW INSTITUTE

John J. Allen Chosen Head of New School for Legal Instruction.

John J. Allen has been elected dean of the recently organized Oakland Institute of Law, with offices in the Syndicate building, the directorate of which includes some of the best known business and professional men of the city. The new school has been opened to provide legal and business training to men and women unable to avail themselves of university instruction. J. E. Herrin, the registrar, explained today:

"The development of the modern corporation, accompanied by endless legislation for restriction and regulation, enacted by both federal and state governments, has brought about a condition epitomized in a phrase by the late J. Pierpont Morgan, who said: 'The greatest risk in business is legal risk.'"

MANY COMMERCIAL WRECKS.

"The pathways in commerce are strewn with the wrecks of business enterprises which have run counter to the law. Business sharps and crooked promoters have fattened on the legal ignorance of honest, successful business men. Many a partner has been ruined financially through not understanding the law of partnership. Millions of dollars are charged to profit and loss annually on account of ignorance of the law of credits and collections. Business expectations are shattered and fortunes dissipated everywhere because of invalid contracts. Trade advantages are sacrificed and heavy advertising investments lost, due to inexact and inadequate knowledge of the law pertaining to patents, trademarks, copyrights and unfair competition.

"Every man is presumed to intend the legal consequences of whatever he voluntarily does. All his business transactions therefore, come within this rule, and since every business transaction is governed or controlled by some principle of law, it follows that no business can safely proceed unless guided by a thorough understanding of the principles of law.

"Current business problems are so interwoven with legal problems that the study of law is today, as never before, regarded as the best possible training for business. The hiring of labor, the making of contracts, selling of goods, signing of notes, and all of the commercial transactions require a practical knowledge of law. A smattering of legal knowledge, gained through experience and therefore promiscuous and unorganized, no longer suffices in an epoch when the ranks of business are so rapidly being filled with men of legal trained minds.

"The business man, by reason of his mature mind, his experience, his knowledge of affairs, is particularly adapted to understanding law with facility, and when properly presented to profit in mental discipline and development, and to increase in general business efficiency by a study of the law.

TEACH SCIENCE OF LAW.

"The business and professional men and women of Oakland are to be taught the science of law and its practical application under the supervision of some of the leading members of the bench and bar of this city. The Oakland Institute of Law is established to fill a longfelt need, and its faculty includes a number of well-known lawyers, business men and clergymen. Its aim is to reach those who are unable to avail themselves of the university instruction, owing to business pre-occupation, financial circumstances, position, age or environment.

"The course of study is not only for the man or woman who desires to become a practicing attorney, but also for the man or woman who is preparing for an advanced position of responsibility in the commercial and business world. Law, which many people feel has become essential in every line of activity, has resulted in the organization of this institute. The text work, consisting of fourteen volumes, has been prepared by the greatest law teachers and writers of this country. The whole body of American law is treated in an untechnical manner, and with the collateral reading required by the District Court of Appeals, prepares for the bar examination."

FOUR CHARGED WITH ASSAULT

Injuries to Attorneys at Bakersfield Results in Arrests.

BAKERSFIELD, Dec. 30.—As an aftermath of the alleged attack on District Attorney McCowan and Assistant District Attorney James H. Farraher on Christmas eve, warrants have been issued by Justice of the Peace A. W. Marten for the arrest of H. W. Klipstein, sr., A. M. Barton, Jack Basye and W. J. Cox, the latter of El Paso, Tex. The complaints were signed by McCowan and Farraher and charge that the four defendants were "guilty of unlawful assemblage for the purpose of doing great bodily harm."

Klipstein, Marten and Basye gave themselves up at the jail and immediately furnished bond. Cox, it was said, has returned to his home in El Paso.

The alleged assault grew out of a dispute in the district attorney's office between Klipstein and Farraher over the granting of immunity to a cattle rustler. According to both McCowan and Farraher, who were severely beaten up, the alleged attack was unprovoked. Klipstein declared he took Farraher to task for striking him during the dispute in the district attorney's office, in which Klipstein and Farraher's son came to blows.

After the alleged attack McCowan went to San Francisco, where he said he had his eyes examined [illegible] that a kick in the eye by one of his assailants seriously injured that organ.

Klipstein and Cox are cattlemen, Cox being the father-in-law of Klipstein, who also is captain of the local National Guard cavalry troop. Basye and Barton are employes of the board of supervisors.

Foils Bloodhounds by Use of Ammonia

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Dec. 30.—How he poured ammonia on his trail to prevent pursuit by bloodhounds and how he watched posses for hours from a hiding place within ten feet of the trail taken by the officers, was told in a confession to the authorities last night by Arthur Hamilton, charged with robbing the Bank of Manitou of $2500 on December 1. Hamilton was arrested in Indianapolis a week ago.

Hamilton said for two days before the robbery he timed himself climbing a mountain over which he escaped. After robbing the bank, he said, he went to Indianapolis, posing as a traveling salesman.

Hamilton said he would plead guilty to the charges. He was identified by J. Frank Campbell, cashier of the Bank of Manitou, as the man who robbed the bank after locking him in the vault.

Would Kill Armies by Wireless Waves

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Dec. 30. — "It is conceivable that means can be devised for the transmission through space of a sufficient amount of energy in electrical form to exterminate an army of men or to destroy battleships on the high seas," Dr. Raymond F. Bacon of Pittsburg declared here last night in an address before the American Association for the Advancement of Science. Dr. Bacon, who is director of the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research and School of Specific Industries of the University of Pittsburg, explained that his assertion was based on facts already known about transmitting electric impulses. His talk was largely a plea for government aid in scientific work.

KILLS HIS BROTHER.

CHEHALIS, Wash., Dec. 30.—Lawrence Johnson, aged 14, accidentally shot and killed his brother, Earl Johnson, 16 years old, while hunting near here yesterday. Their mother, Mrs. Frank Little, lives at Lewiston, Idaho, and their father, Alfred Johnson, at Bunker, Wash.

FRANKLIN THEATER WILL PRESENT TRIANGLE PLAYS

LILLIAN GISH, WHO WILL BE SEEN IN A NEW TRIANGLE PLAY AT THE FRANKLIN NEXT SUNDAY.

Considerable interest is being manifested by local motion picture "fans" in the announcement that the Franklin theater is to present the new Triangle plays commencing next Sunday.

The Triangle productions, which are directed by D. W. Griffith, Thos. H. Ince and Mack Sennett, are acclaimed as the most entertaining film plays being produced at the present time. They are being shown throughout the country with great success and have met with the unqualified approval of the press and public of New York, where they are being presented at the Knickerbocker theater at $2.00 prices.

The first two Triangle plays which will be shown at the Franklin, commencing next Sunday, are "The Lily and the Rose," a Griffith production, and "The Great Vacuum Robbery," a Keystone comedy directed by Mack Sennett. Lillian Gish, who plays the part of the Lily in "The Lily and the Rose," was seen here recently as the beautiful Elsie Stoneman of D. W. Griffith's spectacular production, "The Clansman." Rozsika Dolly, the famous dancer who commands a salary of a thousand dollars a week as a vaudeville performer, appears as the Rose.

Charles Murray and Harry Booker, also famous vaudeville headliners, will be seen in "The Great Vacuum Robbery," a burlesque comedy based on the robbery of a bank by means of a long hose and a vacuum cleaner with which bills are sucked up at one end and whirled out the other.

Will Prosecute for Oyster "Adulteration"

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—Prosecution of oyster dealers found guilty of practice of adding fresh water to shucked oysters so as to greatly increase their size, in violation of the food and drugs act, will be recommended by the Department of Agriculture.

This was announced today by the department, which said that considerable evidence is being collected by its inspectors regarding the traffic in water-soaked oysters. As soon as completed, the evidence will be turned over to the Department of Justice with a view to prosecution, it was added.

The addition of water to oysters lowers their food value, in the department's opinion, which holds that such oysters are adulterated within the meaning of the food and drugs act.

Rancher Hangs Self From Barn Rafter

Going into the barn at Pleasanton, where she supposed her husband was attending to work, to call him in to breakfast, Mrs. Manuel V. Alvares this morning found her husband's body dangling from a rafter. The man had used a rope from a halter to take his own life. No motive for the act has been advanced by the authorities here.

The woman's screams attracted the attention of passersby on the boulevard, and the body was cut down and removed to the Pleasanton morgue, where an inquest will be held. An investigation is being made in an effort to establish a motive for the suicide.

Alvares, who was 35 years of age, had been a rancher in this district for some years. He is survived by a widow and one child.

Desires Probe of Decreasing Vitality

COLUMBUS, Dec. 30. — Investigation by a commission authorized by Congress of the causes of decreasing vitality of the American people was advocated by E. H. Rittenhouse of New York, president of the Life Extension Institute, in an address before the American Institution for the Advancement of Science at its meeting here today.

Dr. Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of the Harvard University, disagreed with this proposal, saying it is unnecessary. He criticised the administration's program for preparedness on the ground that the army increase advocated is of not much value and urged an extensive system of compulsory education of all persons under 20 years of age. More armored cruisers and fewer dreadnaughts are required in the navy, he added.

WOULD PUT END TO SHELL TESTS

Isham Invention Not as Claimed Says Naval Officers' Board.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—Abandonment of experiments with the Isham explosive shell fuse for navy use invented by Willard S. Isham of New York is unanimously recommended by the special board of navy officers headed by Rear Admiral Fiske, which was investigating the subject for the last fifteen months. The board finds that the fuse fails to accomplish its object, described as being able to make possible shell fire against the unprotected hulls of warships below the water line.

The final report of the board upon which Captains J. A. Hoogewerff and Roy C. Smith and Lieutenant-Commander H. G. Sparrow served and to which Professor Dodge also was attached for a time was given out today by Secretary Daniels. The last Congress made special appropriations to carry out the experiments, but the board now recommends that the inventor pay for any future tests himself. The report follows in part:

WOULD END EXPENSE.

"2. As shown in Mr. Isham's letter to former Representative Hobson, it is his belief that he has developed, or can develop, a shell and fuse the main virtue of which is that, in addition to its detonating if it hits thick or thin armor, if it falls short of its target in flight, it will not detonate on hitting the water, nor will it, at certain ranges, ricochet, but will detonate after making an underwater run of some length (sufficient to lose its forward velocity) or on striking an object. He believes that by mine effect such detonation will vitally damage a ship's underwater body at a considerable distance. He advocates the use of a very high explosive in such shell, but is willing for the time being to defer to naval opinion in the use of less sensitive explosives.

"2. After fifteen months' experiments and tests, Mr. Isham has failed to produce a fuse to secure the object he seeks.

"3. The board's experiments show that underwater runs of shell may be secured at ranges depending on the shape of the shell and angle of fall, and such runs are not a peculiar feature of Mr. Isham's shell.

COST IS HEAVY.

"4. The board believes that allowing Mr. Isham to conduct further experiments at government expense is unwarranted. Such expense to the government is estimated at approximately $1500 for each day that ten slugs are fired.

"5. The board believes that a design of fuse is desirable which will permit the shell to strike the water without detonating, but which will detonate the shell either on striking an object later or approximately one second after hitting the water if no object is encountered."

RECOMMENDATION.

The board recommends that no further experiments be conducted by Mr. Isham at government expense.

Mysterious Malady Kills Seven Children

BOSTON, Dec. 30. — A mysterious malady which has baffled definite diagnosis by medical authorities had claimed seven victims among infants in Greater Boston last night. An increasing number of children were reported suffering from the same disease.

Medical Examiner George B. Magrath, after performing an autopsy on the body of one of the children, said he believed the illness to be a new form of influenza, but that until chemical analysis of the stomach of the child was made, he could add little to the knowledge of the case. He was inclined to disagree with early medical opinions that the deaths were due to eating poisoned candy.

SCHMIDT'S LAWYER ATTACKS EXPERTS

Famous Case Will Go to the Jury Late Today Is Belief.

By Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 30.—The trial of Mathew A. Schmidt, charged with murder of Charles Haskett, one of twenty men killed when the Los Angeles Times building was blown up five years ago, rapidly neared its close today. The final argument in Schmidt's defense was made by Nathan Coghlan, his chief counsel, at the morning session of court. Thomas Lee Woolwine, district attorney, started a final plea for conviction this afternoon and the court was expected to charge the jury in time to give the fate of the prisoner into their hands about dark.

The jury has the choice of five verdicts: Acquittal, manslaughter, with a maximum of ten years; second degree murder, carrying a penalty of ten years to life imprisonment; first degree murder, with punishment fixed at life imprisonment, and first degree murder without recommendation of mercy, which requires imposition of the death sentence.

Coghlan's argument dealt mainly with the testimony of handwriting experts built up by the prosecution on the basis of Schmidt's signature to a telegram sent to his sister after he was arrested. Coghlan said that all experts testify according to the wishes of those by whom they are hired.

Salvation Army Post at Butte Blown Up

BUTTE, Mont., Dec. 30.—The headquarters of the local branch of the Salvation Army located in a down town building owned by the army, were damaged early today by an explosion of dynamite. The explosion blew out the entire front of the building and shattered glass in a hotel and in a number of stores across the street. Adjutant L. A. Reno, in charge of the work here, had no theory today as to why dynamite should be exploded in the army's building. The police have no clew, although a report is being run down that the dynamiting was done as a blind to facilitate the robbery of the barroom in the hotel across the street. The hotel management declares that no attempt was made to rob the barroom.

Contra Costa Officials Scored by Grand Jury

MARTINEZ, Dec. 30.—The grand jury has made its report and has been discharged by Superior Judge R. L. Latimer. The report censured the county officials, declaring that no care has been exercised in the disbursement of county funds and that county officials have been extravagant. John Birmingham, former county commissioner, was especially censured for extravagance in exposition expenditures. To curb this extravagance the grand jury recommended that a purchasing agent be employed by the county.

Other recommendations included an assistant at $800 a year for the county superintendent of schools; that the salary of the county Health Officer be raised; that a sanitary inspector be appointed, together with a county veterinarian and a county bacteriologist, and that a county laboratory be installed.

The jury recommended that the law which provides that the supervisors shall not spend more than 70 per cent of the road fund before it is available be more strictly enforced, and that collections for liquor licenses and the issuance of liquor licenses be done more carefully, and that the district attorney should be the one to decide what action should be taken when licenses are not renewed as soon as they expire.

PLAIN NAME FOR COMMERCIAL BODY

Three New Bureaus Created by Two Consolidated Organizations.

Just plain "Chamber of Commerce" is to be the name of the present "Oakland Chamber of Commerce and Commercial Club, Consolidated," if the membership of the organization approve of the action of the governing board at its annual meeting last evening.

Taking the view that the present name was cumbersome, it was decided to make the change and it will be submitted to vote at an early date.

Three new bureaus were added to the board's organization, which will be given permanent secretaries. There were a membership bureau, of which A. P. Karbach was appointed secretary; a women's bureau, with Mrs. Nancy Baker Townsend, secretary, and a manufacturers' bureau to take the place of the present committee. The appointment of a secretary for this bureau will be made later.

M. M. Jones was re-appointed secretary of the industrial bureau and J. W. Preston was again chosen secretary of the publicity and convention bureau.

The president, Joseph H. King, presided over the meeting, which was nearly a full attendance of board members.

The budget for 1916 follows:

Industrial and Traffic Bureau	$ 3,750
Manufacturers' and Wholesalers' Bureau	3,750
Publicity and Convention Bureau	7,500
Membership Bureau and Membership Council	3,750
Rent—Executive offices and Commercial Club	8,400
Official publication	1,000
Entertainment of distinguished visitors and entertainment fund	2,500
House expenses and club operation	2,475
Office expenses—(a) postage	2,500
(b) Stationery and printed matter, office supplies, booklets, equipment, etc., telephones and telegrams	2,700
Administration, exploitation and development work	12,500
Back country affiliation and community federation	1,500
Contingent fund—Good roads, Lincoln Highway, city planning, education, public health and sanitation, public recreation, laws and regulations, field sports, automobiles, clean up campaigns, library and art, and other unclassified expenditures	11,225
Total	$62,500

The committees are:

Finance committee—W. K. Cole, chairman; Frederick Kohr, T. S. Bridges, Chas. L. Smith, Dr. A. S. Kelly.

Ways and Means committee—O. E. Hodg, chairman; F. A. Leach Jr., Arthur Arlett, Curtis Wright Jr., F. J. Woodward.

Entertainment of Distinguished Guests—Victor H. Metcalf, chairman; George C. Pardee, Jos. R. Knowland.

Harbor Development committee—Harrison S. Robinson, chairman; H. C. Capwell, vice-chairman; Jos. R. Knowland, W. W. Keith, George C. Pardee, Harry S. Anderson, T. F. Fallon, J. R. Christy, Capt. H. L. Demeritt, Charles Bates, J. L. Howard Jr., V. O. Lawrence.

Legislative committee—George C. Pardee, chairman. Committee to be chosen later.

Plans for an entire reorganization, on an efficiency basis, of the various departments of the chamber, the various old and new activities to be conducted under a system by which every bureau will have its own special business and special committees and executive workers, were discussed last night by the board. The new system will bring about, according to the directors, a maximum of efficiency in every department, and is being arranged in preparation for a busy year of progress in 1916.

The five new committees appointed last night as the first step in the reorganization were chosen from among the most prominent men in the city's business life and each being chosen with a view to his special fitness for the particular committee and work.

Dictagraph Evidence May Convict Three

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 30.—Evidence that will most likely go far toward convicting three men, arrested here charged with attempting to secure a large sum of money in cash by wrecking a Lehigh Valley passenger train on which was riding the paymaster of the road with several bags of money, was secured by the state police through the employment of a dictagraph. The instrument was placed in the cells of the men. Michael Olinchek, Joseph Yurcavage and Stanley Crafton.

Police Sergeant Harvey Smith testified that Yurcavage was heard saying to another of the suspects: "Shut the door; we may be heard. You keep your mouth shut about the dynamite or we may get twenty years."

That the dictagraph transmitted these words correctly was admitted by Olinchek.

The train that they plotted to wreck carried nearly $30,000 at the point where the tracks had been dynamited. A huckleberry picker, a boy, saw the rails torn up by the dynamite and signaled the engineer in time to avoid the wreck.

La Porte Resident Is Oldest Supervisor

QUINCY, Dec. 30.—Charles Hendel of Plumas county claims the record of being the oldest supervisor in California. Hendel, whose home is in La Porte, is over 80 years of age.

Hendel has lived in La Porte since the very first of the 50s, and was an active figure in the days when La Porte, Port Wine, Brandy City and the other mining camps of that district were at their height. He was a surveyor and mineral engineer.

Guard Town With Barbed Wire Fence

San Leandran's Protect Selves Against Hoboes

SAN LEANDRO, Dec. 30.—Passports for hobos? Never! Not at any price. A line of demarkation, potential as an electrically charged barbed wire fence now separates the hobos happy hunting grounds from the San Leandro boundary line across which they have been forbidden to come. There will be no excuse for any of these wanderers entering forbidden territory; all will be the penalty.

"Henry Ford has a much getting more warmth countries compared with a four day's attempt to enter San Leandro," grumbled a weary hobo as he was turned out of camp and escorted to the outskirts of town.

Vigorous enforcement of anti-hobo regulations has been adopted by peace officers since the attempt to burn down the home of Mrs. Marie Phillips and the building of a number of homes.

Every hobo no matter how harmless he appears is a potential incendiary and a pariah in the eyes of marshals and constables. Officers are still investigating the fighting by hoboes of a bonfire in front of the home of Mrs. Phillips, an invalid either in an attempt to burn the house or to frighten the woman against whom they made threats when she refused to give them wood for their camp fire.

ALAMEDA ONE OF FEW HOLDING OUT

San Francisco Added to Counties for Party Registration.

San Francisco is the latest county to declare for party registration of voters in accordance with the will of the people as expressed in October of this year. The election commission was unanimous in its decision. Fresno county, the home of Chester Rowell, has taken similar action. County Clerk Barnwell falling into line yesterday. Alameda is one of the few counties standing out, although its people by a majority vote went on record for party registration.

Registrar Zemansky of San Francisco was instructed yesterday to prepare the new registration blanks so as to permit voters to record their party affiliations. He had anticipated the action of the commission by obtaining rubber stamps for marking the printed blanks as directed, and will be ready to begin the new registration on party lines next Monday morning.

The election commission's meeting was attended by Commissioners Hermann, Collins and Cater.

City Attorney Long's opinion sustaining the report of the law committee of the commission in favor of party registration, was read, and Collins said he no longer had any doubt. The adoption of the law committee's party registration resolution followed without discussion.

The law committee reported that the procedure to be taken with regard to the presidential primary in May required separate consideration, and this subject will be taken up in January.

The county clerks of the following counties are resolving the doubt on the side of the people:

Amador, Butte, Calaveras, Colusa, Contra Costa, El Dorado, Fresno, Glenn, Kings, Los Angeles, Modoc, Nevada, Riverside, Orange, Sacramento, Shasta, Sonoma, Sierra, Sutter, Tehama, Trinity, Yolo, Yuba.

Make a reputation for yourself by treating your folks to the best dinner they ever had. Make a right start by selecting the right place to buy.

SEQUOYAH CRACKS IN NOVEL PLAY SUNDAY MORNING

Class "A" Players Will Get a Chance to See Greens From New Angle.

The class A golfers of the Sequoyah Country Club will get a chance [illegible] Sunday morning, when [illegible] will take part in a very [illegible] promises to be an interest [illegible] at least as far as [illegible] is concerned. [illegible] playing one ball under [illegible] conditions, will be the rule and the pairings have been chosen [illegible] ing up the best players with the [illegible] The teams will play [illegible] some, with medal scores [illegible].

The plan of making the [illegible] on the handicap list with [illegible] should result in some [illegible] as well as interesting play. [illegible] is one of the best things [illegible] imaginable, as the poor [illegible] to be bettered by their association with the better players, and the low handicap men take a great deal of interest in [illegible] all comparative beginners. Among those pairs in which both players are "far to middle," the play should be "hip and tuck," while the chances of the unevenly balanced pairs for the prizes are somewhat dependent on luck.

One of the best for the first prize is the team J. J. Valentine Jr. and H. D. Harper. The former is one of the best players of the club, while his partner, although but a beginner, is developing fast. The team should work well, for Harper is fairly reliable as to direction, while Valentine can be depended on for the fancy twists that will be found necessary during the play over 18 holes.

Colonel Rheem and Phil Clay should hit it off well together, as the former should be able to put distance to Clay's advice. If Rheem can carry out his part, the pair should round out a neat score.

F. B. McGurrin, the club champion, will have S. P. Shipp for a partner. As the latter is but a beginner, McGurrin will have to get his deadly short approach working in order to put their medal score on the safe side of one of the prizes.

Golf activity at the Sequoyah Club is much in evidence at present, as the players are preparing for the Directors' Cup play, which will keep the players busy for the next three or four months. The play for the most important title of the year will be in this tourney, and the possession of the handsome cup will be decided after four separate elimination tourneys have been decided. The final battle for the trophy will be between the winners of four separate sets of play, each of which will take three or four weeks to finish.

Drawings for Sunday morning have been made as follows:

FINE TRIBUTE TO SHEVLIN PAID BY WALTER CAMP

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 30. — Walter Camp, the noted Yale football authority today made the following statement concerning Shevlin's death to the Associated Press:

"A sportsman, a leader, a friend, always at the front with a dominant personality that compelled attention and success. Into life as into football, he carried that personality and it always stood him in good stead. He never faltered, but went straight ahead with a vigor that was compelling and yet with a sound judgment that brought its reward. Yale will miss him, football and sport will miss him, but above all, a host of friends will feel a deep sense of personal loss that nothing can replace."

Frank Hinkey, head coach of the Yale eleven, who developed Shevlin into one of the greatest of Yale ends, paid the following tribute to his former pupil:

"He was among the greatest players, the best coaches and the finest captains who ever handled the pigskin for Yale. He had an almost superhuman power of instilling the fighting, do-or-die spirit into his men. Tom was one of the whitest, squarest men I have known. There were few in New Haven who knew him as I did and I feel his loss keenly."

HARD JOB TO LAND FREDDIE WELSH

"Offer Freddie Welsh, lightweight champion boxer of the world, and his manager, Harry Pollock, the United States Mint and its contents and they might agree to engage in a real fight, but otherwise, there is no chance at all of grabbing Welsh for a match."

That is the statement of Promoter Jack Kanner of the National Athletic Club of Denver, after Welsh had refused an offer of $2000, three round-trip tickets and the privilege of 40% of the gate receipts if he would agree to meet Gilbert Gallant, the Boston lightweight who defeated Stanley Yoakum at Denver on Tuesday night.

January 17 was the date chosen for the match, but Pollock, who did not want Welsh to meet Gallant in the first place, decided that the date must be advanced and that Welsh must be allowed to name his own referee. Kanner said Pollock then the date was stood and that there are plenty of good referees in Denver, so the match is now off.

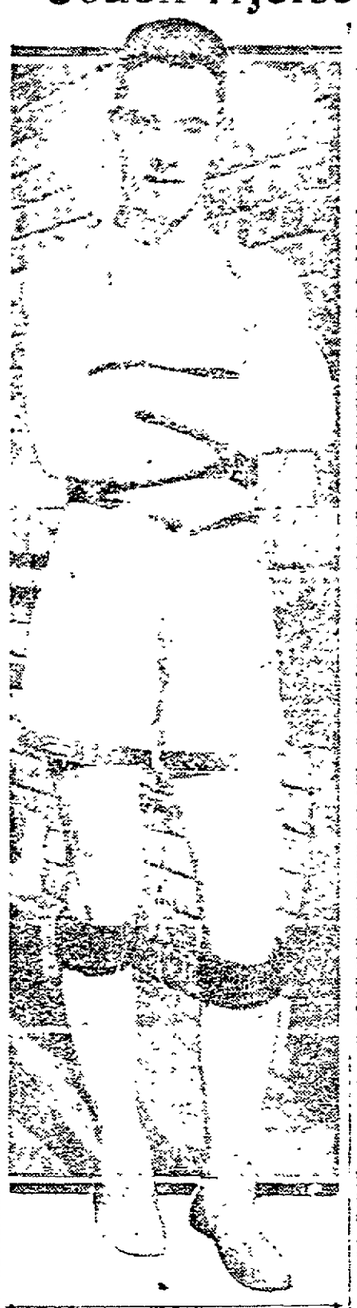
TRACK AT TIA JUANA IS COMPLEED

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 30. — With banners flying from its whitened stands, the Tijuana race track stands completed today, ready for its inaugural meet Saturday. Tijuana has had an unusual fight to establish its position in the world of sport and when all was surrounded and finished and ready, President James W. Coffroth of the Lower California Jockey club relaxed for the first time since he came to San Diego two months ago.

"It has been a long, hard fight," said Coffroth today. "We have received no end of criticism. Stories sent throughout the country that we are in the hands of a receiver are absolutely untrue. We plan to make Tijuana the winter racing resort of America."

Star Guards Return to Tech; Coach Hjelte Is Optimistic

Another A. C. A. L. Championship Wanted



VINNIE IRISH, CLEVER GUARD OF OAKLAND TECH.

[illegible] Hinds and Vaughn Morris, star [illegible] of the team, [illegible] 1916 [illegible] several high looking candidates [illegible] for the three [illegible] and guard places. Tech has [illegible] for a big pairing for another A. C. A. L. championship team.

"Mike Hjelte, brother of George who is now coaching for the Golds, Louis Butler and "Hap" Lortmer are gone from the [illegible] but in their places the Purple [illegible] Gill has "Sheriff" Lawson, last year's [illegible] forward, Otto Bush, last year's guard, whom Coach Hjelte is trying to develop into a forward, Les Van Hanlin, sophomore, Murphy, last year second team star, Herb Franklin, ex-Cardinal forward, "Chick" Jordan, football star and candidate for center, and Art Fauntleroy, member of the Y. M. C. A. [illegible] team last year.

With this aggregation, Coach Hjelte should [illegible] little difficulty in building a winning team. But George is not figuring on it being a easy job. First of all, he is looking for one of the hardest campaigns of the season.

"With the two forward positions and the center position unfilled Tech is going to have a pretty hard time in 1916 as far as basketball is concerned," said Hjelte. "I look for Lawson to make one of the forward positions. The other forward position will depends upon how the candidate for center show up. If Van Rankin comes up to my expectations, all well and good but if Les falls down, then I will probably be forced to shift Vaughn Miller forward, to center. That will leave a forward and guard post still open.

"I'm not depending much on 'Chick' Jordan. He probably is aggressive and has the height of a basketball player but has at least two years' experience at the sport before he can come up to the usual high school team standard. If Van Rankin makes a good center, then Irish and Miller will be the guards and Lawson, Franklin, Murphy and Bush can fight it out for the two forward posts. Bush is fast, a quick thinker and knows the game and should make an excellent forward."

The Tech team, under Coach Hjelte and Captain Irish will practice at the Plymouth Center court this season. The boys will only practice about two days a week until about a month before the season commences. Then they will work out three days every week and previous to the first game of the year will engage in hard workouts under Coach Hjelte every day.

FULLERTON BUSHER BECOMES TIGER

Hood, a semi-pro pitcher, who has been setting the bush ranks on fire by his wonderful hurling, has been signed by the Vernon Tigers for next season, and will report for spring training.

Hood has been hurling great ball for the Fullerton club. He has been chucking one and two-hit games with regularity. He has speed to burn and remarkable control for a youngster.

Kitty Bonheur, Coast league umpire, saw the youngster work and recommended him to Ham Patterson. Pat immediately signed the boy to a Tiger contract.

Reminiscences of a Veteran Sporting Editor

By MR. MULDOON.

"You're old at the business, Mr. Muldoon," a friend said the other day, "you've seen some ball players and then some.

"In your estimation who was the greatest ball player the game ever knew?

"By the greatest I mean the best all round man, the best at catching, fielding, throwing, coaching and in winning spirit."

I replied without hesitation: "Michael J. Kelly."

Even old followers of the game in Oakland and San Francisco remember the "Only Kelly," who came here when the Greenhood and Morans were the cock of the walk on the coast more than thirty years ago.

It is twenty years since the "King" struck out for the last time and the game has never since seen his equal.

And Kelly was "King" at a time when Johnny Ward, Roger Conner, Tim Keefe, Captain Anson, Ned Hanlon, Charley Bennett and many other wonderful players held a place in the limelight.

They were great, too, but Kelly was pre-eminent in the hearts of the baseball public the country over.

Kelly, in fact, was a national character.

While he was always the most popular player in every town with which he played, still he was equally as well thought of in every city of the National league circuit.

There are no players of the present day that stand so well with baseball fandom as Kelly did, nor will there perhaps ever be.

The sentiment that used to surround the game and players is no more.

It is dead.

The game has been greatly injured, almost killed by the sordid interests of pure business. Money has replaced sentiment.

One never sees nowadays players followed through the streets by crowds, as in the days when Kelly was "King."

The twenty years since Kelly's death have not produced a player his equal in all around ability.

There have been McGraws, Jennings, Wagners, Lajoies, Collins and other cracks developed, but none have combined the qualities of greatness on the diamond that made Mike Kelly the greatest ever.

The old "King" was good at everything, batting, fielding, baserunning and catching, and as for "inside work" he was the originator of many of the plays that are now put down as among the trickiest. And as an emergency player—the man for the pinch—"Kel" was always there.

If there was no stereotyped play the "Kel" could make at the crucial stage of a game, he would originate one in his fertile brain and execute it. He was always doing the unexpected, and the best of it was he usually got away with it.

One game I remember in particular where "Kel" won by quickness of the eye.

He was with the Chicago club at the time, playing in Boston.

The game was tied at the ninth and both teams came along until twelfth innings had enveloped the play.

Frantic appeals had been made to the umpire to call the game by all the players, with the exception of "Kel."

The "King" would scorn to ask such a thing in a tight game. The contest had proceeded to about the twelfth inning or thereabouts and the Chicagos had made one run, putting them ahead.

The Chicagos took the field for their inning. Three men were on bases and two were down.

The next batter made a terrific swipe into the field.

The ball appeared as if it might be going a mile and the three runners on bases dashed for the plate gleefully, while the crowd roared tumultuously.

Kelly was playing centerfield, which position he occupied when he executed one appearance, and he had neither the nerve nor crowd would see the fall. posed as if for a crime, and then when he thought it was about the right time for the ball to land he leaped into the air with a wild whoop and dashed for the dressing room.

The umpire shouted "out" and Chicago had won out by that single run.

The Boston players and spectators made an awful howl over the decision and the papers came out the next morning calling Kelly everything from a thief to a presidential candidate, but the decision went just the same.

The ball went over Kelly's head a mile, and may be going yet.

In telling about the play afterward, "Kel" said:

"When I left the bench in the previous inning I put a ball into my shirt, thinking the darkness would enable me to turn some trick. The opportunity came and I carried it through. Why, I couldn't see the ball that was hit with a telescope.

"I knew it was coming out my way, for the boys all yelled at me; so I just stood still and made the bluff.

"I wasn't called upon to show the ball but I could have done so all right. There would not have been a thing said about it afterward, for I had 'em all fooled, umpire and all, but a boy perched up on a back fence brought in the right ball to get a pass for the next day, and gave the snap away; but it was too late then, the game was ours.

Kelly came pretty near losing his popularity in Boston on account of that trick, and he was roasted mightily during the balance of that season whenever he appeared in the Hub, but the next winter, nevertheless, the Boston club paid $10,000 for Kelly and as much more for John Clarkson, which earned for "Kel" the title of "Then Thousand Dollar Beauty."

But that was only one of the many "emergency" plays that "Kel" was in the habit of pulling off.

And the baseball public loved him for it.

Generous to a fault, popular with the public, players, magnates and managers, as vivacious as a soubrette and so apt at repartee that he could "josh" the umpire or bleacherites with salve or sarcasm as the occasion demanded. A quick thinker to turn the tide of victory and resourceful at all times. Skillful and daring.

Such was "King Kelly," the incomparable ball player. Would that the game had more of his caliber.

WANTS THE REAL STUFF.

Oh, hasten the news from the front again.
The old base hit and the bunt again.
Where we can cheered the pinch hit and game sacrifice grab.
The magnate and pets with the swing of his cap.
The suffering public gets terribly abused
With the same kind of weapon that Samson once used.
The magnates are now on the job again,
And that's why we sigh and we sob again.
'Tis the open season for talk again.
All the guys will talk peace and then balk again.
Can all this gab; tie the bull outside;
What we want is the slam of the old horsehide.
We don't care a whoop for these torreadors.
Nor anything else but the old boy scores.
So grab with this con game and stall again,
Let us wait till the players play ball again.

NOW IT'S OFF AGAIN.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 30. — The Fulton-Willard battle is off again, so far as New Orleans is concerned. Tommy Burns threw up the sponge yesterday. Now Tom Andrews of Milwaukee may serve as promoter.

RULE FOR 1916 RIFLE MATCHES ARE OUTLINED

First Fifteen State Teams Will Form Class "A" in Big Tourney.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. — Rules for the 1916 national rifle matches have been drafted by a committee appointed to formulate them for consideration of the board, after the promotion of rifle practice, which will meet here January 17 for its annual session. The suggested changes of rules were made public today by the War Department and are in substance as follows:

To substitute for the present method of division of teams by standing into three classes with [illegible] and prizes for each class, a class A, B and C based on standing, the best fifteen state teams to form the first class, the next fifteen the second class, the remaining teams the third. Class A team members would receive gold medals, Class B silver and Class C bronze. Cash prizes would be dispensed with in the national team matches.

Teams from the Army, Navy and Marine Corps and also from schools and colleges would be added to the various classes according to standing, a single trophy to be awarded to the highest United States service team and a single trophy to the highest school or college team. The highest score team of the trophy winners would be awarded the national trophy, the second team the Hilton trophy and the third team the bronze Soldier of Marathon trophy.

The committee suggests that the coast artillery be represented by a team and that officers with the rank of major be admitted to the competition as team captains, previous regulations having excluded grades above captains.

A general revision of rules governing pistol matches also is recommended and it is proposed that the number of cash prizes be increased in the national individual matches.

The board will decide at its January meeting the place of the 1916 matches.

ALUMNI FIVE EAGER TO PROVE WORTH

VALLEJO, Dec. 30.—The claim that the basketball five which represents the Vallejo High School this year is the best that has ever upheld the honor of the Red and White has brought forth protests from the Alumni quint which has hurled a challenge at the high school team for a game in the near future. The players composing the Alumni five constituted the team which started in 1912 and which lost the Solano County Athletic league championship by a single game, the athletes being Kenneth Dick, Al McDonald, Bob Strehl, Ray Luchsinger and others.

FAMOUS AUTO RACE IS CUT 200 MILES

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 30. — The annual Indianapolis motor speedway automobile race will be run only 300 miles on May 30, 1916, instead of 500 as for the past five years, according to the entry blanks which were sent out today. The purse for the race also has been cut from $50,000 to $30,000, the first prize being fixed at $12,000. There will be ten prizes, the same as in former years.

Under a new ruling, five cars of the same make may be entered in the race. In addition to a factory team of three cars, two additional cars of the same name may be entered by individuals not connected with the factory.

BASKETBALL

Saturday night on the Y. M. C. A. court the Oakland Y. M. C. A. unlimited Golds will line up against the University of California five in the third and deciding game of their series. The Golds displayed poor form in their game Tuesday night, but are determined to come back and defeat the varsity five next Saturday night. They played without the services of George Hjelte, their star forward, who is expected to be in the lineup Saturday night.

On Saturday night, January 8, the Golds line up against the Stockton All Stars, who have been having their own way in all of their preliminary games. Saturday, January 1, is to be open house day at the "Y" and everybody is invited to enjoy the afternoon and evening at the Y. M. C. A.

The St. Joseph organization is coming along fast in all lines of sport and already has a large membership. A crack baseball team and three winning basketball teams represent the East Oakland institution, and besides, Levene has hopes of copping the team prize in the next annual Tribune Marathon race.

SPORTLIGHTS

"We will have little trouble in signing players this winter," say Johnny Powers and Ed Maier. "Since the baseball war has ended the players are very anxious to sign up. We have received word from several of the players, stating that they were willing to attach their names to contracts as soon as they arrived."

Yes, the players are willing to sign a contract of any kind this year. The end of the baseball war has put a great number of free agents on the market, and those who are tied up with some club are afraid of their jobs.

Next season the fans will see a great improvement in the playing of the Coast league. Not that the league is any faster than it was last season, but that the players will take more interest in their work. They know that they will have to fight for their jobs and that they cannot pull the old jump to the Feds' stall any more.

There were some rattling good ballplayers in the Federal league, and those who are not grabbed by the majors will be signed up in the minors. So the minor leagues and major leagues players will have to hustle this spring to hold their jobs.

To the Sporting Editor: How many games did Joe Wood pitch for Kansas City before he went to Boston?

Record shows that in 1908 with Kansas City, Wood took part in twenty-four games, pitched 178 innings, was credited with winning seven and losing twelve. Will this controversy never end?

WEEGHMAN IS A GOOD SPORT SHOULD MAKE CUBS WINNER

CHARLES WEEGHMAN, NEW OWNER OF THE CHICAGO CUBS.

When peace was restored in baseball circles the question arose, "What is to be done with the backers of the Feds?" The backers in question were Charles Weeghman and Harry Sinclair. These two had to be compensated for the ground they had yielded in bringing the fight to such a quick end and immediately the managers began to look around for suitable rewards.

It was not a difficult matter to provide for Weeghman, once he decided to stay in the baseball field, and it was arranged that backing should be furnished him to purchase the Chicago Cubs and the Cubs were on the market. Sinclair himself fancied he would like the New York Giants and it is no secret that six weeks ago negotiations to that end were begun for him through the good offices of Garry Herrmann. The deal could not be arranged—not even the bluff of a Federal League invasion of New York City would move them. St. Louis was next considered with the result that Sinclair is to be the next owner of the club.

Weeghman, together with Sinclair, have been the chief backers of the Feds since their start and their capital is all that kept the outlaws from going on the rocks upon several occasions. Weeghman is in the sport for the love of the game alone and has gladly lost thousands of dollars to see baseball continue. His addition to the organized ranks and the signing of Sinclair, puts the National and American leagues out of danger as far as an invasion from outlaw baseball is concerned.

War Might Result in Track Star Famine

Olympic Games Postponement Produces Lull in Cinder World

By PAUL W. MASTERS.

The postponment of the 1916 Olympic games, it is thought, will cause a famine in record breaking track and field athletes throughout this and foreign countries, according to the pre-season announcements from the various universities and athletic clubs. The present European war is responsible for putting off of the Olympiad and also responsible for the death of many of the world's foremost athletes. These athletes, representing the pick from the English, French, Italian and German teams, are practically all at the front and it has been officially announced that several of the stars of the 1912 games have fallen in the trenches.

NOT DIRECTLY AFFECTED.

The United Sttaes is not as directly affected by the war as is Europe, but in an indirect way track is expected to suffer. One of the reasons for this prediction is the fact that the promise of Olympic games brings the best out of the American athlete and furnishes a goal toward which he may strive. However, when there is nothing for the average athlete to look forward to, other than a minor competition, the care and pains in training is not taken and the result is the falling off of the standard of the track men in this country.

Of course, college athletes will continue to perform in the self-same style as has always been the custom, but such men as Meridith, Drew, Horine, Sheridan, Rose and Taber will not be seen in very much competition when they fail to see any glory of a 1916 Olympic game before them.

GOOD ATHLETES SCARCE.

Another angle of the amateur question is the fact that at the present time there is a scarcity of really good athletes in our universities. This is especially noticeable on the Pacific Coast in both California, Leland Stanford, Washington, U. S. C. and Occidental. In the University of California Carl Shattuck, inter-collegiate record-holder on the coast, will not be seen under collegiate colors. At Stanford, Barnett graduated and will be seen under the colors of the Los Angeles Athletic Club, while at U. S. C., Howard Drew, world's champion sprinter, will not report and it is dubious if he will ever again appear in competition following his defeats at the exposition races last fall.

The Pacific Coast is but a barometer of the athletic situation in regard to track and field events and if the predictions are right, this country will experience one of its poorest years when it comes to breaking records and establishing new marks in the track world.

TRIBUNE LEAGUE

Two of the teams that are battling for the lead in The TRIBUNE League will hook up Sunday at the Bay View grounds in what is expected to be the best game of the day. The teams are the Bertillions and the Pacific Pipe Co., who are fighting it out for second place. The P. G. & E. Co., leaders of the circuit, will have a hard team to down in the Crystal Laundry nine. Meyers, the latter's big pitcher, seems to be buzzing along at a good clip, and he will give Manning, the star heaver of the league, a good battle. Fitchburg and the Fruitvale Native Sons will play a double-header at the Melrose grounds. On their last meeting they played a 11 to 11 ten-inning tie. The Park Shoe Co. and the American Rubber Co. will hook up at the Emeryville ball grounds. These teams are at the bottom of the league and will fight for the cellar championship.

With the Maxwell Hardware Co. and the J. J. Krieg Co. playing for a New Year's attraction, a record crowd is expected at the Fruitvale Recreation park. Some fans think that these teams are two of the best in the circuit, but as they were unable to get started [illegible] out of the top positions [illegible] start at 2:30 p. m., with Schmidt [illegible] doing the battery work for the Maxwells [illegible] and Neal [illegible] the Maxwells.

On Sunday the big game of the day will be between the Ambrose Tailors and the Lawler's Stars, who are fighting it out for first place. Both teams have lost one game, while the Tailors have won one more than the Stars. Martin and Baldwin will be on the points for the leaders, with Heelon and McGonough doing the same work for the Stars.

At St. Mary's College at 2:30 p. m. another cracker-jack game is expected between the S. F. store steam and the Broadway Billiards. Both teams have been unfortunate throughout the season and have lost several games by the narrow margin [illegible] "Pop" Gunning [illegible] Broadways.

LAUNDRY BOYS CLEAN UP.

Myers had the best of a pitchers' game against the Rubber team. The Rubber boys had the bags loaded on three different occasions with none out, but could not score. J. Brownen starred with McGinty. John connected for two two-baggers and McGinty for three out of three. Score:

29 CYCLISTS DEFY THE NATIONAL BODY

NEW YORK, Dec. 30. — Twenty-nine bicycle riders, most of whom competed in the recent six-day race at Madison Square Garden, it became known here, have thrown down the gauntlet to the National Cycling Association, which threatens to suspend and further punish any riders who participate in the Chicago [illegible] race which is to be held February [illegible] in the Coliseum [illegible] and promoters of the race [illegible] National Association [illegible] to suspend all riders who compete in the race. They all agreed, it is reported, that if they were suspended they would never ride for the National Association.

ANGEL BOSS TO BE NAMED BY JAN. 1

Johnny Powers, president of the Angels [illegible] Angels [illegible] will announce the name of the new Angel manager. He prefers to wait until the day he gives out the official announcement.

FRANKIE MALONE TOO AGGRESSIVE FOR PETE TAVAS

Harp of Watts Tract Awarded Verdict After Brisk Battle.

By JOHNNY ARROUSEY,
Coast Featherweight Champion.

[illegible] in the last round and ability to withstand his opponent's rushes in the early round enabled Frankie Malone to get a four-round victory over Pete Tavas at the West Oakland Club last night. The verdict of the judges seemed to be a very fair one. Malone held his own in every round and had a clear lead in the second and fourth. I enjoyed the novelty of watching a card for the first time from "newspaper row," and I got so excited several times that I clean forgot to take any notes.

The main event was a spirited battle between two boys who are evenly matched so far as strength goes. Malone is the cleverer of the two and this was what won him the battle.

The first round was a tame one, Tavas trying to box around Malone. Both boys were cautious and not each other out and every time Tavas presented Malone with an opening he was met with a hard right jolt to the face.

Malone shaded Tavas in the second round and landed the cleaner punches. In the fourth Tavas changed his style and attempted to rush Malone around the ring. Malone surprised even his warmest admirers by standing toe to toe and taking all of Tavas' punches and then returning two or three more. There was some fierce infighting in this round. Tavas kept on top of Malone and tried hard to work his right hand into Frankie's stomach, but Malone was always there and had a big lead at the bell.

JONES HELD TO DRAW.

Joe Ferro and Stanley Jones, San Francisco middleweights, engaged in a hard four-round bout, the judges rendering a draw verdict at the end. Both took plenty of hard punches and were greatly tired at the end of the mill.

The best bout of the evening, as was the case the last time they met, was when Jimmy Duffy, Frank Piccasse's 116-pounder, regained the bantamweight championship after he had put up one of the most spectacular and perfect battles I've witnessed in a local ring. Duffy won all by himself, scoring repeatedly with his marvelous left hand and even standing toe to toe and swapping punches with the game Alameda boy. Condy tried hard, kept coming all the time, and carried the fight, and is entitled to plenty of credit, but Duffy plainly showed that he is by far the better boy of the two.

Duffy's best rounds were the second and third. In the first the two were more careful and Duffy was open to a left hook to the stomach, of which Condy took avantage. Jimmy had the second round by a big margin, drawing blood from Condy's nose and mouth and peppering him with stiff left jolts at will. Condy came into the third to do or die and sailed in with both hands working like windmills.

Duffy brought the fans to their feet by not backing up a step and meeting Condy in clever fashion. He forced Condy to miss his wild swings and then left handed his opponent whenever he came within arm's distance. At the end of the third, Condy went back to his corner a very disheartened lad. Condy rallied again in the third, while Duffy, with a big lead, pulled himself. Both exchanged hard wallops at times and Duffy was much the fresher at the bell. All three judges, Jones, Levene and Shand, gave the decision to Duffy.

Jack Fitzgerald showed that he is one of the best big fellows in these parts by scoring a K. O. over Joe Smith, the Yosemite Club boy, in the first round, through a hard right to the jaw. Smith worked well for a while, but as soon as Fitz brought his old right home it was all off. Smith dropped to the mat and stood down until Referee Beaumont counted ten over him.

BROWN A FAST WORKER.

Joe Brown, the crack Alameda 125-pounder, working with a cool head and a stiff right hand wallop, knocked out George Murphy from Butchertown, San Francisco in less than 40 seconds.

Murphy started the round as though he would make quick work of Brown, but Joe simply waited until the fireworks were all over and then walked in and brought his right hand over to Murphy's jaw. It was a real knockout and if he keeps up his present gait, Brown will find himself ranking as a much sought after featherweight soon.

George Davis shaded Kid Ravies. They didn't put up much of a bout, both waiting for openings and hoping for the other to lead. Davis did all the clean hitting and deserved the decision.

Manuel Vieira, the East Oakland former featherweight star returned after an illness and piloted Johnny Ford, one of his many boxers, to a draw against Cap Nelson. Ford had a small shade and was entitled to the decision. He held his own in the first two rounds and scored a knockdown in the third. The fourth was even.

Jimmy Keyrose bested Young Sherman, a lad who is built like Percy Cove, the human toothpick, in the curtain raiser. Sherman scored a knockdown in the second, but Keyrose came back for more and was mixing matters the harder at the bell.

There is some disadvantage after all in possessing a popular name. Willie Fitzsimmons, the featherweight, well known here, has found that out to his sorrow. He writes out to deny vigorously the report that he was bowled over in three rounds by Harry Thompson in Philadelphia on Christmas day.

According to Willie, it was another Fitzsimmons who turned up his toes. The Willie we know has whipped this same Thompson twice, hence his grief at being mistaken for Billy Fitzsimmons of the Quaker City.

Rudy Nelson, crack local welterweight, is going to try again to place himself at the top in local boxing headquarters. Since his tangle with Frank Luecher, who stowed him away in three rounds, Rudy has kept away from the squared circle. He commenced training yesterday.

Nelson has one thing to his credit which few boxers possess. He has never been accused of stalling and has given the fans a run for their money on every one of his starts. Besides, Rudy is as good a drawing card as any one of the lads developed in Oakland, has a host of friends, and the matchmakers will make no mistake in letting him scrap again before one of their semi-monthly shows. Though he has been hooking up with middleweights most of the while, Nelson is a natural 138 pounder and can even make 138 if he trains hard. Jack Murphy, who is promising to stage a real all-star set of bouts before his first show of the year, is figuring on giving Nelson a crack at either Frankie Denny or Jack Smith. A bout between Nelson and Denny would pack 'em in even today, for it will be remembered that it was Rudy who gave Denny his final shove down the local ladder.

Denny is giving promise that he too will attempt a comeback and it is highly probable that Rudy Nelson and Frankie Denny will be seen each other again before many weeks have passed.

Emil Raffetto, manager of Joe Gorman, the welterweight champion, is out with a challenge to all comers, including Jack Alvarez, Pete Nolan's crack; Jimmy Dundee, or any lad who can make 135 pounds. Raffetto thinks highly of Gorman and believes that the local boy is entitled to at least a chance at Jimmy Dundee, the lad who put the only dent in his record.

Incidentally, Gorman is the only lad around the bay cities who has registered a victory over Johnny Arrousey, the local champion feather and lightweight. On Arrousey's first appearance in San Francisco he hooked up with Joe Gorman and in the first round landed a solid New Orleans on Gorman's left. Joe, [illegible] which [illegible] of course. Arrousey may have defeated Gorman on top of the [illegible] but Raffetto's boy has a perfect [illegible] right to claim himself a winner over Arrousey, the same as Fred Welsh [illegible] the right to claim the lightweight title, even though he has been decisively trounced by no less than twelve other boys in ten-round no-decision bouts. If Welsh is a champion so is Joe Gorman.

PAYING FOREIGN OBLIGATIONS.

The report of Mr. L. F. Loree, president of the Delaware and Hudson Railway, on the amount of securities held in Europe, possesses two interesting features—it shows that the amount of American securities in the hands of Europeans is much less than was popularly supposed at the outbreak of the war, and that the American money market has been absorbing these securities during the last twelve months at a phenomenal rate.

At the opening of hostilities in July, 1914, conservative estimates fixed the amount we owed Europe for bonds and stocks at six million dollars. It was the fear that these would be dumped on the American market in reckless fashion which caused the New York Stock Exchange to close down. Mr. Loree's report, which is from January 31 to July 31, 1915, shows that on the latter date the par value of railway securities held in Europe was $2,223,510,229, with a market value of $1,751,437,912. In addition the par value of "industrials" held abroad is $518,300,000, making a total of $2,741,810,228.

The liquidation of American securities in the New York market by European holders in the five months ending July 31 amounted to $621,289,772. This is at the rate of $124,000,000 a month and indicates that in a full year our market has received and absorbed foreign-held securities to the amount of $1,500,000,000. Mr. Loree's estimate coincides with the information furnished by New York bankers. During the year of heavy selling the average price of the securities rose from fifty on March 31 to sixty-eight on July 31, a rise of eighteen points, which is an additional phenomenal feature.

These transactions indicate the great extent in which our unprecedented trade balance has been checked against our foreign indebtedness. If it had not been for the million and a half purchases of war supplies during the same period such liquidations of foreign-held securities would have surely caused financial distress, if not a ruinous panic. On the other hand, it has demonstrated as never before the wonderful elasticity of our international financial and trade relations under favorable conditions.

NOW RECONSTRUCTION.

News dispatches from Mexico indicate that General Venustiana Carranza is practically in complete control of the southern republic. Confidential information from partisans of Villa is to the effect that the power of that leader is absolutely broken and that there is no longer hope of his establishing himself at the head of the Mexican government. Carranza is, therefore, in a position to take up at once the work of reconstructing the government and rehabilitating the country. It will be a tremendous task to restore Mexico to that high rank in the family of great nations she occupied during the regime of Porfiro Diaz. If he succeeds in the work to a measurable extent he will give some semblance of justification to the shifting policy of the United States government.

The case of Villa is unique. At one time he gave promise of becoming the military hero of his country. It was his prowess that overthrew Huerta and enabled Carranza to enter Mexico City the first time as Constitutionalist leader. The Washington administration supported Villa for quite a while, so long as it seemed to suit its purpose, whatever that purpose was. When the split occurred between Villa and Carranza our forces were withdrawn from Vera Cruz to give Carranza a supply base. After long months of rapine and devastation, for which the United States supplied the instruments, Villa was kicked out of our good graces and recognition and material aid given Carranza. Villa passes, after being very close to success. His star may rise again later on, but for the present he belongs to that vast army of men who failed.

The acts and the failures of the Washington government, however, are still live issues, and time only will place a correct estimate upon them. The administration has failed utterly to accord protection to American citizens and their property; in this it has violated the constitution and the federal laws. The reckoning remains to be made and the United States government as at present conducted and General Carranza have an accounting to make. Though, perhaps, no more responsible than the Washington administration, Carranza has a larger active part to play. We hope he will succeed. He can afford to be somewhat independent of the United States, because he has not received anything from this country, but the leaders of the administration are not independent of Carranza. If they are to make amends for their past shortcomings. The First Chief will be watched with strictest solicitude and the hope that he will effectively wipe out the long record of murder, arson, pillage and outrage the United States has allowed suffered to be set up.

CALIFORNIA COTTON.

Cotton growing in California is steadily increasing in importance and value as an industry. A bulletin just issued by the Department of Agriculture shows that in 1914 the yield in the Imperial Valley was over 13,000 bales. It is gratifying to find that the Federal Government is taking an interest in California cotton, for the industry is susceptible to great increase and improvement. After its first survey of the situation the Government experts report they have discovered one variety of long-staple cotton which is better suited to the Imperial Valley than any other. It is recommended that this variety be adopted by all the 600 growers in the interest of "stabilization," or the continuous production of a crop with a fixed high quality of fiber. This is the great problem now confronting many sections of the cotton belt, the report says.

Statistics show that of the 600 Imperial growers, only about 150 are planting long-staple cotton. The remainder grow short-staple. If only one variety was cultivated the seed could be maintained pure and, with careful methods of picking and ginning, California would soon establish a reputation for a consistently high quality of cotton.

It would seem to be a good move on the part of the cotton growers of the Imperial to study this proposal of the Government carefully, and for the brokers, bankers and buyers of the south to co-operate with any move to bring their cotton to a uniformly high standard. Pacific Coast cotton growing is just emerging from the experimental stage and so far most of it has been bought in advance by Japanese spinners. The value of the crop will be greatly enhanced if the growers produce a grade of cotton to be desired in all the markets of the world. We know that several varieties of cotton can be grown in the Imperial and the Department of Agriculture claims to have selected the variety best adapted to the land. Irrigation will steadily increase the cultivable area in California and the time to introduce highest efficiency in culture and marketing is at the beginning.

OUR SEASON OF MUSIC.

There is about to be inaugurated in Oakland an era of good music, and we are to see fulfilled one of the important purposes for which the municipal auditorium was constructed. Next Sunday afternoon we are to hear Alexander Stewart in a special concert, "The Messiah." A week later, on January 9th, will be given the first of a series of popular symphony concerts under the direction of Paul Steindorff. The City Council has extended aid by granting the use of the auditorium free and the admissions charged will go solely to pay the salaries of musicians and soloists. The series will open with "Aida" and will be followed by "Faust," "Rigoletto" and other well-known favorites.

This will be the first time the music-lovers of the city have been given an opportunity to hear the symphony concerts of such high order at popular prices. Not the least significant feature in connection with the coming concerts is the activities of a citizens' auxiliary committee, formed to aid in making them a success. This committee is made up of business and professional men who are interested in adding to the community's resources for general education, recreation and pleasure. It is the kind of civic spirit from which big, permanent things spring. Oakland has the facilities for giving great concerts in the municipal auditorium and popular endorsement of the coming series will mean that we may have regular seasons of music of the highest order and henceforth be independent of other localities for our music.

Lest they forget, William Jennings Bryan is reminding Democrats of a certain plank in the Baltimore platform. He appears over solicitous that other matters of a rather personal nature which are at present absorbing the attention of the President do not cause him to overlook this important declaration made by the Democratic party in 1912 which, like Banquo's ghost, will not down. Here are the burning words penned at a time when certain scholarly Democrats were proclaiming that "our platform is not molasses to catch flies":

> We favor a single presidential term, and to that end urge the adoption of an amendment to the constitution, making the President of the United States ineligible for re-election, and we pledge the candidates of this convention to this principle.

At least one member of Congress has promised of a very uncomfortable time ahead of him. He is Representative James F. Byrnes of South Carolina, who wants suffragists' activities investigated.

"Alameda County Gets Snow While Sun Shines in S. F." is the headline which the San Francisco Examiner prints over a story this morning.

ROCKEFELLER FOR FAIR-MINDED AND JUST DEALING WITH EMPLOYES.

To the Editor of The Tribune:

My Dear Sir: In your issue of October 30, you published an editorial entitled "Mr. Rockefeller and the Colorado Miners," which I have read with interest. I desire to thank you for its kind references to me personally with regard to my visit to Colorado as well as for the friendly tenor which characterized the editorial is written. I am particularly interested in the passage of your article which reads, "If an employer is fairminded and wants to do the right thing and if the men are honest and wish to deal justly with their employer, there is no sound reason why they should remain far apart for any considerable length of time." It is my hope and belief that the Plan of Industrial Representation and Agreement entered into by the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company and its employes, will be instrumental in promoting harmony and good-will by affording employer and employed convincing evidence of fairmindedness and the desire to deal justly, of both sides.

AN ALTERNATIVE SUGGESTION.

To the Editor of The Tribune:

I have just read, with keenest interest, two proposals in the San Francisco Chronicle that in case all the urban communities of Alameda County consolidate as one city it should take the name of "San Francisco." These suggestions are no doubt made in a seriously friendly spirit, judging from the traditional temperament of the Chronicle.

In this same mood I respectfully suggest that we let the consolidated city retain the name of Oakland and arrange with our neighbors across the bay to change the name of San Francisco to "West Oakland." In such event we will have to discontinue the use of the popular designation of that portion of our city bordering on the Key Basin tide-lands, but that doubtless can be arranged in the same friendly spirit. San Francisco would retain its proper relation to the Atlantic Ocean and the bay by adopting the name of "West Oakland."

Jokes aside, the general world recognition of Oakland as a great commercial entrepot, the strategic geological location of the city on the mainland, where it is the actual terminal of all the transcontinental railroads coming to this port, the unparalleled capacity of the city to expand in size and increase in population, mean but one thing, and mean it just as surely as the ferries charge for transferring freight. That is [illegible] a few years Oakland will have gone ahead of San Francisco in population and the amenities and importance [illegible] process goes on and it will [illegible] restricted [illegible] to the rank of a suburb.

[illegible] "mutually advantageous" to prepare ready for these changes now. "I hope you will publish this, so we can see what others have to say."

"Exciting, wasn't it?" continued the justice.

"Well," said the man judicially, "it was then; it wouldn't be now."—Ladies' Home Journal.

BOARD ASKS FOR $400,000 HIGH SCHOOL

A Large Institution for East Oakland is Planned

Council to Be Asked for Fourth of Sum Each Year

Steps preliminary to the erection of a new high school to cost $400,000, and to be situated at East Nineteenth street and Nineteenth avenue were taken by the Board of Education last night with the adoption of a resolution asking the city council to appropriate $100,000 annually for four years for the purpose. The resolution was adopted by unanimous vote of the board.

The resolution was introduced by President F. B. Cook, who resigned the chair to Director Louis Aber while he talked in favor of the project. No opposition was offered beyond a suggestion from Miss Annie Florence Brown that action be deferred and that the possibility of making additions to the Fremont high school be investigated, with a possible chance that the new institution might be done away with.

"Our high schools are overcrowded," Cook told the board. "We should take steps now to build a new technical school in the East Oakland district on the two blocks of property owned by the board at East Nineteenth street and Nineteenth avenue. If the council will appropriate $100,000 a year for four years, we can put up this building in units without incurring the expense of a bond election and the subsequent payment of interest on the bonds."

HAS OTHER PLAN.

"I would suggest that we investigate the possibility of adding shops to the Fremont school," said Miss Brown at this point. "By doing so we could obviate the expense of another high school. The overhead expense will be enormous."

"I object to that," interjected Boyle. "It would be a waste of money to put any such extensions on to that school. We need this new technical school in the East Oakland district. That is where a technical high school belongs where children who want to learn trades live. The public want the technical schools."

"Let me call your attention," said School Superintendent A. C. Barker, "that of the 1700 pupils enrolled at the Technical high school last year, only about 200 took manual training. The remainder took academic work."

"I don't think that the word 'technical' should be in this motion," Miss Brown announced.

"All right," said Cook. "I'll agree to take that out, and just let it read 'high school.'" The resolution was then adopted. The present Technical high school, at Forty-fifth street and Broadway, cost, in round numbers, $1,000,000. This included the purchase of land the cost of the buildings and their equipment. Commissioner W. H. Edwards told the board last night that he believed the city council would take favorable action on the board's request.

HOW COUNCIL STANDS.

What members of the city council think of the board's plan for a new high school follows.

Commissioner Harry S. Anderson—I do not think the plan is a good one. The action of this council cannot be binding upon the council a year from now, the personnel of which may have changed. If we appropriated money for the first unit the next council might disagree with our plan and refuse to make appropriations to complete the building. There is no reason why this money, if it is needed, should not be raised by a bond issue. That has been the plan in the past and it is the sensible plan. Then the money would be available immediately and the plans could be made in a comprehensive manner. I am in favor of schools and think Oakland should continue to take the lead in her educational facilities. But I do not think this is the proper way to solve the financial problem presented.

Commissioner F. F. Jackson—Why a special tax? Why should this money be taken from the regular tax funds? Why should the burden be distributed over four years only, when the benefits will accrue for many years? I am strongly in favor of the schools and school betterments. I have not looked into this particular need, however, and cannot speak concerning its merits. But I think that if the school is needed a bond issue would be the proper method of financing the project.

Commissioner W. H. Edwards, who is ex-officio a member of the board of education—The plan is a good one and should have the support of the city council. It would require only about 7 or 8 cents each year in the tax levy and there is no reason why this much should not be set aside. The charter permits us to set aside 5 cents and the balance can be provided by a special tax. We can build one-fourth of the high school each year. Of course we have the land already. East Oakland is entitled to some consideration. It is well that we should plan and look to the future.

DEPARTMENT ABOLISHED.

The board furnished another surprise last night. It discharged Department Mechanic Frank W. Bignami by abolishing his department. It was done by a vote of four to three, Mrs. Harriet Hawes, Miss Brown and Dr. A. S. Kelly opposing, and Directors Cook, Boyle, Edwards and Aber voting for the resolution which was presented by Edwards. Aber seconded it.

Bignami's scalp was secured after a number of fruitless attempts in the past. He has been an employe of the school department for many years and held a contract with the board last July which entitled him to his position until July, 1916. He was induced to relinquish this contract several weeks ago after which the majority sought to have this position abolished on the ground that he was a useless and expensive adjunct to the department. Director Aber sought the adoption of a motion abolishing the position a month ago.

EUROPE'S WAR LEAVES WIDOW AND ORPHANS IN OAKLAND

OAKLAND'S "WAR ORPHANS," TOTO, HENRIETTE AND ADELINE FREULON; THEIR MOTHER, NOW IN PROBATE PROCEEDINGS IN THE LOCAL COURTS, AND HENRY FREULON, THE FATHER, KILLED IN THE BATTLE OF PERTHES.

Henry Freulon Is Left on Field of Battle

Superior Judge William S. Wells is settling the estate of the first "war orphans" to come into the Alameda county courts through the European war, in deciding the guardianship of "Toto" Henriette and Adeline Freulon, whose father, Henry Freulon, formerly of Oakland, was killed fighting with the French troops at the battle of Perthes. His widow and children, who remained at the family home, 773 Seventy-seventh avenue, while the father and husband returned to his country to join his regiment, have filed application for the probate of his estate, and Mrs. Freulon will be appointed guardian of the little ones. The estate consists of a small home, valued at about $1500.

Freulon, who was well known in the local French colony and had been employed in several establishments in Oakland, left about a year ago when reservists were called to the French army. He died in battle seven months ago, but after his death several of his letters and postcards arrived, and it was not until some time later that his family learned through the French consul that he had fallen. The children are all under 8 years of age.

FALL AT FAIR IS CAUSE OF DEATH

Dr. E. R. Bryant, Who Fell Through Skylight, Is Dead.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30.—Dr. Edgar R. Bryant, one of California's most prominent physicians and surgeons, a professor of the Hahnemann Medical College, one of the owners of the Hahnemann hospital and an authority of medical subjects, died this morning at St. Luke's hospital following an accident at the Exposition December 4. Dr. Bryant fell through a skylight at the California building during the closing night exercises. He had climbed to the roof in order to better view the fireworks and the illuminations. When he stumbled on the glass roof and fell to the balcony below, it was at first thought that he was only slightly hurt. At the Exposition Emergency hospital the only injury discovered was a fractured jaw.

Later at the Hahnemann hospital symptoms of a cracked skull developed but these passed and Dr. Bryant was treated for concussion of the brain. He became violent and it was deemed best to transfer him to Lane hospital. Male nurses guarded him night and day and during the last few days it was believed he was making progress toward recovery. The physicians feared, however, that he might be totally blind if he got well or that some other lasting affliction might linger with him.

Throughout the trying period his wife remained constantly at his side. Dr. Bryant resided at 3639 Jackson street and was about 50 years old.

COLD WAVE SWEEPS ALL CALIFORNIA

Snow Falls in Many Towns South of the Tehachapi

Orange Crop Is Saved From Frost by Wind

Colder weather and more wind are due to follow yesterday's fifteen-minute snow storm and last night's gale. Boats in the harbor last night tugged at their moorings and bumped against wharves, the ferries made trips only with extreme difficulty, and several vessels outside the heads had narrow escapes.

A cold blast tempered by a strong wind held Northern California in its grip during the last twenty-four hours. The orange crop of Southern California, which might have been injured by a killing frost, the coming of which had been prophesied, was saved from damage by the opportune appearance of a rainstorm which deluged the region below the Tehachapi.

The coldest place in California this morning was Merced, where the mercury dropped to 26 degrees. The weather bureau at the top of the Merchants' Exchange building in San Francisco reports that 36 degrees was the lowest point reached by the thermometer there. This temperature holds good for the bay cities generally.

FROST WARDED OFF.

Frost which was expected this morning was warded off by the strong northerly winds. With the exception of a light fall late yesterday, which did not remain on the ground, there was no snow. Reports from Summit in the Sierra was to the effect that no new snow had fallen there.

Southern California was on the edge of the freakish storm which struck this section of the state earlier in the week and from one quarter to three-quarters of an inch rain reported from the various stations right down to San Diego. According to Forecaster G. H. Wilson it will be even colder tonight, but it is expected that the wet ground in the south will again act as a savior to the crops.

Snow was reported also at San Bernardino, where one of the most severe cold snaps of the season is said to have been felt, and rain was reported in Los Angeles with frost to follow. In the interior of the state several places report frost, which did small damage, farmers being prepared for it. Hillsborough reports a slight rainfall.

In San Bernardino snow began falling late last night and at 1 o'clock this morning the ground was covered with a mantle of white. This was the first snowstorm in this city in more than ten years.

SNOW COVERS FOOTHILLS.

Early last night snow an inch deep covered the slopes of the foothills north of the city, and a severe storm was reported raging in the San Bernardino mountains. In some of the mountainous sections the snowfall for the day totaled more than two feet.

The snowstorm extended east as far as Barstow, Cal., and was general in this section of the Southern California citrus belt. Snow was reported falling shortly after midnight in Riverside, Ontario and Uplands.

Citrus growers said no damage to citrus fruit would result unless the temperature dropped much lower or the weather suddenly cleared before daybreak.

Rain, which began falling at many points throughout Southern California last night cut down the harm from frost which had been forecasted earlier in the day by the government weather bureau. Reports from San Bernardino, Redlands, Riverside and other towns said that the precipitation had stopped preparations of citrus growers to combat the frost.

SNOW AT RIVERSIDE.

RIVERSIDE, Dec. 30.—Three inches of snow fell early today at Rialto and Bloomington. Perris, 17 miles southeast reported seven and a half inches of snow on the ground. At Elsinor, 15 miles south of Perris, the snow was 5½ inches deep. Corona reported three inches on the heights just above the lemon groves. Eucalyptus trees serving as wind breaks in the Perris region are said to have suffered considerable damage. Hemet and San Jacinto were cut off from communication early today, as also were Banning and Beaumont. Telephone and telegraph officials reported "snow bound."

FIRST SNOW SINCE 1905.

BAKERSFIELD, Dec. 30.—The first snow in ten years began falling here at 9 o'clock this morning. The flakes were very large but melted upon striking the ground. A light rain which started during the early morning hours is said to have saved the citrus crop from a severe frost. The last snow, according to pioneers of Kern county, fell in January, 1905.

TEMPERATURES BELOW ZERO.

SPOKANE, Wash., Dec. 30.—Temperatures near zero or below were recorded by government thermometers in Idaho, Montana and Eastern Washington today. Kalispell and Havre, Mont., reported 10 degrees below zero, Idaho reported the lowest temperature as 2 above and in Spokane 1 above was registered at 8 o'clock.

Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, Canada, reported 20 degrees below zero.

LOS ANGELES.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 30.—Snow fell here for a few minutes just prior to 5 o'clock this morning. It was light and with rain and melted as fast as it fell. Burbank, San Bernardino and all towns north of here reported snow fall.

SACRAMENTO.

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 30.—Sacramento felt the coldest day in the year today, the temperature dropping to 30 degrees at 7 o'clock in the face of a cold north wind.

FRESNO.

FRESNO, Dec. 30.—The orange crop of the San Joaquin Valley was not damaged by the heavy frost early this morning, according to fruit men of this city. The lowest temperature on the ground last night was 28 degrees but it is believed that this did not affect the citrus fruit.

Brand New Germ Found in West

Streptococcus Family Is Recent Arrival

"Good boerdig. Have you got a streptococcus in your system?"

This will be the correct greeting for 1916 among all those who, heretofore, have referred to their afflictions as "colds."

For the streptococcus, a brand new germ, has appeared and, according to Oakland physicians and scientists, is sweeping the country in an entirely new form of grippe.

The new 1916 streptococcus is a germ of close kin to the pneumococcus, which produces pneumonia.

It is also about a first cousin to the ordinary streptococcus which produces infections.

But it is declared by experts to be highly contagious and extremely virulent in its attack.

It has invaded the country from Boston to this coast and it was reported today that 8,000 children are absent from the public schools in Chicago because the new and peculiar streptococcus has got them and laid them low.

Its forms of announcing its presence are varied and deceitful, doctors attest.

It has symptoms like pleurisy. It has others like neuralgia. Again it intimates that the afflicted one has rheumatism.

But do not be deceived when you have any or all of these various symptoms. For you haven't the corresponding troubles—you have merely become a victim of the 1916 streptococcus.

This is the first epidemic of its kind ever seen in America, according to several local physicians today. Several years ago an epidemic somewhat similar swept Chicago and Baltimore, causing a spread of sore throats. But germ experts announced that the former epidemic was due to a different germ, and that the 1916 streptococcus is brand new, but much to be avoided.

According to doctors' advice if you meet a friend who informs you that he has a cold and maybe pleurisy, you should not stop to condole, but run madly in the opposite direction.

"Or the 1916 streptococcus will get you if you don't watch out."

PAROLED; ADMITS CRIME.

SANTA ROSA, Dec. 30.—David Clark, on parole from state's prison, where he was sent from Fresno, confessed this afternoon that he was guilty of a statutory offense against a 16-year-old girl, an orphan living near Petaluma. Clark wants to marry the girl, but cannot do so, as only a month ago his own wife obtained a decree of divorce, which must run for a year before becoming final.

CELEBRANTS ARE TO BE TABULATED

Revelers Who Land in Jail to Figure in Statistics

'Crime and Drink' Table Will Be Taken Here

Going to drink egg-nog or Tom and Jerries New Year's eve?

Be careful!

If you get soused you'll be a statistic!

Any one who can't say that word is one tomorrow night.

The Anti-Saloon League is going to draw horrible examples from the revelers on New Year's eve. Every one who gets into the lockup through too much joy-water will be tabulated. He will help make up the league's statistics on "Crime and Drink." The league is going to tabulate "Holiday Drunks" just like Fourth of July accidents are tabulated.

Classification of various forms of crime coming before the police courts in Oakland, with the circumstances of crime, particularly as to the criminal's drinking habits, are being compiled here from court records by officers of the anti-saloon league as a part of a general plan to obtain statistics from all parts of the country on the relation of drink to crime. The figures are being taken over a ten-day period, beginning with Christmas. This takes in the New Year's celebrants who may, perhaps, celebrate unwisely and land in the city prison for a night.

The figures, according to L. R. Morton, superintendent of the league, will be taken in all parts of the nation, and will be used later to show that the ill effects of excessive drinking may be tabulated just as Fourth of July accidents were.

GROVER CLEVELAND.

LANDER, Wyo., Dec. 30.—Grover Cleveland, a Shoshone Indian, 40 years old, last night shot and killed his wife, then turned the weapon on himself, inflicting a fatal wound, according to word received here today. The shooting took place at Cleveland's home on the Wind River reservation near Fort Washakie. Local authorities declare that the Clevelands had quarreled frequently.

Uncle Wiggily, the Long-Eared Rabbit Gentleman, Gets Lost

(By HOWARD R. GARIS.)

"What! You are not going out today, are you, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, the muskrat lady housekeeper, as she swept and dusted the hollow stump bungalow where the rabbit gentleman lives. "It is very cold and I think we shall have more snow."

"Oh, yes, I must go out today," answered Mr. Longears. "I have not had an adventure in some time. I will forget how adventures look if I don't have one once in a while. It is not too cold for me, and I like a storm."

"Well, take something to eat in your fur overcoat pocket," invited Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "I have just baked a cherry pie and you always like that."

"Indeed I do!" cried the bunny uncle, "only sometimes the juice runs down my sleeve, and if I put cherry pie in my pocket the juice will run in that."

"I'll set the pie in a dish for you," said Nurse Jane, and so she did. Uncle Wiggily also put some slices of cabbage and carrot bread in his pocket. For it was morning, shortly after breakfast, and he thought he might walk so far, looking for an adventure, that he would not be back in time for dinner.

The rabbit gentleman set off, leaning on his red, white and blue striped barber pole rheumatism crutch, which Nurse Jane had gnawed for him out of a cornstalk, and soon he came to the house where Grandfather Goosey Gander lived.

"Come on out for a walk, and help me look for an adventure," called the rabbit gentleman.

"No, thank you, Uncle Wiggily, I have the toothache in my bill," answered the goose gentleman. "I'll come some other time."

Uncle Wiggily stopped to ask Dr. Possum to come along, but the animal doctor was busy curing the sick folk of animal land, and he could not come.

"And there is no use going to ask any of the animal boys or girls," thought Uncle Wiggily, "for they are all at school. I guess I'll have to go alone. But I have done it before."

So away he went, through the woods, over the fields, up hill and down, looking for an adventure. And, after a while, the rabbit gentleman came to a little place in the woods where the bushes grew in a circle, like a ring-around-the-rosie. And in the circle, on the snow-covered ground, were some little birds trying to find something to eat.

"Oh, we are so hungry!" chirped the little birds. "The snow has covered up all the food we used to eat and we can't find so much as a bit of bread crumbs."

"Ha! Speaking of bread crumbs!" cried Uncle Wiggily in his most jolly voice. "Here you are!" and from his pocket he took the slices of carrot and cabbage bread and crumbled some off. "And here's pie, too—one of Nurse Jane's best cherry pies. You may have some of that!"

The rabbit gentleman sprinkled the crumbs of bread and pie on the snow, and, my! how the hungry birds did eat!

"Thank you, Uncle Wiggily!" they chirped, as the rabbit gentleman went on and on.

"Well, I guess I'll find no adventures today. I may as well eat my lunch and go back to my bungalow," said the bunny uncle. He sat down on a log and ate what was left of the bread and pie, dropping some more crumbs on the snow in case any other hungry birds might happen to flutter along.

Then Uncle Wiggily went on a little farther before turning back toward his bungalow, and when he did so all of a sudden he found that he was lost. He could not see his road home, and there he was away off in the woods, all alone.

"I must have taken the wrong turn somewhere," thought the rabbit gentleman. "Now what am I to do? I must get home, for I can't stay out all night." So he walked and hopped on and on, but he could not find the right road.

Nor could he find his bungalow, for the trees in the wood were too thick, and, though they had no leaves on, still Uncle Wiggily could not see where he lived.

"If I could climb a tree and look all around from the top of it, then I might see my hollow stump bungalow, and I would know which way to walk," said the bunny uncle. "But I can't climb a tree."

So poor Uncle Wiggily was lost, and he did not know what to do. He wandered about in the snow and called out loud, thinking some one might hear him.

All of a sudden there was a whirring sound in the air over his head. Uncle Wiggily looked up, and there he saw the little birds which he had fed with crumbs.

"Ho! little birds!" cried the rabbit gentleman, "from high up there where you are in the air, can you see my hollow stump bungalow?"

"Yes," answered one bird, "we can see it. Why, are you lost, Uncle Wiggily?"

"Yes," replied the bunny uncle. "I can't find my way home."

"Follow us, and we will fly straight to your bungalow," said the birds. "We will fly along here, above your head, and you can look up, and by watching us tell which way to hop. Here we go."

So the birds, who could easily see over the tree tops, flew toward Uncle Wiggily's bungalow, and he, on the ground below, followed them until he was lost no more.

"Thank you, little birdies!" he cried, when he was safe at his hollow stump. "You did me a great favor."

"You did us one when you saved us from starving with the crumbs," chirped the birdies. "Now we are even."

"No, not even!" Uncle Wiggily cried. "Come in and Nurse Jane will give you more crumbs for tomorrow."

Which the muskrat lady did, and the birds flew on, very happy—as happy as the rabbit gentleman himself. And if the feather duster doesn't hide in the pillowcase where the eggbeater can't find it to play tag with, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Santa Claus.

Start taking a teaspoonful every hour or two. In 24 hours your cough will be conquered or very nearly so. Even whooping cough is greatly relieved in this way.

The above mixture makes a full pint—a family supply—of the finest cough syrup that money could buy—at a cost of only 54 cents. Easily prepared in 5 minutes. Full directions with Pinex.

This Pinex and Sugar Syrup preparation takes right hold of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the dry, hoarse or tight cough in a way that is really remarkable. Also quickly heals the inflamed membranes which accompany a painful cough, and stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough. Excellent for bronchitis, spasmodic croup and winter coughs. Keeps perfectly and tastes good—children like it.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, rich in guaiacol, which is so healing to the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex," and do not accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Pure Water as Necessary as Pure Air, Says Lillian Russell

NEXT to pure air in importance comes water absolutely pure. The drinking supply of every household needs as much care as its food.

Thousands die in this country each year from typhoid fever, the majority of cases being infected by drinking impure water.

The list of diseases from this same cause is a long one, including consumption, erysipelas, pneumonia, dysentery and liver diseases.

It is worthy of notice that whenever women of a certain district are famous for fine complexions, the water supply is unusually pure.

The muddy and sallow complexions of the women of the southwest are due not more to the prevailing diet of fried foods than to the creek and spring waters, turbid with the wash of their borders and charged with decaying vegetable matters.

The method of securing pure water is simple. Water boiled for five minutes destroys all but the rarest and most resistant of disease-producing bacilli, and water filled with germs of cholera, typhoid and diphtheria, if boiled one hour and left to gradually cool and filtered, is absolutely free from microscopic organisms. Kept in closed vessels plugged with cotton it will remain pure indefinitely.

Now this preparation is not too much in order to secure the health and beauty of the family, the life of the infants and the freshness of women.

All water for drinking or cooking should be purified daily during the summer by boiling in a porcelain-lined kettle or a stone jar for five minutes. If a scum arises the water should be strained, boiled again and filtered before using.

The great ollas of burnt clay made by the Spanish and Mexican potters of the southwest are better for keeping the water supply than expensive inventions as the evaporation from the clay keeps the water cool without the use of ice.

Women who care for their complexions should bathe only in water boiled and cooled, which has the velvety softness of rain water.

Let every woman who wishes to improve her appearance insist upon pure water, pure air and pure food even if it is to assist cosmetics in their work—and she will be surprised to find what they can do for her.

The very color of the eye as well as its brilliancy changes and deepens, the skin grows blooming and soft, excresences and discolorations disappear with slight assistance and the healthy tissues never grow old.

ELIZABETH R.: Rub vaseline or cold cream into the nails every night before retiring. It will soften the cuticle. Have your nails manicured at a beauty parlor regularly once or twice a week. You will notice the improvement in a short time. I cannot print all the formulas you ask for here. Send me a stamped and addressed envelope and I will mail them to you.

MARJORIE: Take a teaspoonful of the best olive oil every morning half an hour before breakfast and the same amount half an hour after the last meal you eat in the day. If you will persist in the treatment you will find it very effective for liver spots, for in a few months it will excite the liver to proper action, clear the skin and improve your health generally. Also beneficial is the unsweetened juice of a lemon taken in a glass of water every morning before breakfast. Drink quantities of cool, but not iced water, between meals, walk three miles a day and take deep breathing exercises night and morning.

LILLIE—I would consult a skin specialist about the eruptions on the forehead and scalp as they may be the symptoms of a skin disease which requires immediate attention. Proprietary articles are never discussed in this column. See a surgeon about the operation on your nose.

A. R. S.—You are very young to try the remedy you mention. You do not tell me whether or not you are large for your age. If you are you may be well proportioned and in that case I would not, under any circumstances, try reduction.

LONDON, Dec. 30.—Lewis V. Harcourt, who holds a place in the cabinet as first commissioner of works, has resigned to become viceroy of India.

It is understood that Harcourt is one of the cabinet ministers opposed to the compulsory enlistment of Britons. His retirement from the cabinet may be due to this.

Mrs. Lewis Vernon Harcourt will be the second American woman to become vicereine of India. The first was Lady Curzon, wife of Viscount Curzon, who was Miss Mary Leiter, daughter of L. Z. Leiter of Chicago. Lady Curzon died on July 20, 1906.

Prison Reform Not Part of Woman Prosecutor's Work

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 30.—"I have no new ideas about prosecuting criminals and I have no plans for the reform of the entire criminal system. I will be just a deputy prosecutor—that's all."

This is the statement of Los Angeles' first woman assistant district attorney, the appointment of whom was the cause of a rush of women's club committees to the court house with a dozen suggestions for revolutionizing penology and court procedure. They wanted to see the woman deputy prosecutor and tell her their ideas. But she did not have time to hear about how to change prison systems—she was too busy learning to prosecute. Now the women's clubs, which had rejoiced when a woman was appointed to a prosecutor's office, are indignant. The new prosecutor, it seems, has not even time to make speeches on municipal reform.

MISS LITA BELLE HIBBEN, the first woman prosecutor in California.

HANDLES DELICATE CASES.

This is the situation faced by Miss Lita Belle Hibben, the first woman prosecutor in California. Her principal work will be to talk with women and handle their cases, particularly the delicate ones which it is embarrassing for a man to look into.

Miss Hibben is 29 years old and pretty. While she has been practicing law but two and a half years, she is said to be one of the brightest and most promising woman attorneys in the state. She first demonstrated her legal ability at the University of Southern California Law School, where she led a class of 55 men, taking the medal for the highest scholarship when she was graduated in June, 1913.

Since finishing law college, Miss Hibben has been practicing law, being associated with Kemper B. Campbell and Frank P. Dougherty. She also has been an instructor at the law school and has been special lecturer of medical jurisprudence at the Loma Linda University.

PRETTY GIRL DANCES IN BRIEF ATTIRE.

SAN BERNARDINO, Dec. 30.—A barefoot dance by a pretty girl in brief attire in a San Bernardino apartment that the officers declared was a "love nest," this morning led to the arrest here of the young woman, who gave the name of Rose Lewis, and Roy Cagle.

Patrolman Thurston, head of the San Bernardino "purity squad," forced his way into the apartment after he had watched the dance through the window for fifteen minutes.

He said that the Lewis girl, with only filmy drapery about her form was doing a barefoot dance for Cagle, who, the officer declared, was stretched on a couch watching the dance.

CHARGED WITH VAGRANCY.

Both were charged with vagrancy. Cagle, according to the officers, was a frequent visitor to the apartment of the Lewis woman, in an apartment house in D street.

Patrolman Thurston declared that he had kept a watch on the apartment for several weeks, where, he said, the lights had burned high until late at night, and from where sounds of revelry, laughter and the clinking of glasses were heard.

He also declared that the Lewis woman is known by the name of Fern Lewis and that she has lived in other Southern California cities.

WOMAN ATTORNEY TO DEFEND HUSBAND.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 30.—Ignorant of law but armed with love, Mrs. Max Winkler, the beautiful young wife of the confessed embezzler, will appear in the Los Angeles courts as her husband's attorney when he is summoned to answer to a charge of embezzlement.

Her husband, she vehemently avows, has been husband, father, brother and sweetheart to her for six years.

And now, when he is in trouble, she will be attorney and, as far as possible, bondsman, as well as any other role which will be of service to him.

The lawyer with whom Winkler surrounded her before his arrest last week in New York she has already turned to the cause of helping him, she stated today. For in New York, before the detectives brought her husband back to Los Angeles, she sold the diamonds and other jewels which he had bestowed upon her and she will now convert that money into bail. As it is not enough to liberate her husband from jail she passed today working strenuously to raise the rest of the necessary amount.

ACCEPTED HIS WORD.

"I can't get rid on this suit I am wearing, I suppose," she said, passing a lingering hand over the rich velvet gown with its costly fur trimmings.

"I don't know anything about law, but I am sure that his story to my husband is a wife's law and teach me what to do. He will plead guilty and then I myself will beg the court for probation.

"My husband's mistake was in wanting to shower me with too much luxury. My husband was in never questioning his business. He was father, brother and sweetheart to me—but I forgot to be a mother to him and to assume responsibility as a partner in all our affairs.

"When we went East he told me we would have to travel under the name of Mr. and Mrs. Wagner. I asked him why and he said he could not explain, but it was necessary. And I accepted his word and gave it no more thought. I didn't know there was anything wrong until that until day when we stepped from a subway in New York and detectives stepped up and placed my husband under arrest."

BERNHARDT LAUGHS AT REPORTS OF ILLNESS.

PARIS, Dec. 30.—"These reports of my illness are fantastic in the extreme. My program is far too strenuous for an invalid," said Mme. Sarah Bernhardt, smilingly, as she stepped from the train today.

Despite the recent report in the American press of her leg, her attack of bronchitis and the weakness of a broken leg, she might be expected to look a woman of 75 years. The actress was as sprightly and blithe as usual.

"How ridiculous! I should have been dead at the point of death," she added. "My American friends have deluged me with telegrams. Please tell them that I am in perfect health and scarcely ever feel fatigued after the play.

"I am quite ready to take up my work and am arranging the final details of my departure for London on Friday, where I am doing a play in different repertoire at the Lyceum.

"Afterward I shall tour England prior to going to America. My friends in London say that I can never stand the London climate and that I ought not attempt to undergo the long, harassing war tour from England after traveling from Bordeaux. But every one tells me I am well to do as much stage work now as when I made my debut at La Dame Aux Camelias."

NEWLYWEDS LIVE BY GRACE OF RED TYPE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30.—George North, son of Mrs. John Metcalfe, and his bride of a month, the former Miss Francis Furman of Pasadena, have sought the Redwood Bungalow, one of the show places of the Exposition grounds. Yesterday they began housekeeping there under exposition chaperonage.

Last night they cooked supper by candle light and told of the troubles and multiplied perplexities that attended their removal to this sacred land of red tape. They live, breathe and move by consent of the Exposition company.

It costs North and his wife 25 cents each to the gateman every time they want to go home.

If they stay out after 5 o'clock they have to walk from the Fillmore street entrance six blocks to their home.

They can't buy food from their grocer, but must supply from the royal purveyor on Fillmore street.

They cannot move any furniture in or take it out without permission from the superintendent of deaneries.

They must do their own moving under the eyes of the guards.

They must sign an agreement with President Moore exonerating the Exposition company from all responsibility for fire or accident.

On January 7 North will move his house to Santa Venita, which is on a canal two miles north of San Rafael. The bungalow, which weighs fifty tons, will be put on two barges and towed to the lot on the canal side. Over there they expect to be able to breathe freely.

The bungalow, which has a redwood outside and hardwood inside finish, has seven rooms, three baths and many porches. It cost $20,000 to build and was bought for $7500.

WED 41 YEARS AGO: DIVORCED; WED AGAIN.

SAN JOSE, Dec. 30.—A troth plighted to his bride 41 years ago by William H. Rogers, Democratic national committeeman from California and attorney, was renewed today, when he was married to his former wife, Martha Estelle Rogers. Between these two marriages Rogers had married and divorced Anna Bent, a San Jose stenographer.

Rogers married his present wife in 1874 and they were divorced in 1907. Two years later he married Miss Bent. He sought a divorce from her in 1913, charging her with being a San Francisco cafe habitue. She brought a cross complaint, charging penuriousness, but the divorce was given Rogers.

In the meantime Mrs. Rogers No. 1 was living in Wisconsin, and when Rogers fell out with his second wife they struck up a correspondence and Rogers induced his former wife to return to California. Their marriage today resulted. Rogers is 65 years of age and his bride 64.

WOMAN'S FIGHT TO KEEP HOME COMPROMISED.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30.—A woman's fight against the United States government to keep her little home located in the Stanislaus Forest Reserve may be compromised by the United States attorney, represented by Edward F. Jared and John Curtin, who represent the plaintiff. Mrs. Maggie A. Fahey. The case is set for January 21. A conference was held between the attorneys yesterday.

Mrs. Fahey located the land in 1884 as swamp and overflow land, and the state of California gave her title to it. Years later Congress included this land in the forest reserve. Since this time there has been continual warfare between R. N. Ayers, supervisor of the Stanislaus National Forest, and Mrs. Fahey. Ayers has ordered the fence around Mrs. Fahey's property torn down, and Mrs. Fahey has had it rebuilt. The courts were appealed to for relief when Ayers threatened by force to eject Mrs. Fahey.

Moving Picture Men Form Association

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 30.—Preliminary steps toward the organization of a protective association were taken here last night at a meeting of representatives of practically every motion picture concern in Los Angeles.

It was denied that the action of the motion picture interests had any connection with the proposed investigation by the county district attorney of the assertions by a clergyman and others that immorality was rampant in many of the motion picture camps and studios of the city.

Jesse L. Lasky, who was designated to announce the result of the meeting, which was secret, said the motion picture interests were banding together for their natural betterment and protection.

Look and Feel Clean, Sweet and Fresh Every Day

Drink a glass of real hot water before breakfast to wash out poisons.

Life is not merely to live, but to live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; this cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatism, others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store, which will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.—Advertisement.

DUCKS ARE WARY.

HAYWARD, Dec. 30. — Duck shooting this season has afforded indifferent sport according to hunters. While there are more ducks than usual they have kept mostly to the open bay out of gunshot. There have been no storms to drive the birds into the marshes and only on a very few days was the shooting satisfactory. Thousands of ducks congregate daily on Lake Merritt, the county infirmary pond and other protected bodies of water.

Relative of Bryan's Buried in Berkeley

That the late John Bryan, who died yesterday at the county infirmary, was only a distant relative of William Jennings Bryan developed today when the funeral was held from the Albert J. Brown parlors in Berkeley. Word was received from a daughter who lives in Los Angeles contradicting the impression spread about that he was a brother of the former Secretary of State.

William Nat Friend read the funeral services and interment took place in Sunset View cemetery. Bryan was 55 years of age and for many years was an oil salesman. His known relatives are J. S. Bryan, a brother of 1064 Lawton avenue, Los Angeles; two daughters, Mrs. E. W. Wiley and June Bryan who, with their mother, are in Los Angeles, and Mrs. D. Henry, a sister of Greenwood, Mass. Bryan had been separated from his wife and family for a number of years.

Principal to Advise New High Students

ALAMEDA, Dec. 30.—Dr. George C. Thompson, principal of the Alameda High school, will be in his office at the school tomorrow, from 9 in the morning until 5 in the evening to register freshmen students, so that they will be prepared to assume their new studies Monday morning, when school opens for the spring term. Dr. Thompson requests all who intend to enter the high school to confer with him as to their courses and also as to their registration. Parents are requested to accompany the entrants, so that they can talk over with the principal the various studies that they desire their sons and daughters to take.

OPPOSE PREPAREDNESS.

BERKELEY, Dec. 30. — The Men's league of the Friends' church of this city has passed resolutions against undue military preparedness on the part of this country. The resolutions urge that such preparedness would go to untoward length, that the principal contribution this country can make to civilization is to stand against war, that such preparedness would urge other nations to greater efforts which this country would have to meet and other reasons.

TECHNICAL SHOPS TO LEAVE SCHOOL

Improvement of the Berkeley High Plant Is Planned by Board.

BERKELEY, Dec. 30. — In a report submitted to the board of education at this evening's meeting by President W. B. Herms many drastic changes at the local high school were foreshadowed, and while report was formally accepted as constituting the future policy of the board. One of the important changes is the removal of all workshops and vocational departments from the present high school building and their reestablishment in a new building to be erected on a site adjoining the new Edison school.

The Edison school is situated on Oregon and Magee streets and is south of Grove street about nine blocks north of the Oakland line. The cost of purchasing the land and erecting the necessary buildings is estimated to be about $200,000.

Professor Herms points out that "because of lack of adequate technical curriculum in the present high school, many of our Berkeley pupils are compelled to attend school in Oakland and elsewhere, a state of affairs that will not long be tolerated."

In the report is also taken up the proposed purchase of land offered and owned by John W. Havens for the purpose of establishing a second high school. In regard to this Professor Herms states that the present high school is overcrowded both in the number of students and in number of buildings on the property which diminishes the efficiency of the present high school. He also states Berkeley is large enough and varied enough to support two high schools.

Herms contends also that the establishment of a second high school would materially increase this city's educational standing. He figures that the cost of the additional land for the Edison addition would probably approximate $75,000, a new building about $125,000, a total of $200,000, against the probable cost of $375,000 to establish a high school involving the Havens property. The saving in running expenses would be approximately $50,000 per annum.

SOCIAL CENTER IS OPENED TO PUBLIC

Exercises Are Held at McKinley Park in Alameda.

ALAMEDA, Dec. 30.—The newly renovated and remodeled field house of McKinley park was opened last night as a "Peoples' Social Center" with an entertainment and dance under the direction of the Alameda Recreation Commission. Mrs. Eileen Allen acted as mistress of ceremonies and introduced the speakers of the evening, E. B. de Groot of San Francisco, authority on recreation and playgrounds, and Superintendent C. J. Du Four of the Alameda schools, who gave short talks preceding the program given by the children from the different playgrounds in this city.

To the audience composed of the children and their parents, representing not only the neighborhood families, but others throughout the city, members of the Mothers' clubs and representatives of different churches, and which filled to overflowing the attractive assembly hall and the adjoining rooms made also most inviting with the big log fire, the purpose of the center was made plain by Mrs. Allen.

De Groot in his talk traced the origin of the social center from the general store at the cross roads, the saloon and billiard and poolroom, skating rink, public dance hall, and the recreation park, to the newer type, the present social center.

The co-operation of the schools and the social center was one of the main points brought out by Superintendent Du Four in a few words, in which he told of what was being done in making the social center in the schools.

The children of the playgrounds under the direction of the supervisors, Miss Eleanor Todhunter, Miss Swisher and Miss Sammy, with their assistants, then gave a program which was opened and closed with the singing of Christmas carols.

LODGE TO INSTALL.

but it was laid on the table without action.

PROTEST LODGED.

"We're paying Bignami $175 a month to boss one carpenter," Edwards said. "Well, we'll get rid of him and let the one carpenter boss himself, and we'll save $175 a month."

Protest was lodged with the board last night by members of the West Oakland Taxpayers' and Business Men's League against the proposed adoption of a modified form of the Gary system for the Prescott school for the ensuing year. Superintendent Barker and Principal George E. Mortensen of the school were instructed to meet with members of the organization at a meeting tonight and explain the new system in detail.

A proposed new rule, providing for the dismissal or suspension of high school youths found to frequent poolrooms, was referred to the committee of the whole.

Opinions were filed by the district attorney and the city attorney agreeing that the board could legally pay its bills without the authorization of a finance committee. The plan at present is to abolish all committees of the board and calling upon all members of the directorate to scrutinize all matters of business instead of leaving them to the recommendations of committees, as in the past. The matter was referred to the committee of the whole.

"Well, for once the district attorney and the city attorney have agreed," commented Miss Brown when the two opinions were read. The board members laughed.

TO ATTEND CONCERTS.

On recommendation of Barker, the board agreed to instruct teachers to give elementary school children documents certifying that they were pupils, that they might attend the proposed symphony concerts to be given by an orchestra under the direction of Paul Steindorff at reduced rates.

The following recommendations of the committee of the whole were adopted:

"That the first two custodians on the eligible list for school custodians, L. E. Eakin and P. J. Mockel, be elected, and assigned by the purchasing agent on January 1, 1916.

"That Mr. Hansen, custodian of the Oakland High School, be transferred to the Highland School on February 1, 1916, as per his request.

"That Mr. Eakin be asigned to the Oakland High School, as assistant custodian, from January 1 to February 1, and that he be made head janitor of said school on February 1.

ALAMEDA, Dec. 30. — That foreign residents over the age of sixteen years may obtain the fundamental education to aid them in obtaining naturalization papers, the Alameda Board of Education is to establish a branch of the night school at the Longfellow school. The new school will be opened next Monday evening and Robert N. Rushforth, a University of California graduate, will be in charge.

The new class will meet in the kindergarten room of the building, the entrance to which is from Pacific avenue. Rushforth, the instructor, has had extended experience, having been associated with the foreign departments of the Y. M. C. A. of San Francisco and Oakland.

Superintendent of Schools C. J. Du Four recommended to the Board of Education the new project, declaring that in his opinion it is one of the duties of the educational system to aid foreigners to citizenship.

CHILDREN GIVEN GLIMPSE OF SANTA

Alameda Elks Make 1800 Kiddies Happy at Big Tree.

ALAMEDA, Dec. 30. — There were over 1800 children made happy by the Alameda lodge of Elks and the wives of the members yesterday afternoon at the big Christmas tree held in the club house. If there was any little one in Alameda who did not get a part of this big Christmas tree with its Christmas stockings, toys and other gifts, and its candy and ice cream, it was not the fault of any of the committees which made a record in providing the pleasure for every little child that could be reached.

The magic of the hour was complete when old "Santa" came in with a whoop, fresh from the snow, real snow too, whose fleecy flakes made a record in Alameda. Then came the distribution of the stockings, and ice cream and candy, which was managed with expedition by the members of the committee, each child having received a ticket for a stocking and one for the ice cream as he or she entered the door of the club house. This however was no preventative of many receiving a second round of the delectable cones, there being a generous supply.

The little children who helped to entertain the others with their dancing and recitations were Alice Schroeder, Narvly Stateler, Josephelle Gibson, Marie Williams, Beatrice Almond, Virginia Hutt and Jessica Fogarty, who made a brilliant spectacle in Dancing Sparks; little Dolores Spence in one of her clever specialties, Marjorie Rogers in a Russian dance; Adele Walkers and Gladys Wilson in the graceful "Moment Musicale"; Irma Martinoni and Lillian Carter in a Hungarian dance; Mae Williams, with an entertaining recitation; R. H. D. Maynard who took the part of Santa Claus, and was aided in the distribution of the gifts by the members of the entertainment committee consisting of Mesdames D. J. Quill, L. Randolph Weinmann, Robert B. Valleau, Thomas Haskins, William Brown, Alfred Latham and J. A. Powell of the purchasing committee, who looked after the distribution of the cones, and Mesdames P. Martinoni, P. J. Lechner and Joseph Sedgeley of the decoration committee, all of whom aided in the handing of the crowd of little ones both in the main hall, where Robert B. Valleau acted as master of ceremonies, and in the anteroom, where other of the Elks helped in the service of the ice cream. The young ladies assisting here were the Misses Thelma Martinoni, Anita, and Marian Martinez, Myrtle Leonard, Annette Haskins, Julie Bain and Florence Locke. It was a day gratifying to young and old alike and one to be remembered by the "kiddies," who represented the different schools and kindergartens and many of the home of this city, without discrimination, and well repaid the efforts of those who worked with such earnestness for its success.

The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying powers are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them willfully with narcotics.

Castoria contains no narcotics if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

What I Can Do For You

If your nose stops up I can give you free breathing space.
If your nose is broken I can straighten it.
If you have a growth in your nose, I can remove it painlessly.
I can refer to business men who will vouch for this and to champion athletes to whom free breathing is a necessity.

NAVIGATION is closed through the south channel of the Oakland Harbor west of Park street drawbridge on account of the dredging operations that are being done there by the San Francisco Bridge Company. There is a pipe line of several thousand feet from the suction dredge Jean McMullen to the shoal in the harbor off the Oakland Yacht Club at the foot of Nineteenth avenue. On account of the obstruction vessels going and coming from San Leandro bay and Bay Farm Island are compelled to take the north channel, a circumlocutory course around the old fleet of the Pacific Steam Whaling Company and other old windjammers that are used in the Alaska trade during the summer months.

There is a long stretch of shoal water separating the two channels below Park street and this will eventually be filled in and made solid land. The dredger is moving several hundred feet of earth a day, gradually working toward the head of the channel that connects with San Leandro bay. It will be several weeks before the obstruction will be removed and traffic restored to the main south channel.

MERCHANDISE AWAITING VESSELS FOR ORIENT.

The municipal warehouse at the foot of Clay street, like every other warehouse in the port, is piled high with merchandise. At the present time there are thousands of cases of canned goods awaiting shipment to the Orient and other points. The same congested condition exists on the San Francisco side of the bay, where thousands of bales of cotton await shipment to Japanese mills.

DEEPER WATER MADE AT FLOUR MILLS.

In order that the largest ocean-going vessels can reach the flour mills at South Vallejo at any stage of the tide, according to information from there, the Sperry Flour Company has a big clamshell dredger at work in front of the mills, removing a ledge of rock and shale that extends into the channel. The Dredger will be engaged in the work for several days. When the obstruction is removed there will be 30 feet of water in front of the mills at mean low water, which will allow the largest ocean liner to dock at the mills at any time. The entire frontage will be dredged out to the United States government's dreadnaught channel.

MOVEMENT OF VESSELS IN THE HARBOR.

The steamer Umatilla of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company's line, came into the port to load ore at the Howard bunkers. The vessel was handled by the Oakland Launch and Tugboat Company as it was found necessary to turn her around after she was in the slip. The ore is consigned to a smelter in Washington.

After discharging her cargo of lumber at E. K. Wood & Company's wharf, the steamer Tamalpais put to sea.

Merchandise and food produce was brought by the steamer Aurora of the California Transportation Company from Sacramento and landed at the company's warehouse at the foot of Webster street.

OCEAN-GOING GAS BOAT DUE FROM ORIENT.

Although it is generally admitted that the gasoline or oil engines will eventually supplant the steam engine, but few of the larger ocean-going vessels have been built with gas engines. One of the largest of the gasoline vessels afloat will be seen soon in the bay. She is the East Asiatic motorship, Panama, and is at present loading at Kobe, Japan, for San Francisco. The Panama will leave Kobe tomorrow and will bring a full cargo of general Oriental freight, much of which will pass through Oakland to Eastern points. After taking aboard a cargo of California flour, grain, dried fruits and general products, the motorship will sail for northern European ports by way of the Straits of Magellan. This will be the first call of the Panama Maru at this port and local shipping men and seafaring men are awaiting her coming with interest. The vessel is of 10,000 tons capacity and her engines will consume anything from gasoline to peanut butter, and she carried fuel enough to circumnavigate the globe without replenishing.

STEAMER MONGOLIA REACHES NEW YORK.

Word has been received here that the steamship Mongolia, one of the four big cargo carriers purchased from the Pacific Mail Steamship Company by the Atlantic Transport line, arrived in New York after a voyage from San Francisco around Cape Horn. The Mongolia will start on her first trip to London, January 5.

JITNEY ORDINANCE UP IN RICHMOND

Center of Lively Discussion at Meeting of City Council Last Night.

RICHMOND, Dec. 30.—The proposed jitney ordinance was argued last night before the city council by those interested in the ordinance. It is expected that the ordinance will be passed after a few changes are made.

The traction company was represented by General Manager W. R. Alberger and Traffic Manager Brown. Both presented statements showing that the car company had suffered heavy losses through the increase of the jitney traffic and asked the protection of the ordinance as just to the company's franchise.

The jitney men presented their case through Attorney T. H. De Lap.

After continued discussion City Attorney D. J. Hall was ordered to present an amended draft of the ordinance.

AUTOIST FORMALLY CHARGED.

RICHMOND, Dec. 30.—W. D. McKenzie, whose auto struck and killed 5-year-old Edward Rasmussen, has been charged with manslaughter. The charge was filed against him yesterday by Assistant District Attorney T. M. Carlson. He was released on his own recognizance.

ATTACKS AGED MOTHER.

RICHMOND, Dec. 30.—For the third time in the last few months Frank Logan, Stege resident, has been jailed on a charge of assault upon his aged mother. This time he is charged with having struck her with a broom-handle. Each time he has been arrested his mother has refused to prosecute.

WAR TO DEVELOP TRADE PROBLEMS

[illegible]

INCREASED EFFICIENCY.

Increased [illegible] efficiency of European [illegible] as a result of the discipline of war and the rigorous [illegible] of the war. It is also considered that, in spite of the French and British loss for independence and individualism, something in the line of centralized coordinated organization of industry and business may be expected.

It is hardly necessary, [illegible] said, "to point out that something of the idea of the German organization of industry ought to be strengthened here, since it seems to be coming [illegible] naturally. Without any government compulsion there is to formation now an industrial co-ordination stimulated by war-time necessities in this country that will doubtless result in a huge development of a dozen[illegible] and other chemical industries in this country.

"There appears to be a more liberal disposition, both official and [illegible] toward co-operation in business activities today than during the three years' discipline and regulation of the nations were the [illegible] order of the day. The judicial trend of opinion has not expired upon a definite questionnaire of business men all over the country regarding permissible combination in foreign trade. The commission's attitude is definitely favorable, [illegible] views in several lines are in [illegible] of full liberty to co-ordinate their efforts in going after export business that they are establishing formal selling combinations for the purpose.

BIG BUSINESS COMBINATIONS.

"The clearest outlook for an American merchant marine seems to be along the lines of some form of this new larger co-ordination in industry and commerce. If public opinion is coming around to an appreciation of the service of business combinations when legitimately conducted and formed for the bona fide purpose of doing things the nation needs and greatly desired to have done, it is not hard to see how such [illegible] organizations [illegible] be established to co-ordinate the legitimately co-operative activities of the United States manufactures, United States foreign marketing and an American mercantile marine in such a way as to produce economies somewhat analogous to those of the coking, electrical distribution and chemical manufacture superorganization that would make it all pay in spite of the present handicap upon American shipping as an industry conducted independently as a system of transport alone."

Chicago Wheat Prices Higher

Insurance Increases the Influence

CHICAGO, Dec. 30.—Feeling of confusion on the part of [illegible] and the Panama canal had a [illegible] effect today on the wheat market here. Wall Street Has Listless Session

Board Room Trading Is Only Feature

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Professional manipulation of various specialties was the only marked feature of a very dull session of the stock exchange. The professional operators were particularly active in petroleum stocks and their efforts were successful in making slight gains. While sales were light in volume there was a bullish tone to the market and prices of all issues were slightly higher. This was especially the case with the various war descriptions, quotations of which were materially higher while United States Steel was in especial demand, opening with a gain of five-eighths.

Of the oil issues traded in Mexican Petroleum, Texas Company and California Petroleum preferred scored gains ranging from one to four points.

Coppers also reflected further inquiry with a tendency to stiffen in prices, although little comparatively changed hands.

Railroads held up strong and there was no diminution in the favor shown them since reports of increased earnings began to come in the annual reports.

Bonds were heavy today, reflecting the declines of the week in the prices of Anglo-French bonds which still held low.

The following table shows the sales and range of prices in Wall street today:

AMMUNITION PLANT AT BENICIA URGED

War Department Considers the Establishment of $500,000 Center.

Officials of the United States War Department are considering the establishment of an ammunition plant at the Benicia Arsenal, to cost not less than $500,000. Secretary of War Garrison and Brigadier General Crozier, chief of ordnance, are said to favor the plan. Representatives Kahn and Curry have had several conferences with these two officials.

Secretary Garrison, it is believed, will make the recommendation to Congress, in spite of a recent war college report on additions to existing arsenals which recommended that no ammunition plants to be established close to the Atlantic or Pacific seaboards so that they could not be easily seized by an invading enemy.

Kahn and Curry also urged Garrison to recommend that the War Department spend the $450,000 appropriation made by the last Congress for a Government exhibit at the exposition, which is unexpended for construction of additional barracks and repairs at the Presidio so that the San Francisco army post will have accommodations for a full brigade of three regiments, which is to be stationed there permanently.

The California Congressmen are working hard to secure at this session these military improvements for California, and in addition are advocating fortifications of San Pedro harbor with sixteen-inch guns, additional coast protection for San Francisco harbor and enlargements of the Mare Island navy yard.

GREAT CHORUS IN ORATORIO ANNUAL FESTIVAL, IS PURPOSE

Superb Music for New Year Festival

As never before in Oakland, the superb choruses and solos of Handel's "The Messiah" will be sung on Sunday afternoon, January 2, at 3 o'clock in the Oakland Auditorium arena. Three hundred singers of the Alameda County chorus, with an orchestra of fifty players, will be combined under the direction of Alexander Stewart to make this first rendition of the great oratorio ever given here at this season of the year a notable event.

In the East it is an old established custom to give Handel's most famous choral work as a Christmas or New Year's festival. Here its presentation at the outset of the year is an innovation, inaugurated with the idea that this musical religious celebration will be held here annually.

NOTABLE SOLOISTS.

The solo parts are to be taken by four well known vocalists: Mrs. Arthur Fickensher of Berkeley, soprano; Mrs. Rowena Robb Mills, contralto; Howard E. Pratt, tenor; and Charles F. Robinson, basso. Among the half hundred musicians in the carefully rehearsed orchestra are players from both sides the bay, including a number of artists from the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra directed by Alfred Hertz. This ensemble is expected to produce an interpretation of Handel's masterpiece not only on a very high plane, but remarkably impressive.

Mrs. Fickensher, who is to sing the principal solo part, is the wife of Arthur Fickensher, Berkeley musician and composer, and herself is an artist whose gifts have won her high praise from critics both here and abroad. Mrs. Mills, Howard Pratt and Charles Robinson are all stars of church choirs.

The Alameda County chorus, which under the direction of Alexander Stewart, won national laurels in the Eisteddfod contest at the Exposition, has been carefully drilled and, it is promised, will be at its best in the noble music of two hundred years ago. Its many accomplished vocalists are to be seated on an especially erected platform across the front of the arena stage where the voices will produce the finest effect.

In order to fill the great arena of the auditorium, and to give the general public the unusual opportunity of hearing "The Messiah" sung by so large and finely trained a chorus with the accompaniment of a professional orchestra, a very slight admission is charged. The demand for reservations has been so enthusiastic that the singers expect to be given out the noble Hallelujah chorus to a gallery filled from the lowest tier to the top.

MRS. EDITH C. FICKENSCHER.

Dansant at St. Mark New Year Feature

One of the unique affairs of New Year's Eve will be the informal dansant, reception and "open house" at the Hotel St. Mark. The big affair, which is to be open to the general public, is to make the people of Oakland better acquainted with the city's first big hotel, and several novel features are planned for the celebration. The dansant will be in the new Rose ball room of the hostelry and the reception in the lobby.

Several theatrical stars will lend their services to a cabaret feature to be a part of the evening's festivities, and refreshments will be served during the evening. The master of ceremonies will be A. L. Leam, famed as the originator of the pisco punch in Oakland, and one of the best known hotel and restaurant men on the coast.

The evening will be strictly informal, and many revelers will drop in and out during the evening, having arranged to see the fireworks and the "Slide for Life" between dances at the hotel. The lobby and ballroom have been lavishly decorated for the occasion.

NEWSIES ATTACK TURKEY DINNER

Three Hundred Are Given a Chance to Pass Plates for "More."

There are 300 happy newsboys in the east bay cities today, for they are still full last night of turkey and dressing, cranberries, pies, ice cream and other good things at the Christmas dinner given in a downtown hall room by the Alameda County Newsboys' association. There was more than enough for all and many a little newsie had his third helping of turkey.

Before the newsboys began on the array of good things heaped up on the tables, they were addressed by Eli Cornell, manager of the Pantages theater, who was himself a newsboy in his youth. Cornell told of the organization of the Newsboys' Protective association of Butte, Montana, which he was instrumental in forming, and offered to outline the plans for a similar organization here to a committee of the newsboys, as well as to co-operate in its formation. In Butte the newsboys have a perfect form of self-government, electing all their own officers and trying offenders in a newsboys' court.

An interesting program of songs and music was presented. William LeRue, George Bailey and the newsboys sang.

The newsboys were also addressed by Scotti de Lauer, affectionately known as the "King of the Newsboys," who spoke of the hard work of the men in charge of the recent benefit and last night's dinner. He called for a rousing vote of thanks to A. E. Wagner whose hard work in securing contributions of provisions made the dinner a success. The cheers were given with a vim.

Here is what it took to feed the "newsies," as collected by Wagner: 210 pounds of turkey, 24 pounds of chicken, 6 gallons of cranberries, 10 gallons of milk, 12 cans of condensed milk, 60 loaves of bread, 30 pies, 10 pounds of sugar, 10 gallons of ice cream, 2 boxes of apples, 2 bunches of bananas, 10 dozens of oranges, 14 pounds of butter, 10 pounds of coffee, 5 pounds of nuts and 20 loaves of bread for dressing. And there was nothing left.

The dinner was served by a committee of members of the Oakland Cooks' and Waiters' Union who kindly donated their services, and was voted the most successful ever held by the newsboys.

In a few days, President Pat Gallagher will appoint a committee to confer with Cornell in regard to taking the initial steps to obtain a permanent headquarters in this city.

200,000 Workers to Get Wage Increases

NEW YORK, Dec. 30. — Wages of 200,000 employes in various trades in this city will be increased beginning January 1, it was estimated yesterday. The increases are expected to aggregate millions of dollars. Thousands of workers on street, subway and elevated railroads are included among those who will profit by the advance.

The United Board of Business Agents for the Building Trade Unions announced that the wages of more than 5000 machinists, tile layers and lathers already have been increased by from 20 cents to $1.40 a day. Increases beginning January 1 are demanded by many other unions and range from 25 cents to 50 cents a day. Increases in pay have been granted to 12,000 girls in the millinery trade, 2000 waiters and to 1200 mechanics in the New York Navy Yard.

AMERICAN TOBACCO MAY GO TO EUROPE

England Not Worrying Whether or Not Germany Gets It.

LONDON, Dec. 30. — Concerning a statement published in America that the British government will permit German importations of American tobacco through neutral countries, the Daily Mail has obtained a statement from the Foreign Office declaring it to be incorrect to say that the British government will permit or is about to permit such importations. On the contrary it is stated, no goods having an enemy destination will be allowed to proceed.

At the same time it is obvious that some goods of less importance from the belligerent point of view than others are permitted to pass. With regard to tobacco, it is considered enough to say that it is consumed to neutrals and also the fact that Germany is able to get tobacco from Turkey and other sources that makes it a matter of less importance.

BOY FRACTURES SKULL.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30.—Joseph Tillman, 7 years old, was probably fatally hurt this morning when he fell from his coaster on the steep Mission road hill at Daly City. He was taken to St. Luke's hospital, where it was found that his skull had been fractured.

TENDER and soft or clear and ringing, breathing the rich sweetness of the 'cello or thundering out an orchestral passage in all its tremendous power—the tone of Columbia Records is always flawlessly true.

Every quality of voice and instrument is brought out with force and clearness—perfectly preserved and superbly expressed, unmistakable even in the harmonious confusion of orchestral music. To hear Columbia Records played on the Columbia Grafonola—or on any other instrument—is a revelation of what tone-perfection can be.

Ask the nearest Columbia dealer to play your favorite orchestral selections. Note how you can listen for the recurrence of the theme—how beautifully distinct is the thread of harmony carried by each individual instrument. Compare this with the best rendering of the same composition you have heard by an actual symphony orchestra—and you will know how truly Columbia Records are called "The Mirror of Music."
